Feeling Sorry For Ourselves

It would be impossible to deny that the citizens of the world live in troubled times today. The pressures of Berlin, Cuba, Southeast Asia and Africa seem to be almost unbearable. In the background of these geographic hot spots is the awesome knowledge of nuclear weapons. But, before we feel too sorry for ourselves, it is a good idea to look backwards.

The history of man is speckled with the rise and fall of great empires. Too often, we look back at these eras and see only the bright spots. Each of these glittering empires — Egypt, Babylon, Greece, Rome, and England — the various civilizations that formed western man — had their troubles.

We read of the great men or great achievements of these times, but never hear of the common man. The pyramids are mighty monuments commemorating ancient Egyptian kings. But what do we hear of the countless thousands who dug the giant stones up to build these monuments?

Great adventure stories come from the "Golden Age" of exploration, but what do we hear of the millions living in the slum conditions of London, Paris and Madrid four hundred years ago?

These little people had the same problems we have today. It was "dog-eat-dog" for a day to day existence. If the truth were known, it is probably much easier today to make ends meet than it was in those days.

And those people had their worries, too. Fires destroyed complete cities. Plagues wiped out fantastic numbers of people. Wars visited man all too often, regardless of where he lived.

It is not difficult to hear a wishful return for "the good old days". An objective examination shows that those days were not good, and could quickly grow old. In fact, only because of our own advances in civilization can we appreciate the slower pace of life of our ancestors.

We do not actually yearn for the good old days with their poorer standards of living, their high death rates, their poor sanitation standards, and their back-breaking physical labor. The only thing for which we yearn is the slower pace of life that accompanied those days.

One satisfying fact comes from the past. Every age that produced great advances for the benefit of man, whether it be mechanical or cultural or spiritual, had its accompanying periods of unrest, strife and worry.

The lesson of history is that when turmoil ceases, civilization is in the decadency for a time. It is only through the unrest and the dissatisfaction of troubled peoples that man moves forward.

Paul Riley Speaks At Portland Saturday

Paul Riley, son of Rev. and Mrs. Vernon Riley of Monroe, will speak on the "Effectiveness of Missions" and show slides of missionary work in Puerto Rico, at 1 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 14, at the Portland Friends church. The service will be held at the quarterly meeting of Friends, a district conference, which the public is invited to attend.

The slides show the work that the Brethren church is assuming on the lines of medical help to the poverty stricken people of Latin America. Completing a short term under the Brethren service committee at their hospital in Castanar, Puerto Rico, Riley recently returned to the United States to complete his last year of doctorate training at Indiana University medical center in Indianapolis. Riley is a graduate of Adams Central high school and Indiana University.

Mrs. Ora Ann Chaney Reed, 65, of Fort Wayne, died Monday in Fort Hamilton hospital, Hamilton, O., of injuries suffered Saturday when the car driven by her husband, William A. Reed, went out of control on a curve on U.S. 27 near Hamilton and overturned.

Cyclist Escapes With Only Minor Injuries

Martha Hitchcock, 10-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herald Hitchcock, received minor injuries when struck by a motorcycle at 5:26 p.m. Monday.

The young girl was riding her bicycle when struck, and she received bruises and scratches, a bump on the head, and a bruised left ankle. She was treated at the scene of the mishap.

The mishap occurred when the girl was on the southeast corner of 13th street. A motorcycle operated by James R. Lewis, 21, Midletown, O., was traveling south on 13th and preceded through the intersection as he had the green light. But the girl crossed the street on her bike at that time, however, and Lewis couldn't avoid striking her.

Check On Action On Old Covered Bridge

The Adams county commissioners spent most of the day in Indianapolis Monday, checking on action on the old covered bridge on state road 101 in Pleasant Mills.

The bridge has been condemned and a five-ton load limit has been placed on it, posing many problems for loaded highway department trucks and other company trucks in the county that haul gravel, stone, etc.

The trucks are normally loaded with more than five tons, and have been detouring through Decatur to get on the other side of 101. Plans have been drawn up for a new bridge by the state highway department, but the new bridge is still in the planning stage and the commissioners spent the day attempting to get action moving on the new bridge.

Stetler Taken To State Penal Farm

Stetler received the sentence, along with a $100 and costs fine, in the Adams circuit court Friday by Judge Myles F. Parrish, after all but admitting failure to pay support money to his ex-wife, even though he pleaded not guilty.

Cadillac

The word for it is... "Masterful!"

"Superb" . . . "luxurious" . . . "beautiful" . . .
"brilliant"—there are many words that might be used to describe the new 1962 Cadillac car.

But if we were to select from the Cadillac vocabulary the one word that most completely captures the essence of this latest "car of cars"—we would choose "masterful".

For here is a motor car that has already established its mastery in everything that makes an automobile good and fine and desirable.

In appearance, it is clearly a Cadillac masterpiece—graceful, clean-lined and elegant.

In performance, it is a revelation. Its power plant is a reservoir of silken power—and the car rides and handles with an instinctive ease and sureness.

In safety, it is in a class of its own—with a host of exclusive features, including remarkable new side cornering lights.

In craftsmanship, it is simply without rival. Every 1962 Cadillac will undergo more than 1400 inspections to assure its quality and goodness.

On and on the list could go. But however lengthy, that list could never replace the experience of inspecting the car and driving it.

Your dealer will happily let you do both.

Once you have, you'll understand why the word has gone out so quickly that this is the finest motor car ever to bear the Cadillac name.
