Miss Vivian Pancake Wed To Norman Davis

In a double ring ceremony, Miss Vivian Pancake, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Pancake, Conway, Ohio, became the bride of Norman R. Davis of Ft. Wayne. The Rev. M. R. Drake received the vows at 2 p.m. Saturday in the home of the bride's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Stewart.

A 30 minute organ musicale presented by Mrs. Richard Schleucher, close friend of the bride, included "I Love You Truly," "O Promise Me," "God Gave Me You," "Whispering Hope," "O Perfect Love," "Liebestraum," "Sweetest Story Ever Told," "Always" and the traditional wedding marches. Mrs. Schleucher also played the Lord's Prayer as the couple knelt after exchanging vows.

The bride, who made her entrance down an open stairway decorated with bronze and yellow mums, was met by her father, who escorted her to the improvised altar which was graced with bronze and yellow mums and palms. She was wearing a gown of crystal white silk taffeta and lace. A scoop neckline and short sleeves fashioned the lace bodice which was marked by a taffeta rose. The bell shaped taffeta skirt was styled with a semi-fullness and was ballerina length. Her shoulder length veil of illusion was caught to a pointed crown which was studded with iridescent crystal beads. The combination iridescent crystal and pearl jewelry she wore was a gift from the groom. She carried a cascade arrangement of white mums centered with an orchid. Mrs. Al Pancake, sister-in-law of the bride, served as matron of honor. She wore a sheath dress of gold tweed with a matching feather head clip and carried an arrangement of bronze mums. Her crystal jewelry was a gift from the bride.

Al Pancake, brother of the bride, served as best man. Guests were seated by Paul Pancake, brother of the bride, and Leslie Stewart, cousin of the bride. The men of the bridal party wore dark suits and white carnation boutonnieres. The bride's mother chose a matte jersey dress in shades of brown with complementary accessories and her corsage was of bronze mums.

The bride's maternal grandmother, Mrs. John Jewel, wore a brown floral print silk dress with matching accessories. Her corsage was of yellow mums. A reception was held immediately following the ceremony with Mrs. Paul Pancake, sister-in-law of the bride, Miss Lillian Jewel, aunt of the bride, and Miss Rita Agler, friend of the bride, serving the guests.

When the couple left for a brief wedding trip of unannounced destination, Mrs. Davis was wearing a brown jersey sheath dress with matching accessories and the orchid from her bridal bouquet. Upon their return, the couple will reside at 823 Putnam St., Fort Wayne.

DISCUSSES RAILROAD CROSSINGS MONDAY

Mr. Mason, trainmaster for the Nickel Plate railroad, was introduced to the group by Ray Seitz, safety chairman. The crossings at Grant and Kekionga streets were discussed and Mason stated that the railroad company would have no objections to having a volunteer watchman at the crossings to help the children safely across. Anyone who would like to volunteer their services either at morning, noon, or afternoon, can call Ray Seitz at 3-4540.

The treasurer's report was given by Mrs. Ginter, and Mrs. Don Cochran reported a membership of 149 in the P.T.A. and it is hoped to reach a goal of 200.

In observance of education month, open house will be held November 9 at the school. Classrooms will be open after the P.T.A. meeting and all parents will have a chance to view the children's work and meet the teachers.

Cake and coffee were served during the meeting by Mrs. Roy McKean, hospitality chairman. The next executive meeting will be November 20.

PLEASANT MILLS WMS MET RECENTLY

The WMS of the Pleasant Mills Baptist church met recently at the home of Mary Melching. The president, Mrs. Neva Noll, opened the meeting by the call to order followed with the singing of "God Will Take Care of You." Devotions were conducted by Mrs. Ada Everett and the roll call was answered by telling of a "habit you wish to break" and reporting the number of chapters read in Romans.

Introduction of the book of Ezekiel was given by Mrs. Flava Halberstadt followed by the reading of a letter from a Chinese missionary by the pastor's wife. Also, Flava Halberstadt

Woman's Club Opening Features Ann Colone

By Gwen Mies

Miss Ann Colone, popular WANE-TV personality and star of her own show, was guest speaker at the opening dinner meeting of the Decatur Woman's club, held Monday evening at the Youth and Community Center.

Members of the organization's Music department sang the inspiring club collect prior to the dinner. Miss Helen Haubold directed the group.

Each of the individual department tables was attractively decorated with an array of vibrant fall colors, depicted with flowers, gourds, pumpkins, bittersweet and an abundance of fresh fruit. Lighted candles at each table highlighted the decor.

A large arrangement of fall flowers centered the head table, at which were seated the various department chairmen and special guests. In charge of decorations for this table were Mrs. C. S. Martindill and Mrs. William Small. Individual place cards reserved places for Woman's club past president Mrs. R. C. Hersh; second vice president Miss Frances Dugan; secretary Mrs. Harry Dailey; treasurer Mrs. Lloyd Cowens; Civic department chairman Mrs. Lowell Smith; Art department chairman Mrs. Francis Howell; Literature department chairman Mrs. Lewis Smith; Dramatic department chairman Mrs. James Newton; Music department chairman Mrs. Richard Linn; Junior Women chairman Mrs. Ferris Kohne; Junior Arts advisor Mrs. Jerold Lobsiger and Junior Arts chairman Miss Judy Tutwiler; and Mrs. Jethro Sprunger, program chairman for the club. Mrs. Reid Erickson, first vice president of the organization was unable to attend.

Also at the head table were Miss Colone; Mrs. Leo V. Curtin, now serving her second term as president of the group; and Mrs. Glen O'Laverty, eighth district president of the Indiana Federation of clubs. Following introduction of the above mentioned guests, Mrs. O'Laverty told of the eighth district convention which will be held at the Youth and Community Center in Decatur Wednesday, October 25. She urged the women to attend the session as this will be the last convention of the eighth district, because as of July 1, 1962 this district will be divided into three different districts. Reservations for this 54th annual event will take place at 9 a. m. that Wednesday, with luncheon at 12 noon. Reservations can be made with either Mrs. Hersh or Mrs. Curtin.

Each of the groups' chairmen introduced new members this year. They are, for the Art department, Miss Mary Jo Hoffman; Music department, Mrs. F. P. Miller and Mrs. Wayne Roehrig; Dramatic department, Mrs. Edward Buckner, Mrs. H. R. Frew, Mrs. Charles Gable, Mrs. C. S. Martindill, Mrs. John Rawlinson, Mrs. Bryan Trout, Mrs. August Kelly, and Mrs. Richard Miles.

Mrs. Edward W. Hagan for the Literature department; and Miss Kay Burke, Miss Cassie Strickler and Mrs. James Patton for the Junior Women department. New members of the Junior Arts group are Miss Linda Aeschle; Miss Jane Burk; Miss Judy Cook; man, Miss Cheryl Bollenbacher; Miss Patty Girardot; Miss Janet Habegger; Miss Peggy Hill; Miss Colleen Kelly; Miss Nan Kelly; Miss Mary Sue Krieger; Miss Ruth LaFontaine; Miss Missy Mavellin; Miss Kathv Shoaf; Miss Katie Smith; Miss Sarah Sutton; Miss Donna Corev.

Miss Monica Mohrland, Swedish exchange student living with the Lowell Smith family, was also so introduced as an honorary member of the young Junior Arts division of the club.

Elders Member

Art department head Mrs. Howell presented the organization's elders member, Mrs. John T. Myers, who is also a twenty-five year honorary member. Mrs. Myers, who helped organize the club, stated that it is "something pretty wonderful to be 90." Later, as a token of her invaluable service to the club, she was presented with the floral bouquet used at the head table.

The guest speaker was introduced by Mrs. Sprunger, who told the group of Miss Colone's daily "Ann Colone" show, which is seen over WANE-TV Monday through Friday at 1 p. m.

Her delightfully entertaining program consisted mainly of questions and answers from the club women, covering everything from Miss Colone's own personal life to the technical aspects of producing a show such as her own. She told the ladies many behind the scenes episodes of her fascinating career.

As woman's director of the television station she has had the opportunity to interview many famous personalities, including Harry Truman, Robert Kennedy, Dorothy Collins, George Jessel, Mahalia Jackson, Vincent Price, Cary Grant and many many more. She related interesting and sometimes humorous incidents concerning these interviews, and later stressed the fact that her show is designed mainly to "entertain, inform and to educate."

Board Member

Besides her duties at WANE, Miss Colone is a board member of the Fort Wayne press club and the Fine Arts foundation. She is also the recipient of the TV Radio Mirror award for the best "woman's interest program" for this year.

She concluded her talk by inviting the members to attend a telecast of her program in the near future, and by voicing her pleasure in being asked to appear in Decatur.

The Literature department is in charge of the next meeting, which will be held at the center November 20. Appearing at that time will be Mrs. Gordon Adams, of Adams & Walda interior decorating store of Indian Village in Fort Wayne. Her program will be built around the costumes of the various periods in this country, with modeling to be done by local Woman's club members. Mrs. J. J. Thompson is chairman of the program, and she is being assisted by Mrs. Edward Cook and Mrs. James Stokke.
