Pair Indicted In Continuing Net Scandals

RALEIGH, N.C. (UPI) — North Carolina continuing basketball bribe probe has touched two more alleged fixers and two NCAA tournament games.

The Wake County grand jury returned true bills Monday against Frank Larry Rosenthal and David Budin in connection with two New York University games in the 1960 NCAA playoffs.

District Solicitor Lester V. Chalmers said the two men conspired to bribe and did bribe Ray Paprocky, regarded as one of the best players in recent NYU history.

The games involved were the NYU-Virginia contest March 11, 1960, at Charlotte, N.C., during the eastern regionals and a semifinal game against Ohio State at San Francisco March 18.

West Virginia was favored by five points but lost, 82-81. In the semifinal game, Ohio State defeated NYU, 76-54.

In New York, Paprocky, an unemployed father of two girls, admitted being asked to fix the West Virginia game.

But he added that Rosenthal and Budin "didn't attempt to bribe me in the Ohio State game. They just asked me what I thought about the game and I told them I wanted to go out and win it."

The charge against Rosenthal was his first in North Carolina, although he was a witness before the Senate racketeering committee last fall. Budin, of New York, previously was named in the bribe scandal at North Carolina State College.

Bond for Rosenthal, who was not yet in custody, was set at $50,000 by Superior Court Judge Raymond Mallard. Chalmers said Rosenthal listed his address as Miami when he appeared before the Senate committee last Sept. 8.

Galen Hall Is Signed To Play With Redskins

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Galen Hall, Penn State "forgotten" quarterback, signed a contract today with the Washington Redskins of the National Football League.

Hall, who wasn't on anybody's All-America team and wasn't even on the draft list of a single NFL team, wound up as one of the outstanding stars of post-season bowl games.

The balding, chunky quarterback, rated too short by pro standards, wrecked Georgia Tech in the Gator Bowl with four touchdown passes. He also led a team of college All-Stars to victory in the first U.S. Bowl game played here Jan. 7, beating a squad coached by Bill McPeak of the Redskins.

"He licked us single-handedly," McPeak said, "and I liked what I saw. He's a fine field general and an excellent short passer. I think we've got a sleeper in this boy."

Hall for a while was considering a baseball career and also was contacted by the Boston Patriots of the American Football League and two Canadian teams. But he preferred the NFL and according to McPeak was "delighted when the latter approaching him after the U.S. Bowl game here."

Hall, whom Penn State coach Rip Engle rated "a second coach when he's on the field," was named outstanding player in both the Gator and U.S. Bowl contests.

Signing of Hall may put quarterback George Izo on the trading block. Pittsburgh already has indicated interest in the former Notre Dame star.

Four Fox Nabbed In Hunt Last Saturday

The 10 fox-hunters from Hartford township, including Herman and George Balsiger, got another four fox Saturday, their best day so far.

A fox drive in Blackford county by the Blackford county coon hunters netted 20 fox Saturday for the 65 men who covered 28 square miles in the hunt. A total of 12 females and eight males were killed. Only shotguns were used. A fox eats three living things a day according to Purdue University figures, including rabbits, domestic fowl and pheasants.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Laverne (Torgy) Torgeson was back with his old coach, Buddy Parker, today and the Washington Redskins were looking for his replacement as defensive backfield coach.

Torgeson resigned from the Redskins Monday to accept an assistant coaching job with the Pittsburgh Steelers under head coach Parker. Torgeson had played under Parker with the Detroit Lions.

Cordier Is First Award Recipient

NEW YORK (UPI) — Andrew W. Cordier, assistant secretary general of the United Nations, today became the first recipient of the newly established Walter W. Van Kirk Award for Christian Statesmanship.

Cordier was presented with the award by the Department of International Affairs, National Council of Churches, at a luncheon attended by national and world leaders of Protestant and Orthodox faiths.

Cordier, now in his 16th year of service in key posts at the United Nations, was adviser and consultant to successive presidents of the General Assembly and executive assistant to the secretary general. He was appointed to his current position last year.

The award ceremony was held in conjunction with an all-day meeting during which churchmen discussed plans for a projected church center at the United Nations.

Cordier, an ordained minister of the Church of the Brethren, headed the department of history and political science of Manchester College, North Manchester, Ind., and was a much sought lecturer in social science before joining the State Department in 1944.

TV Industry Is Worried On Controls

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A television network executive said today the industry is worried about a "drift toward indirect, but nevertheless effective, program control by the government."

However, Columbia Broadcasting System President Frank Stanton said he did not believe the Federal Communications Commission actually intended to censor TV.

He told the FCC at hearings which opened today on network policy that "we have been seriously concerned about what he called the drift toward indirect censorship."

Stanton and other CBS executives presented opening testimony. The National Broadcasting Co. is scheduled to testify next week and the American Broadcasting Co. will present its views the following week.

The sessions starting today mark the final phase of hearings which began in 1959 and have continued intermittently.

Stanton said the struggle for survival due to increased competition and the "gradual elevation of the educational level of the American people would eventually improve programming."

He said "the most likely instruments of progress are the enterprise and initiative of competitors and the public's pressures."

Johnny Antonelli To Quit Baseball

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (UPI)—It was a happy $10,000 night for Roger Maris and a rather sad one for Johnny Antonelli, who turned his back on $27,000 and professional baseball for good.

Maris climaxed a winter of banquet-hopping Monday night by accepting the $10,000 diamond-studded, gold-buckled belt annually awarded by S. Rae Hickok to the "Professional Athlete of the Year."

The New York Yankees home run king received the belt at the Rochester Press and Radio Club dinner and among those in the audience was the 31-year-old Antonelli, a local resident whom the New York Mets had purchased from the Milwaukee Braves last fall.

Stables Guests Jerry Flynn, master of ceremonies at the dinner, revealed Antonelli's retirement from baseball to the startled guests and the veteran southpaw, seated at a side table, walked up to the dais and confirmed it.

"It was a tough decision to make because I dearly love baseball," Antonelli said. "I thought about it a long time and I finally became convinced it was the only thing to do."

"Frankly, I got a little tired of it after 14 years and all that traveling. My decision is final and I have no plans to remain in baseball in any capacity although I love the sport."

Only recently Antonelli had received a contract from the Mets calling for a full 25 per cent cut from his $36,000 salary of last year. Had he signed the contract, he would have received $27,000.

Not A Factor Antonelli, who has a major league lifetime record of 126 victories and 110 losses, insisted the contract the Mets offered had nothing to do with his decision. One of baseball's first "bonus babies," Antonelli received a $65,000 bonus for signing with the old Boston Braves in 1948 and later pitched for the Giants, Indians and Braves. He enjoyed his finest season in 1954 when he won 21 games and helped the Giants to a world championship.

Last season, however, Antonelli had a 0-4 record with the Indians and was 1-0 after they traded him to the Braves.

Ohio State Is Easy Winner Over Purdue

By TIM MORIARTY United Press International It took Jerry Lucas three years to step on Terry Dischinger's sneakers—but it was worth the wait.

Lucas outscored Dischinger, 32 points to 9, in powering top-ranked Ohio State to a 91-65 victory over Purdue Monday night at Columbus, Ohio. It was the 14th straight triumph for the Buckeyes, the nation's only undefeated major college basketball team.

Dischinger and Lucas, a pair of All-Americans, had met twice previously and both times the Purdue star emerged with individual scoring honors. Their third meeting was no contest, although Dischinger had two valid excuses for his poor performance—a sore knee and a dislocated finger on his right hand.

However, Dischinger's two injuries didn't pain him as much as the close guarding of John Havlicek. The Buckeyes captain stuck to his man like the bandage on big Terry's sore pinkie, holding him to five points in the first half and four in the second half.

Lucas, meanwhile, ran wild against the Bollermakers. The 6-8 center, hitting on graceful hook shots from just outside the foul circle, dropped in 13 field goals and added 6 of 6 free throws. He also was mikkty powerful off both backboards, gathering in 25 rebounds, one less than the entire Purdue squad.

Havlicek, in addition to stopping Dischinger, contributed 16 points to Ohio State's attack. Tim McGinley led the Bollermakers with 19. The Buckeyes victory gave them a 4-0 record to the Big Ten Conference but Purdue will get another crack at Lucas and company on its home court next Monday night.

Michigan State turned back Minnesota, 84-79, and Maryland edged Miami (Fla.) 71-68, in the only other major games on Monday nights this schedule.

College Basketball

Ohio State 91, Purdue 65. Michigan State 84, Minnesota 79. Maryland 71, Miami (Fla.) 68. Lafayette 58, Albright 46. Texas College 85, Texas Southern 61.

American League To Open Play April 9

BOSTON (UPI)—President Kennedy probably has a few other things on his mind, but at least he learned today that he'll have the opportunity of seeing the Detroit Tigers in the 1962 baseball opener at Washington.

The American League's official schedule, released here today, called for the Tigers to furnish the opposition for the Washington Senators in the advance inaugural at the nation's capital April 9.

Traditionally, eastern clubs open against the Senators, but last year the Chicago White Sox did and now it's the Tigers turn. The schedule lists a total of 392 night games, a small reduction from last year's total of 397. This marks the first time in many years that the leagues total of night games has not been increased.

Following the Senators-Tigers opener, the eight other clubs open their schedules on April 10 with Cleveland at Boston, Baltimore at New York, Los Angeles at Chicago, and Minnesota at Kansas City.

Jackie Jensen To Quit Major Leagues

BOSTON (UPI)—Jackie Jensen has definitely decided to quit baseball and devote all his time to his business interests, according to Boston Red Sox manager Mike Higgins.

Higgins told newsmen Monday that Dick O'Connell, the Red Sox executive vice president, talked with Jensen on the telephone and the rightfielder made his decision final.
