

Four Moslems Are Killed As Truce Ended

ALGIERS (UPI) — A Secret Army Organization (OAS) machine gun squad opened fire on a group of Moslem workers in the Hussein-Dey area today less than 12 hours after it announced the end of its week-long one-sided truce in Algiers.

Three of the Moslems died on the spot, and less than an hour later another Moslem was shot and killed.

The OAS announced the end of its self-imposed cease-fire Wednesday night and less than an hour later two plastic bombs blew up part of the Hussein-Dey post office. Early this morning a group of armed men set another charge which further wrecked the building.

The outlawed OAS said in a broadcast over a secret radio that it was ending its truce starting Wednesday night. The OAS announcer said talks between Secret Army leaders and the National Liberation Front (FLN) had reached an "impasse." "In consequence," the announcer said, "the OAS reclaims its liberty of action starting tonight. We ask our commandos to resume operations, particularly against economic objectives."

The OAS spokesman said the door would be left open to the resumption of talks aimed at winning concessions for Algeria's Europeans.

The radio announcement followed a gunfight in a bar in the western port city of Oran in which seven OAS members were killed by French police.

Scattered terrorist attacks throughout Algeria Wednesday killed nine persons and wounded seven, raising the unofficial toll since Jan. 1 to 5,364 persons killed and 10,091 wounded.

Kennedy Designates June 14 As Flag Day

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy Wednesday designated June 14 Flag Day and urged Americans to honor their national emblem with appropriate ceremonies and "pause . . . to dedicate themselves to the principles and ideals for which our flag stands."

Retired Teacher Is 442nd Road Victim

By United Press International
An elderly retired school teacher was killed in a car-train collision in Flora today, raising Indiana's 1962 traffic death toll to at least 442 compared with 403 this time last year.

Arthur Kingery, 80, who taught at Cutler until his retirement, disregarded flashing lights at a Pennsylvania Railroad crossing in Flora on Indiana 18 and was struck by a work train, Carroll County authorities said.

A few hours earlier, a Huntington youth was killed in another accident.

Charles Lee Brown, 22, was killed in a two-car accident at the junction of U. S. 24 and the Lower Huntington Road near Roanoke. Authorities said a car driven by Oren E. Simon, 51, Fort Wayne, made a right turn from the highway onto Huntington Road.

The Brown car, traveling at a high rate of speed, sideswiped Simon and continued on through a guard and jumped a ditch, police said. The Simon car also crashed through the guard rail and landed on top of the other vehicle, crushing the top and pinning the occupants inside. Brown died of a skull fracture. His passenger, Wilbur G. Christman, 26, also of Huntington, was treated and released, and Simon was reported in fair condition.

Earlier, a six-months-old boy was killed in a three-car accident. Thomas D. Holloman, Frankton, was injured fatally when a car driven by his father collided with two other vehicles and slammed into a tree at the intersection of U. S. 31 and Indiana 47 in Hall-ton county.

Police said the father, Thomas W. Holloman, 30, failed to stop before entering the intersection.

Police also reported the death Tuesday of Dawn Bubbish, 6, R. R. 3, Valparaiso. She died of injuries suffered Sunday in a two-car collision in which nine other persons were injured.

Underground Device Exploded Wednesday

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States exploded a low-yield nuclear device at its Nevada underground test site Wednesday. It was the 36th test announced in the underground series.

Two Of OAS Men Executed In Paris Today

PARIS (UPI) — Two Secret Army Organization (OAS) men convicted of slaying an Algiers police commissioner died before French firing squads today in a little forest clearing on the outskirts of Paris.

One of the doomed men, Claude Peigts, went to his death with the defiant cry of "Algerie Française" (Algeria is French) on his lips.

The other, former Legionnaire Albert (Bobby) Dovecar, shouted a final tribute to the Legion and his native Austria as the fatal shots rang out.

Their executions served as a notice from President Charles de Gaulle that he would spare no effort to wipe out the terrorist blood-bath in Algeria.

They also dimmed chances of a presidential reprieve for Edmond Johaud, the former French general who was convicted and sentenced to die as the No. 2 leader of the OAS.

De Gaulle told his cabinet Wednesday in a discussion on Johaud that "men and actions must be judged solely on the basis of the higher interests of the state."

The only thing believed holding up Johaud's execution up to now is the fact that the same high tribunal that condemned him gave a life sentence to his superior, ex-Gen. Raoul Salan, because of unexplained "extraneous circumstances."

Farm Bill Cleared For Floor Debate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy's farm bill, aimed at cutting the government's big farm surplus stocks, has been cleared for floor debate next week.

The House Rules Committee sent the bill to the floor after rejecting a Republican demand for delay until Kennedy said whether the bill would permit segregated recreation facilities.

Key sections of the bill would force feed grain and wheat producers to choose between rigid planting controls or abolition of price supports. Another section would authorize federal aid for converting farmland to recreational use.

The bill, which passed the Senate in substantially the same form, faces an uncertain fate on the House floor.

Rep. Paul Findley, R-Ill., was unsuccessful in urging the Rules Committee to hold up action on the bill.

Findley said he appealed to Kennedy in a letter Monday to clarify the administration stand on the racial question but received no reply.

National Spelling Bee Ends In Tie

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Hardin, Ill., boy and a Roswell, N. M., girl became co-champions of the 35th annual National Spelling Bee today after a see-saw battle of 59 words.

Michael Day, 14, and Nettie Crawford, 13, battled to a draw when neither was able to spell the other down.

On two other occasions, in 1950 and 1957, there were co-champions.

Spelling Bee Director James Wagner of the Scripps-Howard newspapers called a halt to the contest after both youngsters failed on "esquamulose," which means "without scales, a smooth skin."

Michael tried "esquamulose." Nettie spelled it "esquamulous." Each gets a $1,000 prize in cash, plus $100 in spending money for a sight-seeing weekend in New York.

Officials recessed the contest for lunch after the two finalists continued through 39 words tossed at them after the other 68 contestants had been eliminated. Nettie represented the El Paso, Tex., Herald-Post in the competition. Michael was sponsored by the St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Dr. Salk Shows Institute Model

Dr. Jonas Salk (left), and Basil O'Connor, president of The National Foundation, examine a scale model of the Salk Institute for Biological Studies now under construction in San Diego, Calif. Dr. Salk will direct the institute, and Mr. O'Connor is treasurer. Scientists of great ability from many parts of the world will work there together on problems of life, health and disease. From such studies comes knowledge that may enrich the lives of men, women and children everywhere. The American people will be given an opportunity to contribute to a $15 million Salk Institute Building Fund Campaign, sponsored by The National Foundation through the March of Dimes, June 1-15.

W. Lowell Harper, Adams coun-tain return envelopes for do-ty chairman for the Salk Institute nations. Harper has also mailed fund-raising drive, announced today special letters to industries that 6,000 letters have been mailed throughout the county for funds throughout the county asking for the research institute in Cali- contributions to the institute now fornia. under construction. Expect Great Things From Salk Institute

By DELOS SMITH
UPI Science Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Dr. Jonas E. Salk got overruled. He wanted this new center of science to be called "The Institute for Biological Studies" and it is so called in the preliminary announcements. Instead its name is going to be, "The Salk Institute for Biological Studies."

It doesn't exist now except as a set of architectural plans, a building site in San Diego, a board of trustees, a director (Dr. Salk), six resident fellows (one of whom is Dr. Salk), and four non-resident fellows. Yet it was dedicated last week and the plan is to "move in" a year hence.

That's the kind of confidence Basil O'Connor has in himself, and his associates have in him. Everything depends upon the public contributing $15 million during the next few weeks to a building fund. No one could believe the confidence is misplaced. He is America's champion fund-raiser.

Millions For Polio
Through the "March of Dimes" he raised the millions which led to the development of Salk's "killed virus" anti-polio vaccine and to the "live virus" vaccine which is promising to replace it in the next few years. With his National Foundation, he is raising the building fund.

Overruling Dr. Salk were O'Connor; Dr. Warren Weaver, who is chairman of the trustees; Gerard Piel, president of the board; and the business men, lawyers and scientists who are its members.

Their view is that Salk has the breadth, depth, flexibility yet discipline of mind to lead a different kind of scientific assault on the basic secrets of life which biology longs to expose. There must be no question that he is the leader, they held. Salk is self-conscious about a full-fledged institute bearing his name but he had to give in.

Science Of Life
Since biology is the science of life, biological studies are going on in every university in the world, in countless laboratories public and private, and are the preoccupations of many scores of thousands of scientists.

But at the Salk Institute a scientific atmosphere will prevail which exists nowhere else. In the words of Weaver, in an organ of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, it will be "an atmosphere of unparalleled freedom and flexibility, within which the controls will rest with the scholar-scientists."

They will have no worry about personal security because they will be appointed for life with no strings attached. They will be independent of any need to undertake specific projects in order to get grants of tax or charitable funds because they will be endowed. And they won't be burdened by administrative duties nor handicapped by a frozen departmental set-up.

Expects Great Things
Weaver, who is a former president of the association and one of America's best known men of science, expects great things to come from biological studies in the next 50 years. He expects it to conquer diseases of all kinds but "even more significant," he continued, it will advance "man's inner life of the mind and the spirit."

"At last man will begin to understand his own nature, his place in the total universe of living and non-living matter, his essential oneness with the star, the cell and the atom."

10 Candidates List Campaign Expenses

A total of ten more candidates in the primary election have filed expense statements as of noon today, the deadline for filing. Roger L. Singleton, who received the Democratic nomination for Adams county sheriff, filed a statement showing expenses totaling $913.69, more than $400 more than any other candidate yet filed. Robert Meyer, a candidate for the Democratic sheriff's nomination, filed expenses amounting to $442.29, while all other filers today filed statements showing no expenses incurred during the campaign. Leon Neuenchwander, Raymond E. Ehrsam, Jerome Hawbaker, Earl Caston, Richard E. Mailand, John G. Gordon, Martin Selking and Charles Burkhardt, all filed statements showing no expense incurred.

Savings Bonds for Freedom

"Freedom in America involves a profound respect for individual liberty, a strong determination to maintain that liberty, and to bring ourselves and others to a better life within its framework. Many Americans today are sincerely wondering what they can do to defend and preserve our freedom. They wish to contribute to our defense efforts, to our adventures in space, and to strengthening our free institutions and our traditions of liberty. The success of our efforts is based upon a strong and expanding economy. By investing part of his savings in United States Savings Bonds, an individual citizen can contribute to all of these objectives. I would like to take this opportunity to invite every American to purchase an extra share in freedom by purchasing an extra Savings Bond during the Freedom Bond Drive."—John F. Kennedy, The White House, May 1, 1962.
