More Burglaries By Fort Wayne Officer

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (UPI)—Authorities today continued delving into the burglarizing activities of a Fort Wayne policeman after he admitted Thursday staging at least 45 more break-ins than was originally believed.

Detectives also said Thursday that Robert C. Elder, 32, netted more than $22,000 from his robberies of city firms instead of $3,000 as was first thought.

The new developments in the case were announced shortly after Elder's arraignment on second-degree burglary charges in City Court. He was freed on $2,000 bond, and the case was continued to July 12.

The eight-year veteran of the police force told detectives at the time of his arrest Wednesday that he had committed 18 burglaries, many of them at supply firms but others at a drug store, sandwich shop, two insurance firms and two furniture stores. He said he burglarized the firms just before midnight after getting off his shift which ended at 10 p.m. Most of the time he was in uniform, he said.

Police Chief Paul Clark said detectives first became suspicious of Elder because he reported more burglaries than the average officer. Clark said Elder would report the burglaries to headquarters after staging them and then help out in the investigation.

Elder was dismissed from the force after his arrest by Patrolman Richard Hatcher who caught him stealing $50 from a hearing aid firm.

Mayor Paul M. Burns said Elder had "desecrated the police department" and he said he hoped the former officer would get a fair and speedy trial and that the maximum sentence would be carried out.

Quick Drying
In order to dry your stockings more quickly, wring them out as dry as possible and roll tightly in a turkish towel for five minutes. Then hang them in an airy place, and they will dry in jig time.

Midwest Hit Last Night By Severe Storms

By United Press International
Tornadoes skipped across the southern Plains into Dixie during the night and the Midwest was hit by severe thunderstorms. Funnel clouds were spotted in Texas, Kansas and Missouri, the U.S. Weather Bureau reported. The Missouri Highway Patrol reported a twister spotted near Mount Vernon, but it apparently failed to touch ground. However, another knocked down power lines and damaged the roof of a bowling alley at Cabool, Mo.

A tornado-like storm hit Black Rock, Ark., and minor damage was reported. A tornado was reported near Shamrock, Tex., but the area apparently escaped damage.

Southern California was warned to prepare for tides 4 feet above normal today as a result of tropical storms in the Pacific Ocean. Earlier, a heat wave gripped Arkansas, sending the temperature to 102 degrees at Fort Smith. Charles Larkin, 62, a farmhand, died of heat prostration while at work near Manila, Ark.

North Carolina's Neuse River was as much as 4 feet above flood stage and another 3-foot rise was expected in the Smithfield area. The lower Cape Fear River was to crest at Elizabethtown, N.C., some 4 feet above flood stage tonight.

Iowa's Little Sioux River crested 6 feet above flood stage at Spencer, Iowa, during the night. Holdrege, Neb., had an inch and a half of rain in 30 minutes in a storm which snapped tree limbs and dropped half stones large enough to break car windows.

Earlier, an electrical storm hit St. Louis, knocking out power to 53,000 homes. Forty-mile winds uprooted trees and flattened street signs. An inch and a half of rain flooded some streets.

Lightning struck three radio towers at Wood River, Ill., knocking radio station WBBY off the air.

Lightning touched off fires in 1.37 inches of rain fell.

Evening Distribution
To keep fruits, nuts, and raisins from sinking to the bottoms of cakes and puddings, heat them in the oven before adding them to your batter. Some cooks insure the even distribution of these nuts and fruits by rolling them in flour before adding them to the cake batter.

New Tool Controls Body Temperatures

By HORTENSE MYERS
United Press International
INDIANAPOLIS (UPI)—The concept of placing a human in suspended animation through near-freezing by use of some mysterious machine has moved from the realm of science fiction to near-reality.

A group of practical and successful men have banded together here and are turning out such a device just as routinely as another firm might produce a cement mixer. Walter O. Higgins, former General Motors and Studebaker Corp. executive, is the president.

Dr. Robert L. Fuson, formerly of Indiana University Medical Center and now at Duke University, is vice president of the University of South Carolina.

So far, the temperature control machine has been used for cardiac surgery, neuro-surgery, acute head trauma, brain surgery, control of bleeding ulcers, internal hemorrhage control and isolation of infection.

Potential "Fantastic"
"The potential applications this one little device has are fantastic," Fuson said. "I would not be surprised if someday a device like this would be used to get a man on Mars. If body functions could be suspended, a man would not need food or oxygen. His temperature control could be timed so he would arrive on Mars in the same condition as when he left Earth."

But Fuson and his associates are at the moment concerned only with the immediate medical use to which the temperature control device can be put on this planet.

The National Institutes of Health, Veterans Administration, Navy Bureau of Medicine, Naval Medical Research Center and several universities and hospitals have seen demonstrations of the new device and have units in operation or on order.

The British Health Service is quired about the possibility of placing the machine in government hospitals.

The unit is housed in a portable cabinet, and so far, researchers have developed four attachments to this combination-refrigerator and heat pump. One is a blanket with square tubing which allows total body temperature control.

Another is a head covering, resembling a space helmet, which permits cerebral cooling.

Cites "Brain Power"
Dr. Robert Campbell of the I.U. Department of Neurosurgery has developed data showing that cooling of the head and neck permits intra-cerebral temperatures to be dropped from 5 to 8 degrees below the rest of the body.

A double tube with gastric balloon and thermistor is used to lower the stomach temperature.

High Altitude Nuclear Test Is Postponed

HONOLULU (UPI)—The United States announced a 24-hour postponement Thursday night in its third effort to explode a rocket-borne nuclear device over Johnston Island in the Pacific.

Joint Task Force 8 gave no reason for the postponement, but it came after a hold of first one hour and then 30 minutes. The blast had been originally scheduled for 5 a.m. EDT today.

There were indications that the postponement may have been caused by unfavorable weather conditions. About five minutes before the first hold was announced, the countdown broadcaster commented that the weather "appeared to be improving."

Scientists had hoped to explode the megaton warhead at an altitude of about 300 miles, which would have been the highest man-made blast in history. The warhead is equal to about a million tons of TNT.

In the two earlier tests, on June 3 and 19, the Thor rockets were launched — but both ended in failure. The rockets and their warheads were destroyed minutes after they left the launch pads because of malfunctions in the equipment.

JTF8 officials were able to destroy the warheads without causing nuclear explosion and the debris fell harmlessly into the previously designated danger area.

"It is not considered that the fragments will cause hazardous levels of radioactivity in the ocean water, nor will they constitute hazard to human life," the officials said.

Admits Slaying During Argument
INDIANAPOLIS (UPI)—A service station attendant was scheduled to go to court today on a preliminary murder charge in the shooting of L. C. Rimmer, 33.

Authorities said Leonard Means, 34, admitted the shooting June 29 during an argument over money. Rimmer died Thursday.

Navy Man Dies In Fireworks Accident
CRANE, Ind. (UPI)—Officials have announced that an officer attached to the Naval Ammunition Depot here was injured fatally in a fireworks accident Wednesday night.

The report said Lt. Jg Roy P. Callaghan, 44, Minneapolis, died about on hour after the accident. Cause of the mishap was listed as "malfunction of a pyrotechnic device."

Explorer Scouts On Four-Day Campout

Fifteen Explorer Scouts from post 2062, sponsored by the Decatur Elks, returned Wednesday from a four-day trip to Cave River Valley, near Campbellsburg in southern Indiana.

Dr. and Mrs. Mel Weisman, assistant leader Dave MacLean, and volunteer drivers Don Graber and Paul Haberger accompanied the group for their annual trip of exploration to the cave area.

Those making the trip, and camping out for the four days, were Pat Buckley, Roger Death, John Eichenauer, Barry Frauhiger, Steve Geimer, Ken Hess, Bob Dean Harmon, Dan Hess, Bob Jauregui, Tom Macklin, Eugene Peterson, Gary Sheets, Jim Williamson, Manuel Ibarra, and Alben Kreischer.
