

All Little League Teams Represented On All Stars

White Sox, 5; Indians, 3; Yankees, Red Sox, Tigers Get Two Each; Senators, 1

ALL six teams are represented on the 1962 Little League All-Star team, announced this morning following a vote of managers, coaches and umpires of the league.

The champion White Sox team owns the biggest representation on the team, five players, while three Indians, two Yankees, two Red Sox, two Tigers and one Senator were honored with positions on the All-Star squad.

Chosen for the team were: Steve Haggerty, George Halikowski, Dave Winteregg, Tony Conrad and Pete Mayclin of the White Sox; Mike Terveer, Mike Schnepf, the league's leading hitter, and Doug Halberstadt, of the Indians; Dan Strickler and Stu Spiegel of the Yankees; Jim Cass and Bill Borror of the Red Sox; Don Williams and Steve Burger of the Tigers, and Rich Cacciano of the Senators.

Ballots Issued

Ballots were issued the last week of the season to the manager and three coaches of each team, 24 in all, and to league president and umpire Bob Lord and umpire Jack Reiff. A total of 21 of the ballots were returned.

Schnepf and Williams, both good fielders with strong bats, were tied in the balloting for first baseman, while Haggerty was selected at second, Cass at shortstop and Terveer at third.

Strickler, the Yankees' leading hitter for the season, was selected and received votes at all three infield positions, with the exception of first base, and was chosen as a utility infielder.

Outfield Strong

Halikowski, Burger and Borror were the three top vote-getters in the outfield. The three gave the All-Star squad fine hitting, plus good defense and have three of the finest throwing arms in the league.

Speigel, primarily an infielder and pitcher for the Yanks, was selected on nearly half the ballots as an outfielder, as most managers and coaches wanted his hitting in the lineup.

Winteregg and Halberstadt, both of whom did outstanding catching jobs for their respective teams during the season, received all but four of the catcher votes between them, and were both chosen for the All-Star squad of 15.

In the pitching department, Cacciano, the big Senator right-hander was the top vote-getter, after posting a 4-4 record with the fifth-place Senators during the season.

Conrad and Mayclin, the White Sox right-handers, each compiled perfect records during the season, Conrad winning five games and Mayclin four.

Cass, Burger and Strickler also received heavy support as pitchers for the L. L. stars.

Received Votes

Following are the batting averages of the 15 All-Stars:

Cut 'N Shoot Boy Picks Liston

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (UPI)—A man who lost to Floyd Patterson and put Cut 'N Shoot, Tex., on the map predicts that Sonny Liston will upset the heavyweight champion in their Sept. 25 bout in Chicago.

The forgotten Texan is Roy Harris, now working on a master's degree at Sam Houston State College in Huntsville.

Harris owns a double distinction. He lost to Liston, too.

Harris, 29, is just four years away from that August night in 1958 when he went 12 rounds with Patterson at Los Angeles — and knocked him down once — before the champ beat him on a technical knockout.

A year later, Harris lost to Liston at Houston, and faded from the fight game except in the memory of his friends in the "Big Thicket" area of east Texas just north of Houston.

Harris, who will teach eighth grade mathematics at the east Texas town of Conroe this fall, believes Liston's weight is too much for Patterson.

He points out that Liston fights at 212 pounds and Patterson usually weighs in around 185.

"I don't think there is a chance of it going the distance," Harris said. "If it did, Patterson, I think, would beat him pretty bad."

"But I believe Liston is too strong. If Patterson were the size of Liston, Patterson would take him."

"But Liston weighs 30 more pounds."

"Liston will probably crowd him and rough him up. Patterson will probably go in and out and use combinations."

"He'll have to hit and get out before Liston regains his balance because of Liston's strength."

"Then, he will probably try to set up another inside attack. Liston should win."

If you have something to sell or trade — use the Democrat Want ads — they get BIG results.
