Hornsby Funeral Services Tuesday

CHICAGO (UPI) — The body of Rogers Hornsby, the man the late John McGraw called "better than Babe Ruth," will lie in state tonight at a North Side mortuary.

Funeral services were scheduled at 2 p.m. Tuesday at the Drake & Sons mortuary chapel. The body will be taken to Hornsby's old home town, Hornsby's Bend, Tex., near Austin, for burial Thursday.

Hornsby, baseball's greatest right handed hitter, who set the modern major league batting record of .424 in 1924, died Saturday of a heart attack while apparently recovering at a hospital from eye surgery and a stroke.

Hornsby was an active player in the majors leagues from 1915 to 1937 with the St. Louis Cardinals, New York Giants, Boston Braves, Chicago Cubs and St. Louis Browns. He managed the Cardinals, Braves, Cubs, Browns and Cincinnati Reds along with five minor league clubs. Last season he was batting coach of the New York Mets.

Hornsby was batting champion seven times and hit over 400 three times. He had a lifetime average of .358, and a career mark of 302 homers.

Hartford-Geneva Game February 23

The Hartford-Geneva game, which was originally scheduled for Dec. 7, and then announced as rescheduled for last Saturday night, has again been postponed, and is now scheduled to be played at the Geneva gym Saturday, Feb. 23.

The Daily Democrat was not notified of the latest change and hence carried it as scheduled for Saturday night. While the game will be played at Geneva, it is a Hartford home game.

Decatur-Huntertown Game At Churubusco

Decatur Yellow Jacket fans were reminded today that the Decatur-Huntertown game Tuesday night will be played at the Churubusco school gym.

HARRY ANDERSON, Geneva coach, kneads a "charley horse" in Mike Newcomer's left leg. Newcomer suffered the slight injury just before halftime in Monmouth's victory over the Cardinals Friday night. Newcomer came back into the game in the second half, and wound up with 31 points for his evening's work. —Photo by MacLean
