St. Mary's Church Scene Of Nuptial Rites Today

St. Mary's Catholic church was the scene of the double-ring wedding ceremony which united in marriage Miss Joan Kathryn Gage and Thomas G. Gross at 10 o'clock this morning. The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Simeon Schmitt received the vows before an altar banked with beauty vases of white gladioli, white mums and red carnations. Matching bouquets were placed at the Blessed Virgin and St. Joseph altars.

The musical arrangement for the nuptial ceremony was provided by the men's choir, accompanied by Mrs. John Girard. Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Gage, of North Eleventh street, are the parents of the bride, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul C. Gross, of South Fourth street.

Escorted down the white-carpeted aisle on the arm of her father, the bride wore a chapel-length gown of delustered bridal satin. The molded bodice featured a portrait neckline, highlighted by seed and rice pearls and the long sleeves tapered to points, over her wrists. The controlled skirt of unpressed pleats was fashioned with hand-run seed and rice pearl tracery on the front of the gown. A large bustle bow topped her chapel-length train. A bouffant veil of pure silk illusion was caught to a queen's crown of tiny seed pearls. She carried a crescent-shaped arrangement of white cymbidium orchids and white carnations entwined with ivy and satin streamers on top of a white missal and crystal rosary, gifts from the groom.

Phi will meet Tuesday at 8 p.m. Mrs. Martin Weiland will be the assistant hostess.

The Order of Eastern Star will have a meeting Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Master Masons will be honored at this meeting.

The Adams Central P. T. A. will have a meeting Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the school. McCabe Day will give a talk about audiovisual education.

of the groom.

Mrs. Steve Brandenburg served as matron of honor in a street-length sheath of royal blue taffeta. The fitted bodice featured a scoop neckline with three-quarter length sleeves and the bouffant overskirt was topped in back with a self-fabric bow. A royal blue self-fabric hat fashioned of bows with a very bouffant veil of pure silk illusion completed her ensemble. She carried a crescent-shaped arrangement of red carnations and streamers atop a white fur muff.

The bridesmaids, Miss Ann Gross, sister of the groom, Miss Bonnie Schug and Miss Ann Omlor, wore gowns similar to that of the matron of honor, also in royal blue. Miss Linda Myers, cousin of the bride, was flower girl in a full-skirted royal blue taffeta dress, with lantern sleeves and a bouffant overskirt styled similar to that of the bridesmaids.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Gage chose a dress of beige wool with brown accessories and had a corsage of green cymbidium orchids. Mrs. Gross wore a navy blue outfit with navy accessories and a corsage of white cymbidium orchids.

James Omlor served the groom as best man, and seating the guests were Paul E. Gross, brother of the groom, David Gage, brother of the bride, and Steve Omlor.

Following the ceremony, a dinner was held at the Villa Lanes Four Seasons dining room for approximately forty friends and relatives. The reception will be held at the K. of C. hall from 2 to 5 o'clock.

Those assisting at the reception will be the Misses Pat Cook, Susie Baker, Susie Ehinger, Pat Schultz, Carol Kable and Joan Lengerich. Miss Nancy Gase will register the guests and gifts will be registered by Miss Gloria Vogelewe and Miss Nancy Holthaus.

For a northern ski trip, the new Mrs. Gross will wear a red plaid sheath with black accessories and the corsage from her bridal bouquet.

The bride is a graduate of Decatur Catholic high school and attended International Business college. She is presently employed at the Leland Smith Insurance agency in Fort Wayne. Her husband is also a graduate of Decatur Catholic high school and is employed by the A&P Tea Co. in Fort Wayne.

The couple will be at home at 615 Grant Street after January 27.

THREE YOUTHS

down the fines and sentences: "Judges under their oaths should honestly, justly and impartially judge the law as it exists, and is found upon the statutes of our state, in each particular case. It does not mean that a judge may so judge the law in any case, so as to make it null and void, and of no force, but that he shall judge the laws as to give them all a fair and honest interpretation, to the end that each and every law in each and every case may be fairly and honestly enforced. Any other interpretation of the law would weaken the safeguards erected by society for its protection, for by the non-enforcement of the law and its penalties in all criminal cases, where it is shown by the evidence, beyond a reasonable doubt, to have been violated, contempt for the law is bred among the very class which it is intended to restrain.

"The rule of law, which clothes every person accused of crime with the presumption of innocence, and imposes upon the state the burden of establishing his guilt, beyond a reasonable doubt, is not intended to aid anyone, who is in fact guilty of a crime, to escape punishment.

"The rule of law touching reasonable doubt is a practicable rule, intended to guide practicable judges and courts, when engaged in the serious and important duty of administering justice. There is nothing in it that is mysterious or fanciful. It does not furnish a shield for those actually guilty, whereby to escape merited punishment."

Jane Fonda and Jim Hutton portray the newlyweds in "Period of Adjustment," the laugh-packed attraction showing Sunday and Monday at the Adams theater. Tony Franciosa is also starred in the first comedy written by the famous playwright, Tennessee Williams.
