

You, Your Child And The School

By DAVID NYDICK
UPI Education Specialist

Many parents allow young children to prepare themselves for school. Neglect is not the intention, but unfortunately it often is the result. A child who is sent to school with proper preparation and a friendly good-bye is likely to have a good step toward a successful day.

A child develops secure feelings from an interested parent. A chat with your child while he is having breakfast will be helpful. Your attention will help the child overcome the natural fear of leaving the security of his home. You may think these suggestions apply only to young children. But many teen-agers are not as confident as they try to make you believe.

Proper Clothing Important

Appropriate clothing is important to participation in school activities as well as to your child's health. The choice of clothing can be developed into a valuable learning experience. Although you may allow your child some choice he will need guidance. Of course, the younger your child, the more supervision he will need. You should be aware of his program so that you can help him. Some factors to consider are physical education classes, outdoor recess, active class programs, school temperature, and special events.

As an adult, you are aware of the feelings of confidence and enthusiasm connected with dressing up. Children also experience these feelings. A child who is dressed in appropriate, neat, and clean attire naturally has an edge. He just feels better.

A good breakfast contributes much to health. A child who is healthy has the energy and enthusiasm so necessary for the day's responsibilities.

Interest Major Factor

Needless to say, your presence will give you the opportunity to see that your child remembers to take all the books and equipment he needs. Children forget things. This is not always a lack of responsibility. He needs help in organizing himself. He is a child.

You may feel that these suggestions tend to remove the responsibility from the child. Perhaps, all the responsibility is not his. You will find that your guidance and supervision will be most helpful in developing a child who is able to handle responsibility. He needs knowledge in order to make adequate choices. As he grows you will probably find less need for direct supervision.

Your interest as shown by your presence is the major factor. Administrators, supervisors and leaders in all fields know that they must be available for consultation. They know that a word of encouragement and guidance is necessary for the development of a successful organization. This approach applies in many ways to a parent-child relationship.

Save Dunes Council Criticizes Welsh

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI) — The Save the Dunes Council, Inc., long and impassioned enemy of the Indiana port at Burns Ditch, issued a statement today criticizing Governor Welsh for "an unwarranted attack on the thousands of conservationists who are fighting his program to wreck the dunes."

Thomas A. Dustin, Fort Wayne attorney and chief spokesman for the council, said Welsh's statement that "opponents of his pet ditch port project represented a well-financed program of calculated misinformation" was without any foundation in fact.

"If the administration had conducted its program with more reason and less stealth and secrecy, perhaps it would not be reduced to an unwarranted attack on the thousands of conservationists, educators, scientists and other citizens in this state, who are fighting his program to wreck the dunes," he said.

Dustin said there was no basis to the report steel mill construction has already ruined the Burns Ditch area for a natural preserve. He said only a few trees have been razed.

He said Welsh has underestimated the strength of the conservationists. He said although "no one is paying us to carry on this fight," they will continue to fight for a national park on the site where Indiana officials want to build a public harbor.

Year Off With Pay One Aim Of Union

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI) — The United Rubber Workers' international policy committee Thursday adopted a 1963 economic program calling for every seventh year off with pay, a monthly bonus program and a general pay increase.

The committee during the two-day session prepared for contract talks with three of the four major rubber companies.

Agreements expired at Good-year Tire & Rubber Co., B.F. Goodrich Co. and Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. on April 20 and U.S. Rubber Co. on June 1.

The union represents about 72,000 production workers at the four big firms—21,000 each at Good-year and U.S. Rubber, 17,000 at Firestone and 13,000 at Goodrich. The proposals included a "substantial general wage increase" with a 60-day reopening provision and a monthly bonus plan based on a formula determining the companies' productivity.

Also proposed was the setting up of "sabbatical leaves" to increase the number of jobs by giving workers one year off with pay for every seventh year. This would increase the work force by 15 per cent, the union said.

Other points include improvement in supplemental benefits program and establishment of "company wide automation committees" to study and make recommendations for solving problems arising from the impact of automation.

The President received the award at the 50th anniversary dinner of the league, the anti-semitism and civil rights educational arm of the Jewish service organization.

Senate Group Studies Red Cuba Buildup

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate preparedness subcommittee was called into session today to lay the groundwork for its forthcoming investigation of the Russian buildup in Cuba.

Chairman John C. Stennis, D-Miss., scheduled a closed meeting to organize the subcommittee's activities for the year. He said he expected a "roundtable discussion" on the Cuba inquiry.

Stennis said the subcommittee was determined to "get all the facts" about the Russian force in Cuba. He previously stated it would first try to compile the best possible inventory of Russian strength on the island and then get testimony on implications for U.S. counter forces.

Developments involving Cuba bubbled up again in both the House and Senate Thursday. In the late afternoon the Pentagon denied a charge by Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., that the Cubans had maintained the sites from which the Russians removed their medium range missiles last November.

Sen. Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb., also told the Senate he had been advised that a shipload of Czech arms had been sent from Cuba to the "pro-Communist" regime of Prime Minister Cheddi Jagan in British Guiana.

Curtis said he had written Secretary of State Dean Rusk to inquire about U.S. surveillance there and to ask about the adequacy of U.S. measures in the light of such exports from Communist Cuba.

In the House, Rep. Ralph Harvey, R-Ind., joined colleagues seeking a full-scale investigation of the ill-fated invasion attempt at Cuba's Bay of Pigs in 1961.

"Since administration spokesmen choose to keep bringing up the matter, it is only proper to see if the truth can be learned about the Cuban matter before too much history is falsely recorded," Harvey said in a speech.

The Defense Department conceded Thursday that two large Soviet ships had arrived in Cuban ports in the last week, but said "there is no evidence that either carried offensive weapons."

Part Of Farm Plan Headed For Trouble

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy's farm message got a generally warm reception in Congress Thursday, but this did not mean clear sailing for the entire program.

Some parts appeared headed for trouble. Chairman Allen J. Ellender, D-La., of the Senate Agriculture Committee made it clear he was not satisfied with the proposed cotton programs.

But Ellender called the overall message a "very thought-provoking document that could well lead to further government savings and increased farm income."

House Agriculture Chairman Harold D. Cooley, D-N.C., called the proposals heartening and inspiring. He said he was particularly impressed because the President had not taken a "this or nothing attitude... (and) recognizes the responsibility of the Congress in developing and refining such programs."

Republicans had little praise for the proposals, although Rep. Charles B. Hoeven, Iowa, ranking GOP member of the House farm group, said Kennedy appeared to have moved closer to the GOP position on feed grain legislation.

Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., ranking Republican on the Senate Agriculture Committee, said he is not convinced new programs are needed, especially for cotton and feed grains. Better administration of present cotton and dairy laws, he said, would improve the situation without major new legislation in these areas.

Liberals In Senate Lose First Test

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democratic Leader "Mike Mansfield" hoped today that a weekend "breathing spell" might clear the outlook for ending the Senate's anti-filibuster rule fight.

The Senate, apparently moving into the final stages of the prolonged battle, was in recess until Monday.

Senate liberals lost by a 53-to-42 vote Thursday in the first test on the short-cut route they have been using to amend the existing gag rule. Their defeat "for all practical purposes" spiked chances of a rule change this year.

But Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., author of a pending amendment to let three-fifths instead of two-thirds of those voting halt a filibuster, said the struggle might go on until next Friday. Most members looked for its final collapse earlier than that. Anderson's motion to call up his three-fifths rule amendment is the pending business. It also is subject to a tabling motion, could be withdrawn or sent to committee. Southerners will filibuster against its adoption.

On Thursday's vote, first roll-call of the year, the Senate tabled the liberals' claim that at a session's start a majority of members should be able to kill a filibuster. The present gag rule requires the votes of two-thirds of those present.

Southern Democrats were joined by small state senators plus a scattering of other members in voting to table the matter. The break down was 32 Democrats and 21 Republicans for tabling and 31 Democrats and 11 Republicans against.

The liberals bypassed the normal process of clearing rule amendments through the rules committee. They contended that at the opening of a new Congress a majority should be able to amend the rules.
