Hay Fever Time

This time of year people with large vacant lots in the city should be especially careful to keep them mowed, since many people suffer miserably with hay fever, an allergy to weed pollen.

City ordinance requires every property owner to keep his yard and property trimmed and presentable, as it should. It also makes provisions for charging those who do not keep their own property up, so that it will be done anyway. This can be placed as a lien against your property.

Most property owners do a good job. Even the city has gotten into the act, as they have gone along the streets, spraying weeds that grow up along the curbs and sidewalks.

The sheriff has asked all farmers to keep their property mowed back at road intersections. Every fall tall corn gives some driver a feeling of security as he speeds through an intersection to meet his death ramming sideways into another driver who could not see him coming.

In fact, we have even had some intersections in town that were hard to see around.

There is always the possibility, though we would hate to think that it would be necessary, of passing a city ordinance which would fix punitive fines for those who after a warning still fail to cut their weeds or lawns — like the city smoke ordinance, which has been enforced with daily fines until violators finally "see the light."

Weedy property looks bad, gives the city a bad name, decreases the value of the property, and that next to it, causes hay fever, hides all kinds of vermin, and disease, and is illegal. That should be enough reason to clean up any vacant lots, or around unrented homes, or at intersections.

20 Years Ago Today

Aug. 2, 1943—Dr. E. B. Oberg, research director for the Central Soya Co. here for the past four years, has resigned to accept a similar position with the Carnation Milk Co. at Milwaukee, Wis.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Beeher, of Rochester, have purchased the Rice hotel in this city from Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McMahon.

Walter S. Goll, 70, retired works manager of the Fort Wayne General Electric works, including the Decatur plant, died at a Fort Wayne hospital.

The city swimming pool will be reopened Wednesday after being closed for some time while repairs were made to damage caused by a storm.

James R. Bogan, a graduate of Decatur Catholic high school, was graduated yesterday at St. Joseph's College, Rensselaer, receiving a bachelor of science degree, with the distinction "cum laude."

Raises Hopes Of Easing Cold War

MOSCOW (UPI)—Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's decision to take personal charge of the Soviet delegation to next week's big three talks here raised hopes today that he is ready for further steps to ease the cold war.

Informed sources here disclosed Thursday night that Khrushchev would put off his vacation in order to be in Moscow when Secretary of State Dean Rusk and British Foreign Secretary Lord Home arrive Monday to sign the partial nuclear test ban treaty with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

Communist China kept up its attacks on the test ban. In Peking radio broadcasts monitored in Tokyo, it said the nuclear question cannot be decided by "a few big powers." It charged the test ban agreement was a "big conspiracy" against China and called on other Communist countries to join it in trying to develop independent nuclear arsenals.

Remain Several Days
Rusk and Home will remain in the Soviet Union several days—perhaps as long as a week—to discuss ways of extending the progress made on the nuclear issue to other problems of the cold war. Khrushchev was expected to stay until Wednesday.

Gromyko and the two Western nuclear negotiators, Undersecretary of State W. Averell Harriman and British Science Minister Lord Hailsham, went over some of this ground in their talks last month.

These are the main features of the Khrushchev "peace package," as made known in his speeches and statements:

—A non-aggression pact between NATO and the Warsaw defense alliance. The West is reluctant to agree to this, fearing implied recognition of Communist East Germany, a Warsaw pact member.

—Control posts to prevent surprise attack. Khrushchev has suggested stationing foreign inspectors to check on troop buildups and movements, but details are not clear.

—Freezing of arms budgets and reduction of foreign troops in both East and West Germany. Again, it is not fully clear from public statements how this would be controlled.

There also was speculation that the three foreign ministers might take up the extension of the partial test ban treaty to underground tests. As it stands, it outlaws only tests in the atmosphere, outer space, and under water.

Highlight of the report on overseas broadcasting was the announcement that the one millionth letter from listeners to The Japanese Lutheran Hour had been received in the Tokyo office.

The convention opened with a Lutheran Hour rally in the International Ballroom of the Conrad Hilton hotel. An estimated 4,000 watched on closed circuit television in an adjacent room, heard a message by the Lutheran Hour speaker, Dr. Oswald Hoffmann, who left immediately after the rally for a spiritual life mission at Air Force bases in Japan, the Philippines, and Hawaii.

The following officers and board members were elected at the convention: William Driemeier, Pittsburgh, Pa., secretary; Norman Heitner, St. Louis, treasurer; Luther Jennejohn, Hilton, N. Y.; A. W. Herrmann, New Orleans; Donald Adam, Dearborn, Mich.; Wendell Grauer, Marcus, Iowa; James Mayes, Shawnee Mission, Kan.; Harry Hansen, Riverton, Wyo.; James Symonds, Seattle; and Robert Guebert, Leduc, Alta. (Canada), board members. Boston was selected as the 1965 LLL convention city.

Local Residents At Church Convention

Mr. and Mrs. Louis A. Jacobs of Decatur, attended the 46th anniversary of the Lutheran laymen's league, July 28-31, at the Conrad Hilton Hotel in Chicago.

Jacobs is a past president of the Northern Indiana district and has served on several national committees.

The theme of the convention was "God at Work in Christian Families." Keynote speaker Prof. Paul Harms of Concordia Senior College, Fort Wayne, told 1,200 delegates and visitors, "God wants to work in a Christian family so that He can work through it."

For 30 broadcasting seasons the Lutheran Laymen's League has sponsored The Lutheran Hour on radio, world-wide for the past 20 years. The convention learned that an intensive study of program ideas and formats is being made to try to reach normally hard-to-reach segments of the American radio audience.

Highlight of the report on overseas broadcasting was the announcement that the one millionth letter from listeners to The Japanese Lutheran Hour had been received in the Tokyo office.

The convention opened with a Lutheran Hour rally in the International Ballroom of the Conrad Hilton hotel.
