Marine Certificates Given Decatur Men

Sgt. Duffner, local Marine Corps recruiter, presented two local business men with certificates of appreciation from the Marine Corps recruiting service. They are Arthur D. Suttles and Richard C. Mies.

Though never officially connected with the Marine Corps, Suttles was nominated because of his cooperation in making available to the recruiting service window space of non-rented buildings in chinchillas entered in the show, won first and second place in the senior chinchilla doe competition.

Julie Yager won first place in the senior California doe division and the market rabbit division. Phil Rumschlag won second place in the market rabbit division.

Decatur

Dick Mies, a captain in the Marine Corps reserve, was nominated because of his cooperation in making display space available at the Villa Lanes bowling alley.

Mies graduated from Decatur Catholic high school in 1948 after which he attended Villanova university where he enrolled in the NROTC program. After graduation from the university, Mies was commissioned a second lieutenant in the Marine Corps where he served as an air-ground control officer in a Marine corps aviation unit.

In addition to his certificate of appreciation, Mies was also given an honorary recruiters certificate. Mies is the first Adams county resident to receive this certificate, which establishes him as an honorary Marine Corps recruiter, and Sgt. Duffner says that the young men of Adams county should talk to Mies before deciding which branch of the service to join.

Attorney Held For Passing Phony Bill

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI)—R. Martin Worrell, 67, an Indianapolis attorney, was scheduled to be arraigned before U.S. Commissioner Lawrence Turner, Jr., today on charges that he passed fraudulent $10 bills.

Worrell was arrested Thursday night by Secret Service agents and taken to Marion County Jail. He was charged specifically with passing a phony $10 bill at a north side drug store July 8 where he bought a bottle of whisky.

When an apparently suspicious sales person tried to check the bill, Worrell walked out without waiting for his change, according to Kenneth B. Hale, the Secret Service agent in charge here.

Hale said the bill was "identical" to others allegedly made by a convicted counterfeiter, Gene Alger, whose case is pending in federal court. "A cautious money handler would have no difficulty spotting this bill," Hale said. He said the back side "lacks detail, particularly the Treasury Building." He said it was printed a "bluish off-green."

One of Worrell's law firm partners is the attorney for Alger, who is appealing a 7½-year prison sentence. Alger, who served a 20-year prison term for slaying a police man and for a bank robbery in the Peru area in 1940, and his son-in-law, Curtis L. McClung, 42, were accused of printing about $36,000 in fraudulent $10 bills. Hale said less than $2,000 of the bogus money was placed in circulation before the operation was uncovered.

Alger is free on $10,000 bond pending appeal. McClung, who admitted his part in the counterfeit scheme, was sentenced to five years in prison.
