Gov. Welsh Appoints Four To Commission

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI)—Governor Welsh today named four new members to the Indiana War Memorials Commission in a move intended to win for him the "freedom of assembly" battle which has raged for most of his term.

The Indiana Civil Liberties Union, with Welsh scheduled as speaker, was barred by the commission from meeting in the auditorium of the Indiana World War Memorial.

Welsh personally appealed to the commission to admit the ICLU as a demonstration of freedom of assembly in a state-owned structure, but he was rebuffed.

However, Welsh's news secretary, Richard Martin, in announcing the four new members today, including the first Negro ever to serve on the commission, said he believed it was "safe to assume the majority of the commission holds policy views on freedom of assembly" held by the governor.

Named to the commission was Dr. G. Tanner Brooks, a Negro physician from Richmond who served in both World War II and the Korean conflict. He will fill the unexpired term of Glen H. Cheak, Connorsville, which runs to June, 1965.

Lloyd A. Kauter, Bloomington, assistant controller of Indiana University, was named to succeed Ralph Gregory, Bloomington, whose term expired.

John D. Clouse, Evansville lawyer, succeeds C. U. Gramel-spacher, Jasper, whose term expired.

Leon D. Cline, Columbus lawyer, succeeds Joseph A. Swope, also of Columbus. Swope's term also expired.
