FLO-KAN SUNSHINE GIRLS ENJOY HALLOWEEN PARTY

The Flo-Kan Sunshine Girls and counselors were entertained with a Halloween party at the home of Helen Walters. The guests arrived masked and were greeted at the gate by two large pumpkin faces and the hostess dressed as a tramp. They were then escorted to the patio decorated with orange and black crepe paper streamers and balloons. When all had arrived the guests were given flashlights and told to search for a piece of paper listing the evening's program. On the program was a treasure hunt that led them to a tank of water for an apple bob. The girls roasted wieners and marshmallows over the glowing coals of the charcoal burner on the patio and enjoyed cokes, potato chips and cookies from a picnic table. Following the meal a taffy pull was held. Recorded music was played throughout the evening. Evelyn Plasterer assisted the hostess and the mothers in making the taffy.

The Faithful Followers of the Methodist church of Bobo will sponsor a rummage sale Friday and Saturday in the vacant building adjacent to the Decatur Bakery.

The city council of the Beta Sigma Phi will meet at the home of Mrs. James Brazill, Monday at 8 p.m.

HISTORICAL CLUB HOLDS MEETING

The Historical club held its bi-monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Virginia Hazelwood. Eighteen members and one guest were present. The club creed was read and roll call was answered with various quotes. Mrs. Josie Garard gave an interesting report on Nebraska. She noted that the "corn husker" state was shaped like a giant flag in the breeze. It is fourteenth in size and is bordered by six states. The Indians called it "New brathka," which means shallow water. Among many other interesting facts she noted that Mrs. Haven Smith, speaker for the annual Adams County Farm Bureau meeting, received her education and numerous honors in that state. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Lydia Worthman.

Temperatures Drop To Below Freezing

By United Press International

Temperatures plunged below freezing in Indiana today in a frosty finale to one of the warmest Octobers in history.

Readings near dawn included 31 at Lafayette, 32 at Evansville and 33 at Indianapolis, while upstate it was a few degrees warmer with South Bend recording 38 and Fort Wayne 40. The freezing low at Evansville represented a 53-degree plunge in little more than 36 hours from a Sunday afternoon top of 85.

The Indianapolis low was the coldest temperature of the season and the chilliest reading in the Hoosier capital in six months—since a low of 29 last May 1. Skies were clear as the mercury plummeted to normal mid-autumn levels, setting the stage for scattered frost which the forecasters had predicted. More frost and near freezing temperatures were indicated for tonight. Lows in the lower 30s were predicted for the entire state.

For the 24 hours ending at 7 a.m. today, South Bend recorded a little more than one-fourth of an inch of badly needed rain. Lafayette had a trace. But the Central Indiana area around Indianapolis continued to parch with only .02 of an inch of precipitation recorded since Oct. 1. The cool weather, developing after weekend showers ranging up to nearly an inch in some areas but missing others entirely, held temperatures to the 60s at high points Monday. Highs included 61 at Lafayette, 62 at South Bend, 63 at Indianapolis and Fort Wayne, and 65 at Evansville.

Highs today will range from 55 to 62, and Wednesday from the low to upper 60s.

The only chance of rain the next three days was seen for the north portion today in the form of scattered showers. Northerly winds also were forecast for the northern third today.

The frost and freezing temperatures tonight will show no favorites geographically, with the cold penetrating just as much along the Ohio River as around the tip of Lake Michigan, the forecasters said.

New Comic Is Aid In Reading Spanish

"Can you read Spanish yet?" You can if you're reading the new comic strip in the Decatur Daily Democrat, "Buenos Dias" on page 5. The comic is written in Spanish, with a translation into English in small letters under the comic. It started in yesterday's paper.

Many children are learning Spanish on closed-circuit TV during the day in school. Reading the comic strip will help them practice their language. The comic strip is designed with young people in mind.

It is also quite useful for adults who want to learn a foreign language. It is in correct diplomatic Spanish; some help from a Spanish-speaking friend will give the pronunciation, which is quite simple.

And it is a real help for those who have learned to speak Spanish, perhaps in their homes, but have never learned to read and write it. The correct spelling and punctuation will give the help necessary to perfect the language.

Clergymen have praised the comic strip, because it will help train people to speak a foreign language that may be helpful in missionary work in the future. Knowledge of Spanish could help a future airline stewardess or pilot get an exciting job.

In some areas, Spanish teachers have students bring the comic strip to class, and cut off the English portion. The students paste the strip in notebooks, and read the strip. Then they translate it. After getting the feel of the strip, they blank out the dialogue, and give their own dialogue in Spanish. This gives them good practice in thinking out situations. The strips are repetitious for easy learning.

The accident happened near the boys' home at Foraker on the Indiana 3 crossing of the Wabash Railroad.

cast for the northern third today.

The frost and freezing temperatures tonight will show no favorites geographically, with the cold penetrating just as much along the Ohio River as around the tip of Lake Michigan, the forecasters said.

Hear Objections To Repairs For Drain

The Adams county commissioners conducted a hearing Monday on objections to proposed repair of the Archie P. Hardison drain No. 2 in Wabash township.

The hearing was on the engineer's, surveyor's and viewers' reports on the proposed repair.

There were 59 signatures on the original petition for the repair and since it was submitted, 19 of the signers have petitioned to have their names removed. Fifty objectors have also petitioned for the repair.

Severin Schurger, attorney for the group petitioning for the repair, pointed out during the hearing that only two of the objections were in order and properly verified. The commissioners, however, heard all the objectors present in order to familiarize themselves with the case. No decision was made on the matter.

During their morning session the commissioners discussed a parking problem on the road which runs across the levee of Rainbow lake near Geneva. Fishermen have been parking on the road in such a manner as to block traffic. It was decided to post the road for parallel parking only.

County home superintendent Charles Morgan reported to the commissioners that repair work on the smokestack at the home had run about $900 over the original estimate and that he would need to make a request for additional funds.

Carpenters Strike Hartford City Plant

HARTFORD CITY, Ind. (UPI)—About 300 carpenters union members struck the Overhead Door Corp. plant here Monday in a dispute blamed by the union on overtime work procedures.

The strike was blamed by Dale Julian, president of Local 2047 of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, on failure of the company to post overtime orders on a bulletin board at least 48 hours in advance.
