reactions, although most were favorable. Pessimists went around saying, "Three games in a row would be phenomenal. It would double the seasonal record."

Lukewarm fans said, "Well, we can probably beat Geneva."

Boys, with a knowing gleam in their eyes, spoke of seasonal records and algebraic probabilities, saying, "It's anybody's sectional. Wide open this year, but the advantage is with Adams Central; it's their home floor."

Avid enthusiasts went about firmly stating, "Sure, we can do it. We may not have a good record, but look at the foes we met. After all, the Jackets beat Auburn."

The only sure thing is that the main topic at schools all over the county is sectional, so keep your opinion; it is one of many.

To celebrate the Ides of March five days late, the Latin classes of D.H.S. have planned their annual festivities on March 20. Miss Vera and Mr. Scheidler are in charge of the event. The program includes the presentation of the guests of honor, the gods and goddesses, narrated by Bill Blythe; a style show narrated by Nora Rawlinson; and a tumbling exhibition. Musically speaking, there will be a girls' quartet, and a boys' quartet, with the recessional and processional to be played by an orchestra. One of the highlights of the evening's entertainment promises to be a Greek dance performed by several Latin ladies of the classes. Then, as the recessional is played, the students will walk into the cafeteria for refreshments.

Under the supervision of Miss Pumphrey, D.H.S. librarians, school librarians and English teachers of the North Adams Community schools are planning a book exhibit at the Southeast school of Decatur March 9-12. Free to the public, the exhibit's sole purpose is to display the 410 books geared to junior high-senior high curriculums, many of which will prove appealing to adults. No selling or taking of orders will be done. All of the Adams county schools are invited to attend as is the public, to whom the doors will be open from four o'clock in the afternoon to nine o'clock at night.
