PHOTOGRAPHER SPEAKS TO WOMAN'S CLUB

Monday evening, Lawrence Anspaugh of Anspaugh Studios, presented to the Woman's club an interesting program on the use of portraits and snapshots in home decoration. He opened the program by saying that it was time to get pictures out of boxes and books and to put them out where they can be seen and enjoyed. Ten years ago interior decorators said portraits should not be displayed in the living room. They have now come to realize that if properly displayed, portraits and snapshots add warmth to a home.

Anspaugh showed a set of slides made by Eastman Kodak that illustrated the ways that pictures could be displayed in the different rooms of the home. Several Victorian era living rooms with their cluttered look were first shown. Pictures were everywhere. Anspaugh said they weren't suggesting that people go back to those days, and then went on to show how pictures can be displayed in modern homes. Pictures in different homes and sizes were shown in groups and alone in various settings.

He gave a thorough and informative report on information which he had obtained from school superintendents in Adams and Wells counties concerning their kindergarten classes. He spoke about the importance of having a well qualified teacher, the necessary equipment, the daily program of the class, and the approximate cost of establishing such a program.

An extensive question and answer period followed. The opinions and suggestions developed in this meeting will be referred to the school authorities for their consideration.

Gross Income Tax Law Is Challenged

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI) — The constitutionality of Indiana's 2 per cent adjusted gross income tax law was challenged Tuesday in a suit filed here by an Illinois truck driver.

Filing of the suit on behalf of Robert E. Steele, Hillside, Ill., rounded out court challenges of every major tax imposed by the 1963 Legislature in its historic 101-day session.

The suit in Marion Circuit Court attacked the validity of a clause forcing Steele's employer, Spector Freight Systems Inc., Hillside, to withhold the Indiana tax from 25 per cent of his salary because Steele drives about one-fourth of his mileage on Hoosier roads.

While it involves only one section of the law, the suit could open the way for a court test on the constitutionality of the entire act which repealed the 1933 Indiana Gross Income Tax law.

Atty. Gen. Edwin K. Steers has been quoted in the past as saying the law which was passed hurriedly during the closing hours of the special session of the legislature last March and April was so written that it poses many constitutional questions.

The 1963 Legislature also enacted a two per cent sales tax and a $10 "wheel" tax on Marion County automobiles.

A lower court ruling of unconstitutionality delayed imposition of the state's first sales tax from July 1 to Oct. 22 until the Indiana Supreme Court overruled the decision. The delay cost the state millions of dollars.

The Marion County auto tax was declared invalid by a lower court, and this decision, too, is scheduled for a high court ruling.

Forced Landing By Flying Grandfather

GOOSE BAY, Labrador (UPI) — Max Conrad, the "flying grandfather," was to arrive today aboard a U.S. Air Force rescue plane to tell about his forced landing on an ice floe off Greenland.

Conrad, 62, with more than 60 trans-ocean flights to his credit, was ferrying a single engine Italian plane from Iceland on St. Patrick's Day when the plane began to lose altitude over the Atlantic Ocean.

The veteran pilot had taken off at dawn from Reykjavik's Keflavik Airport for the 10-hour flight here to Goose Bay. At noon he radioed that he was losing altitude 35 miles southwest of Narssarsuaq, Greenland.

He notified the airport that he was going to attempt a landing on the west side of a glacier.

Icelandic aircraft stationed in Greenland immediately started a search for the downed flier. Within 30 minutes Conrad was spotted walking from his downed craft to the edge of the ice floe.

The Danish plane dropped food and clothing to Conrad, fish vessel, the S.S. Aboc, arrived in the vicinity and plucked him from the ice.

Conrad had walked about two miles from the crash scene towards the open water to board the Aboc.

Aid Is Increased To South Viet Nam

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States is staking its hopes of saving Southeast Asia from the Communists on South Viet Nam's pledge to use stepped up American aid — possibly as much as $50 million worth — in a plan to clear the Red-infested Mekong Delta.

The White House announced the increase in economic and military aid to South Viet Nam Tuesday after President Johnson met with the National Security Council to hear a detailed report on the status of the long and bloody war against the Communist Viet Cong guerrillas.

The present rate of aid to South Viet Nam is $1.5 million a day.

The President and the council heard a report from Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, who returned last week from Saigon.

Admitting that there have "unquestionably been setbacks" in the war, the White House blamed two factors: increased shipments of arms and men to the Viet Cong, and the confusion created by the changes in government in South Viet Nam.

Fire Fighters Keep Vigil At Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Fire fighters kept a close vigil today on the remains of two giant brush fires that could whip into renewed fury if changeable wind conditions worsened.

The two fires in suburban foothill areas to the north and east of this sprawling city were officially declared contained Tuesday afternoon—but fire officials warned that a number of "hot spots" could spread with increasing winds.

A third brush fire in Weldon Canyon about 40 miles to the north in the vicinity of Newhall — continued to burn through the night with containment hoped for by early today.

Insured property damage in the contained Chevy Chase Canyon and Whiting Woods fires north of Glendale has been estimated at $2 million, plus another $1 million in damage to watershed. At least 24 homes were destroyed and another 200 damaged as flames charred more than 9,000 acres in two days.

More than 2,500 acres was involved in the third fire in the Newhall area.

There were other fires Tuesday in Riverside—65 miles to the east, in downtown Los Angeles and on the Palos Verdes Peninsula to the south. Temperatures climbed to the highest levels of the year. A maximum of 84 in downtown Los Angeles was the hottest for the date in 49 years.

The strong winds that fanned the destructive fires Monday also caused an estimated $2 million damage to some 11,000 homes and commercial buildings. Most of the wind-damaged buildings were concentrated in the Van Nuys - Glendale - Pasadena area, with others scattered from the San Fernando Valley to San Bernardino — mostly in the foothills.

Break-In Reported At Berne School

The county sheriff's department is investigating a break-in at the Berne school that occurred sometime Monday evening.

The incident was reported to the sheriff's department Tuesday afternoon by school officials. Someone had broken into the shop room of the school and stolen a box of .22 caliber shells, and then apparently used the shells to take a few "pot shots" at the south wall of the shop room. In addition to the loss of the shells, which were used by the rifle team, approximately $40 to $50 damage was done to the shop room and equipment.

to the variance cannot be transferred with sale of the business, or even given to someone else. Harper explained that the original petition, when the taxi company was located on Third street, was for off-street parking, not for a taxi company; when it was learned what the purpose of the request was, it was rejected, since authorizing the parking would not authorize use of the property as a taxi service location. The present application, under consideration, is for a proper variance; that is why it is different from the original request on Third street.

Also, members of the council made it known that stringent requirements for taxi companies is under consideration to protect the interests of the people of Decatur if it is necessary to change the existing law.
