We Want Justice

The reaction of area citizens the last few days to the complete lack of justice in our present traffic system has been overwhelming. We have received numerous letters and telephone calls, as well as personal congratulations, of those who want to see real justice.

All citizens realize that the police and courts have a difficult job. At some time or other, every citizen violates a law, and risks being arrested and tried. Going 70 miles an hour down a clear highway when in a great hurry is a good example. Or not braking to a full stop at a stop sign when there is obviously no traffic in sight.

But all good citizens realize that when they get caught, they must expect to be arrested and pay the penalty. And most citizens fully realize this.

What really hurts is that after good citizens pay their fines for minor infractions, some nut is allowed to go free when he breaks practically every rule in the book! This is what Mr. Average Citizen is really objecting to.

No one believes for a moment that every person caught driving 40 in 30 should get the full penalty of the law. But they do believe that maximum penalties should be given when the defendant obviously is not repentant, obviously was only baiting the police, and endangered lives and property in his offense.

If people can be believed at all, there is little question but that they will back up any judge in any court that really tries to temper law with justice. Let the burden be on the culprit — let him appeal if he wishes to the supreme court, and let him appeal again and again.

No local judge has ever been defeated because he took the reckless drivers and drunks off the road and streets. Plenty have been retired from public office who have never had a case reversed, but have also ignored justice to the citizens.

There will be no more immediate editorial comment on this situation until after presently pending cases are brought and tried. We have, in every respect, tried to keep editorial comment on the moral duty of the court. We do not mean to prejudice in any way the court, or any potential jury, concerning the guilt or innocence of any particular suspect.

But we do mean to call attention to our elected officials that the people of this community do ask law and order and justice, and then they mean to obtain it, even if they have to change the existing system of privilege, or even elect new officials.

Two Cars Damaged In Two Accidents

Only two of four autos involved in a pair of city accidents Tuesday were damaged.

At 3:35 p. m., it was reported to the city police that a truck operated by Jack Teeple, 58, route 1, Decatur, struck the rear of a car driven by Donna Nidlinger, 38, of route 2, Decatur.

According to the information given police in the reported mishap, both vehicles were west-bound on Dayton street and the Nidlinger auto was struck in the rear as the lady was slowing to turn. Damages were estimated at $150 to the car, while Teeple's truck was not damaged.

In an 11:05 p. m. mishap, an auto operated by Frank B. Eguia, 16, of 803 Schirmeyer St., backed into a parked car owned by Edward D. Rossman, route 1, Decatur.

The Eguia car was parked on the north side of Court street, and the driver backed it into the left rear bumper of the Rossman auto, which was parked on the south side of the street. Eguia's car was the only one damaged, an estimated $150.

Vehicles Collide In Monroe Last Night

A local lady was taken to the Adams county hospital for examination, following a two-vehicle mishap at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in Monroe.

Lavange Ann Kistler, 81, route 6, Decatur, was later released from the hospital, where she was taken after her auto struck a truck operated by Wallace Daniels, 30-year-old Hoagland resident, at the intersection of state road 124 and Jackson street in Monroe.

Daniels had pulled from the left side of the road and onto the state road and his truck was struck by the eastbound Kistler car. The auto traveled some 150 feet after the impact and through the lawn at the Otto Longenberger residence, just missing the Longenberger home.

State trooper Gene Rash and deputy sheriff Warren Kneuss investigated, and estimated damages at $300 to the Daniels truck and $80 to the car.

Deaf Man

Perfects Tiny

Hearing Aid

A remarkable tiny hearing aid has been perfected by a man who has been hard of hearing for nearly ten years.

This small device has no dangling cords or separate transmitting units and represents a new unusual design idea in a product to restore natural hearing.

It was developed especially for those persons who can hear but can't understand. This new hearing instrument provides "ear-level" hearing with the wearer picking up speech, sounds, television and radio at his ear.

Due to the use of transistors, the user cost is extremely low. The instrument weighs only 1/4 oz. It is about the size of a sewing thimble — hardly noticeable yet powerful.
