Food-for-Peace Is Extended Two Years

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI)—President Johnson extended the food-for-peace program for another two years Thursday but said he was disturbed by provisions to control program finances.

The government permits sale of government-owned surplus farm products for foreign currencies.

Johnson, in a statement issued while campaigning here, said he was "very happy" to sign a bill that extends the program as a vital part of U.S. foreign policy. However, "two provisions are particularly undesirable," he said.

"One seeks to give either the House Committee on Agriculture or the Senate Committee on Agriculture and Forestry a veto power over certain proposed dispositions of foreign currencies accruing from sales," Johnson said.

"The other seeks to prevent the President from making certain loans at interest rates below a specified level unless he has the concurrence of an advisory committee," Johnson said.

"Both such provisions represent a clear violation of the constitutional principle of separation of powers," the President said.

"However, I appreciate the desire of the Congress to be informed and to be consulted on the operations of all aspects of the program and I am directing that executive appointees see that this is done."

Dr. Roland P. Wiederaenders

Mission Festival At Zion Lutheran

Dr. Roland P. Wiederaenders of St. Louis, first vice president of the Lutheran church, Missouri synod, will be the guest speaker at the annual mission festival to be held Sunday at Zion Lutheran church in Decatur, according to an announcement made today by its pastor, the Rev. Richard C. Ludwig.

Dr. Wiederaenders will preach at both the 8 and 10:30 services and will also briefly address the Sunday school and Bible classes. His sermon topic will be "The Marching Order of the Master."

The speaker, who became first vice president of synod in 1962 after having previously served as second vice president, has held numerous offices both in synod and in the Texas district. A native of Texas, he graduated from Concordia Theological Seminary in 1936.

"The local congregation should consider itself fortunate to have such an important official of synod as its mission speaker," Rev. Ludwig commented. "He is thoroughly familiar with the church's mission program throughout the world and its fair forward emphasis."

The congregation's quarterly voters' assembly meeting will be held Sunday at 1:30 p.m. The 1965 budget will be considered.

Defends Johnson Security Risks

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI)—Sen. Vance Hartke today vigorously defended President Johnson's security risks at public gatherings.

Hartke admitted "there was a certain amount of risk and danger" when Johnson ignored the advice of his own Secret Service agents and police in mingling with the crowds in Indianapolis Thursday.

But the senator maintained that a speaker would be more vulnerable while speaking from a podium than while handshaking hundreds of persons in an impromptu manner.

"You can't separate the government from the people," Hartke declared. "The people want to see and be close to the President. They want to shake hands with him. It is a part of democracy. You can't put the President in a little cell."

Hartke said Johnson's Indianapolis reception "exceeded my fondest hopes."

He listed prosperity and fear that Sen. Barry M. Goldwater, GOP presidential nominee, might drop the atomic bomb hastily and that he might tamper with social security as leading assets of President Johnson's Hoover campaign.

Another Whistle Stop Hartke announced he will stage a whistle-stop train campaign Oct. 28, beginning at New Albany and ending at Hammond. There will be 18 stops in 14 counties.

The senator will speak briefly at New Albany, Salem, Orleans, Mitchell, Bedford, Bloomington, Cloverdale, Greencastle, Roachdale, Crawfordsville, Linden, Lafayette, Chalmers, Monon, Rensselaer, Lowell, Dyer, and Hammond.

Mrs. Hartke already has spoken in all 92 counties and today accompanied her husband on visits to Indianapolis homes.

On Saturday, Hartke will stage an extensive tour of Lake County, and on Sunday will undertake a boat trip on the Ohio River from Utica to Jeffersonville to inspect lock and dam works on that stream which, he said, carries more traffic than the St. Lawrence Seaway.

Also on Sunday, the senator and his wife will shift to a helicopter and visit Scottsburg, Bedford, Logansport, Petersburg, Huntington and Rockport.

Hartke on Monday will return to Washington to receive the 10th anniversary commemorative medal of the Assembly of Captive European Nations.

The standard deduction is taken by those taxpayers who do not itemize their deductions. Under the old law, the minimum standard deduction was 10 per cent for all taxpayers. The 1964 law set a $200 "floor" on this for lower income groups, giving them a slightly higher percentage.

For instance, under the previous law, a person earning $1,500 a year would have received the standard 10 per cent, or $150. Now, this person receives the standard 10 per cent, or $150. Now, this person receives the minimum $200 standard deduction plus $100 for each exemption. This credit for each exemption is in addition to the $600 he receives for each dependent in the other section of his form.

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (UPI) — Members of Local 903 of the Allied Industrial Workers will vote Sunday on the question of a strike at the local plant of the Dana Corp.
