Conviction Of Seven Freedom Riders Backed

WASHINGTON (UPI)—An Alabama prosecutor told the Supreme Court today that a bi-racial group deliberately "invited trouble" by taking seats at a traditionally all white lunch counter in a Montgomery bus terminal.

Assistant State Atty. Gen. Leslie Hall defended convictions of the seven "freedom riders" and four top aides of the Rev. Martin Luther King on grounds that their action was designed to touch off a breach of the peace.

Hall said a "hue and cry" rose from a hostile crowd of whites who were gathered at the terminal where the arrests occurred. Police officers were "fearful that a riot might take place," he said.

This was enough, he said, to charge the group with disturbing the peace and unlawful assembly.

"Under the existing circumstances, they invited trouble," Hall said. "They invited what could have turned into a serious riot... their deliberate agitation, in my opinion, makes them guilty."

The high court also begins hearing arguments on an appeal of the conviction and six-month sentence given Mississippi Negro leader Aaron Henry on a morals charge. He is Mississippi state president of the National Association of Advancement of Colored People (NAACP).

Louis, H. Pollak, attorney for the Alabama defendants, opened his presentation Monday. He told of how they were arrested after being accompanied to the terminal by National Guard troops.

Justice Potter Stewart asked if, under the circumstances, they had an "implied duty to conform with the request of the military." Pollak said they were arrested without being asked to leave the lunch counter. Justice Arthur Goldberg commented that, had there been such a request, "this would have been a different case."

Pollak told the court his case was "sufficient" without claiming an immunity from prosecution under the 1964 civil rights law.

Polls Show Johnson Leading In Indiana

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI)—A private poll taken by a professional firm for the Democratic organization shows President Johnson leading Sen. Barry Goldwater in Indiana, it was learned today.

The poll's results were supposed to be private and unpublished, but numerous copies were reported to be circulating and newsmen learned of the contents.

Johnson had 51 per cent and Goldwater 36 per cent, with 13 per cent undecided.

Sen. Vance Hartke, seeking reelection, had 44 per cent to 34 per cent for his Republican opponent, State Sen. D. Russell Bontrager, with 22 per cent undecided, the poll showed.

Democrat Roger D. Branigin led Lt. Gov. Richard Ristine for governor, 38 to 37 per cent, with 25 per cent undecided.

The poll also showed Democratic incumbent congressmen leading in the 1st, 3rd, 5th and 8th Districts and Republican incumbents leading in the 2nd, 4th, 6th, 7th, and 10th.

In the 9th, Rep. Earl Wilson, a Republican, and Lee Hamilton of Columbus, a Democrat, were 50-50, and Republican Don Tabbert was ahead of Andrew Jacobs, Jr., Democrat, 52 to 48 per cent, in the 11th District where the incumbent did not seek reelection.

COINS FOR DOWN UNDER—No more pounds, shillings and pence for Australia. In 1966, the country changes to the dollar-and-cents decimal system. The new coins portray unusual Australian wildlife on the back, an image of Queen Elizabeth on the front. The 50-cent piece, shown above, contains the Australian coat-of-arms, complete with kangaroo. Other coins show lizards, anteaters, lyre birds and platypuses.
