

Right - Wing Extremism

A small but vocal group of well-meaning but sorely misguided people in Adams county have launched a scurrilous campaign of vilification and silly charges that mark them as a cell of the John Birch society, or worse.

These people are right-wing extremists, whose beliefs have become so over-powering in their own minds as to lead them to believe that they are right, all else is wrong, and that any means by which they can get power to their group is justified.

Conservatives in politics have been called "rightists" for a long time. Liberals long have been called "leftists." There is a proper place for both in any country which runs an orderly government.

A "liberal" believes if a new approach seems to serve the needs of the people, within Constitutional limits, it should be authorized by law, and tried out. A "conservative" believes in preserving the old ways, and in trying new approaches very slowly, if at all.

Normally, the difference between "left" and "right" is only a matter of degree. Most Americans are just a little to the left or right of center, or what we presently have in government.

But trouble and confusion have developed in recent years because some people have gone to the extremes of the left and right.

Both extremes would make drastic, revolutionary changes in our government. The Communists, extremists of the left, would totally eliminate private ownership, and would put the government completely under the Communist party through a "dictatorship of the proletariat." Many people argue that they are not correctly called leftists because they take all representation away from the people, and turn it over to a small clique of party leaders.

In the past few years, the extreme rightists have been more noisy and conspicuous in our country than the radicals of the left. Here in Adams county there has never been a serious problem with leftists, because there has never been more than a very small handful, and those were vocal and unorganized.

But there have been a few groups of the radical right, like the Ku Klux Klan, etc. These people are not sincerely conservative. Their organizations are not public, with open membership. They are secret, like a Communist cell, with secret purposes that are quite contrary to the Constitution of the United States.

They SAY they want to support the Constitution. In fact, they want to destroy it with amendments that would completely change our government.

They raise the shield of patriotism, and then slander and abuse our officials of government of both parties. They wave the banner of "Americanism", but in fact want to destroy our most cherished institutions. They use the word "Christian" in many of their organizations, but they behave in a most unChristian way by showing neither love, charity nor brotherhood toward those with whom they disagree, nor faith in their fellow man.

Right-wing extremists appear both unable and unwilling to analyze the changes which are taking place in the world. They choose to see everything as an evil conspiracy, and this directs their energies to search for, and "expose", conspirators. Most are simply those who have fears, and do not understand. Some are dangerous paranoids. All are frankly dangerous to those sincere conservatives who honestly hold to conservative beliefs, and do not want our nation destroyed by fanatics who would take the vote away from the people and put power in the hands of madmen.

County Farm Bureau To Meet Thursday

The annual Adams county Farm Bureau meeting will be held at 7:30 Thursday evening at the Adams Central school cafeteria.

Marion Stackhouse, Indiana Farm Bureau director commodity committees, will be the featured speaker of the evening. Officers for 1965 will be elected and a vote on reorganization will be taken.

Farm Bureau members have been urged to attend and take active part in the evening's program. The following slate of candidates for office has been drawn up, but members will be given the opportunity to make nominations from the floor. It is desired that there be not less than two candidates for each office.

Candidates Slate

The candidates are:
County chairman — Lester Adler, R. L. Fields.
Vice-chairman — Homer Winteregg.
F. B. W. Leader — Mrs. Orval Neuenchwander.
Ass't F. B. W. Leader — Mrs. Ervin Fuelleing, Mrs. Henry Heiman.
Secretary-Treasurer — Carlton C. Steiner.
Pot & hobby leader — Mrs. Paul Brehm.
Ass't P & H leader — Miss Icel Shanks.

Ballot Questions

The four reorganization questions which will appear on the ballot are:

1. Do you favor a four-unit county organization of three townships each, east to west, with a chairman, F. B. W. leader and secretary-treasurer, one officer from each township, who in turn will appoint a director from each township, the directors and county officers to comprise the county board of directors?
2. Do you favor a four-unit county organization of three townships each, east to west, with a chairman, F. B. W. leader and secretary-treasurer, these officers from each township, these officers with the county officers to comprise the county board of directors?
3. Do you favor a three-unit county organization, following school boundary lines, with a chairman, F. B. W. leader and secretary-treasurer, these officers from each township, these officers with the county officers to comprise the county board of directors?
4. Do you favor the present township unit plan, with township reorganization effort made where necessary?

Results of the election will be given at the meeting. Refreshments will be served after adjournment.

Sign Presented To Hospital

The ladies association of the Adams county medical society has presented to the hospital a large metal sign identifying the Adams county memorial hospital along Mercer avenue.

Gilpin Ornamental Iron built and installed the sign, which can be read by those approaching the hospital from either direction on Mercer avenue. The hospital, which is well-known locally, has been hard for out-of-towners to identify because the lettering on the front is hard to read from the highway.

Firemen Make Run To Franz Home

Local firemen were called to the home of Herman Franz, Jr., route 5, Decatur, Saturday afternoon when a tractor caught fire. The fire department was notified at 3:10 p.m. Saturday, and returned from the scene at 4 o'clock. Damage to the tractor was considered slight.
