ROBBED BY FOUR MEN.

Stock Dealer's Pocket Picked of $420 In Broad Daylight.

"CROOKS" FROM THE EAST.

After Stumbling Against the Victim, One of the Robbers Apologized While a Confederate Went Through Him—Suicide of a Wealthy Business Man—Wild Man at Crown Point—State Notes.

INDIANAPOLIS, March 18.—James Boatwright, a stock dealer, living 10 miles south of the city, in Decatur township, was robbed of a pocketbook containing $420 Saturday, inside the storm door of the New York store. Boatwright had made some purchases and was coming out. His pocketbook was in his trousers pocket. As he came out of the store he noticed four well dressed men around him. One made as if to open the door for him, another one stumbled against him by accident, a third got his feet entangled with those of the victim. The fourth opened the door and walked away. One of the men apologized to Boatwright for his rudeness, he held the door open and Boatwright passed out. Then he found that his pocket was turned inside out and his money was gone. It was at once reported to the police. From the description given by Mr. Boatwright it is believed that the robbers are "crooks" from the east.

WAS IT SUICIDE?

Mysterious Death of a Young Girl Who Dies in Agony.

VEEDERSBURG, Ind., March 18.—The village of Hillsboro is much disturbed over the mysterious death of Miss Ora Shade, the pretty 16-year-old daughter of highly respectable parents, which occurred Friday. Miss Shade had gone to the home of her brother-in-law, Mr. Tatian Harland, to spend the night, and at 12 o'clock Mr. Harland was awakened by a mysterious noise which came from her room. He found the young lady in convulsions. A physician was called, who administered an opiate, and succeeded in giving temporary relief. Then the convulsions returned, during which the girl suffered horrible agony until she was relieved by death some hours later. Coroner Young held an inquest, the testimony showing that the deceased retired in the best of spirits, and it was the general impression that her death was caused by poison it was not self-administered with suicidal intent.

SUPPOSED WILD MAN.

Frightening the Female Residents of Crown Point.

CROWN POINT, Ind., March 18.—A supposed wild man has been holding forth in a deserted cemetery in the west part of this city for the past 10 nights, and some of the residents in that quarter, particularly the women, have been much frightened by his actions. Whenever any one goes near him, he leaps the fences and runs away. Several times a posse has been organized for his capture, but he has invariably eluded his pursuers. He has been seen on several occasions by different persons, and he is described as a tall, spare-made man, who runs with the fleetness of a deer.

He leaves several children, all of whom are grown. Mr. Over's wealth is estimated at $20,000, and the cause of his rash act is a mystery.

CONVICT'S SWEETHEART.

She Marries Another and He Will Seek Revenge.

JOLIET, Ills., March 18.—Wednesday Dyer Scanlan, a convict in the penitentiary here, will finish a 10-years' sentence, and he threatens to kill Frank Mead of Chicago, who robbed him of his old sweetheart.

In 1888 Miss Minnie Crosby of Grand Rapids, Mich., came to Chicago. Her mission was to work among the unfortunate and raise them to a better life. She met Dyer Scanlan and Frank Mead. Both were hardened characters, the former said to be the most desperate criminal Chicago ever produced.

In May, 1888, Scanlan was sentenced to the penitentiary for 10 years for a conflict with the police. While in jail awaiting trial he was frequently visited by Miss Crosby, and soon an attachment grew up between the two. When Scanlan came down to the penitentiary he had Minnie's promise to remain true to him and become his bride on the day of his release. She was evidently endeavoring to keep this pledge, for the most endearing letters have passed between the two as often as the rights of the prisoner would permit. But about two months ago the letters ceased, and since it has been learned that Miss Crosby became the wife of Frank Mead.

OAKLAND SEA FRONT.

Supreme Court Will Soon Render Its Opinion in the Famous Suit.

INVOLVES ABOUT 8,000 ACRES

The Land With Improvements Is Worth Several Million Dollars—Railroad Company Maintains the Validity of the Title—What Senator Stewart Has to Say in Regard to the Suit.

WASHINGTON, March 18.—There are reasons for believing that the supreme court will soon render its opinion in the Oakland (Cal.) waterfront cases. The title of this suit is the state of California vs. the Southern Pacific Railroad company, and the title indicates the two principal parties to the contest, though the city of Oakland has also been permitted to appear in it for the protection of its interests.

The case involves the title of about 8,000 acres of land supposed with its improvements to be worth several million dollars, and its adjudication will involve several nice points of law, among which will be the right of a state to dispose of its domain, except for public uses, and for a city to sell property acquired from a state or trust, and also possibly some construction of the terms of the original grant of the land embraced in the state of California to the United States by Mexico.

To Decide the Title Void.

When the town of Oakland was incorporated the entire waterfront was granted to the town and it was afterward sold or leased (it is a question of dispute which) to one Horace W. Carpenter on condition that he build wharves, and this he did, afterward selling the water front to the Southern Pacific Railroad company, which now occupies the land and, it is represented by the state, refuses to allow its use to any one else. The effort on the part of the state and the city is to have this title declared void.

The railroad company, who appears for the company, says it was entirely satisfactory to the people of Oakland at the time and remained so until the wave of sandlot politics swept over the state and filled the offices of the municipality with persons willing to take all that other people had and surrender nothing which they themselves had.

Italian Government Satisfied.

WASHINGTON, March 18.—Expressions of satisfaction having been made by the Italian government at the steps taken by the Colorado authorities for the apprehension of the murderers of the Italians at Watsenburg, the diplomatic incident occasioned thereby is regarded here as closed for the present at least.

"BARRETT - SCOTT BILL"

Expense of the Famous Case Will Work Hardship on Boyd Work.

BUTTE, Neb., March 18.—Attorney General Churchill, in an interview with W. F. Wills, county attorney, who has just returned from Lincoln, states that in case the legislature had succeeded in passing the "Barrett-Scott bill" allowing the state to take a change of venue, he would not have asked it. Wills is authority for the statement that the attorney general had arrived at the conclusion that when the cases were called against the alleged lynchers he would move to dismiss the action and then institute new proceedings in Boyd county.

The theory of the prosecution is that since the body was found on the Boyd side of the river, the supposition is that the crime was committed in Boyd county, and if the defense wants a trial in Holt county, they will have to show that the murder was actually committed in that county. The case, if brought to Boyd county, will work a great hardship to its citizens, as the expenses of the trial will have to be borne by this county, which it is just now utterly unable to do.

VANDALIA WRECK LOSSES.

School Building Destroyed by Fire In Cass County.—Saloonkeepers Who Are Satisfied With the Nicholson Law—Firemen Injured While Making a Run at Goshen—Other State News.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., March 18.—As indicated in former dispatches no one was dangerously hurt in the wreck on the Vandalia east of here. The train was delayed about four hours. The passengers were all brought here and were in a general disheveled condition, and that no one was killed or seriously injured was considered miraculous.

The Adams express company will lose heavily by the burning of its express car. Dispatches from New York state that President L. C. Weir of the company thinks the loss will reach $100,000.

The case involves the title of about 8,000 acres of land supposed with its improvements to be worth several million dollars, and its adjudication will involve several nice points of law, among which will be the right of a state to dispose of its domain, except for public uses, and for a city to sell property acquired from a state or trust, and also possibly some construction of the terms of the original grant of the land embraced in the state of California to the United States by Mexico.

Adams express officials at St. Louis say the money contained in the safes that were burned in the Vandalia wreck at Terre Haute will not exceed $25,000.

FELL HEIR TO $40,000.

WABASH, Ind., March 18.—The members of the Unger family, living in the southern part of this county, have received notice that through the death of a distant relative near Reading, Pa., they will receive an estate of $40,000.

The property, which is in real estate in the vicinity of Reading, was inherited with a life estate, and the death of the person who held this life interest permits the division of the fee. Each of the heirs living, and the children of the two heirs dead, will receive $4,000 as soon as the property can be disposed of.

Saloonkeepers Satisfied.

WABASH, Ind., March 18.—The saloonkeepers of this city are generally satisfied with the Nicholson liquor law, and are prepared to obey its provisions. They claim that they will be able to make just as much money under the new statute as before. They are, however, loud in their demand that quart houses be made to pay a city tax, alleging that these places sell more whisky than the saloons, and yet only pay a government license of $25.

School Building Burned.

LOGANSPORE, Ind., March 18.—The school building at Thorntown has been destroyed by fire. The loss is a severe one. All of the 20 pupils were marched out in safety, the greatest excitement of the occasion being created by the absence of a little girl, who was playing "hooky" and who had gone away on a visit. She was supposed to have been burned to death, until she unexpectedly returned.

Firemen Injured.

GOSHEN, Ind., March 18.—While the No. 3 hose cart was answering a fire alarm, with Fire Chief Snobarger occupying the seat with driver John Williams, in making a short turn the wheels caught in the street railway track and the reel was overturned.
