

CHICAGO SILVER TALK.

Mr. Harvey and Mr. Horr Make a Few Financial Remarks.

COST OF SILVER AND GOLD.

Statement Made by Mr. Harvey That It Cost More to Mine a Pound of Silver Than a Pound of Gold—Which Mr. Horr Says Is Not True and Cannot Be Proven.

CHICAGO, July 26.—"Go it, husband! Go it, bear!" seemed to be the motto in the Illinois club yesterday. The audience at the Horr-Harvey controversy appeared to be rapidly developing the feeling of the western matron whose fighting enthusiasm on an exciting occasion overcame her other emotions. The husband and the grizzly bear could hardly have attempted more thoroughly to rip each other up the back and elsewhere than did Messrs. Horr and Harvey.

Mr. Horr, after calling attention to some discrepancies in Mr. Harvey's figures, said that up to the present Mr. Harvey had not said a single word in proof of the actual subject of dispute.

He had argued at length that the act of 1873 was conceived in sin and brought forth in corruption, but he had not brought any proof of it and could not say it did exist. History showed that a variation of a fraction of 1 per cent between the commercial and legal ratio between gold and silver always drove the dearer metal out of the market.

Now with a difference of 50 per cent what evidence was there that a convention of the civilized nations—England excepted—could bring them to a parity? much less, how could the United States alone do it?

Between 1853 and 1873.

Mr. Harvey, referring back to the silver coinage between 1853 and 1873, said that the premium on silver was a premium at London and that transportation charges would more than make that up; so the bullion owners in this country would take it to the mints for coinage.

Taking into consideration bank credits and checks, and the amount of money in circulation, the normal amount of money necessary for the transaction of the business of the country, continued Mr. Harvey, was $4,800,000,000. Of this one-third only was in money and the rest was borrowed. The inference was plain: The normal amount of money which we should have was $4,800,000,000. As matters now stand, he said that the banks were loaning and getting interest on two dollars for every dollar in circulation.

Mr. Horr said that the question whether the banks were a curse to the country would be discussed in its proper place. Returning to his discussion, Mr. Horr said that statistics showed that 120 manufactured articles had depreciated in value since 1879 an average of 7 per cent, while silver had depreciated 50 per cent. Taking up the statement of Mr. Harvey's book that it cost $2 per ounce to produce the silver in the United States, Mr. Horr characterized it as nonsense. He produced statistics of different mines collected by M. L. Seudder, showing that one mine had produced silver at 13 cents per ounce and another at 24 cents. The silver miners would not have continued to mine silver at a cost of $2 per ounce when the product was worth only 60 cents.

Cost More to Mine Silver Than Gold.
Mr. Harvey, in turn, said that what Mr. Horr had said about the cost of producing silver, he could have said with much more force with regard to gold. Silver was only produced from quartz; most of the gold was produced from placer mines. It cost less, dollar for dollar, to produce gold than silver. He read from a book by Alexander Del Mar, an opinion that, pound for pound, it cost more to produce silver than gold. Why did men continue to mine silver at a loss? Why did men gamble on the board of trade, where a large majority lost? It was the gambling instinct implanted in the human breast. Much of the silver produced was produced in conjunction with gold mining, and a large proportion of the silver production was the result of attempts to develop mines which proved failures in the end, and the losers were disposing of their output to try to save something from the wreck. There were, he declared, only three or four silver mines in operation in the country and they were having a precarious existence. Mr. Harvey then denounced Mr. Seudder as the tool of the banking interests, sent out to the silver country to defame his nation.

Mr. Horr declared that the statement that it cost more to produce a pound of silver than a pound of gold was not true and had not been true for a great many thousand years. It was true, he said, as measured by human toil, but silver had depreciated much faster than gold.

Mr. Harvey took up the subject and proceeded to argue that advances in the price of grain under a gold basis in the quoted lead resulted either from short crops, or in the increased demand brought about by finding new uses for it.

As to Banks.

Mr. Harvey said the banks should go out of the government business instead of the government going out of the banking business. Let the banks be banks of deposit and discount, and not makers of money. They are making it now with bank credit and you are paying them interest for it.

Mr. Horr showed that the United States is increasing in wealth, to which Mr. Harvey assented, but in reply said that the United States has not only been a workshop in producing wealth, but it has been a sweatshop; it has been producing wealth, but have the men who produced that wealth, get wealth?

The answering of questions occupied much of the remainder of the day, the debate finally being adjourned at Mr. Horr's request until Saturday.

HEART DISEASE!

Fluttering, No Appetite, Could Not Sleep, Wind on Stomach.

"For a long time I had a terrible pain at my heart, which fluttered almost incessantly. I had no appetite and could not sleep. I would be compelled to sit up in bed and belch gas from my stomach until I thought that every minute would be my last. There was a feeling of oppression about my heart, and I was afraid to draw a full breath. I could not sweep a room without resting. My husband induced me to try

SONG BIRDS.

Something About the Feathered Warblers of Different Countries.

India has the jocose bulbuls, often called nightingales from their remarkably sweet voices. The Hindoos train them to sit on their hands and be carried about the bazaars. The black faced thrush is a very fine songster and can imitate almost everything he hears.

The white eyed or spectacled laughing thrush has a loud, powerful song and some melodious notes. He is sometimes called the greater Peking nightingale or Japanese mocking bird.

The Japanese robin is a pretty bird to look at, and very lively in his motions, but is overrated as a singer, his notes resembling our Baltimore oriole's, only shriller, with little variation.

Australia has the piping crow, which is more of a shrike than a true crow. His song is rich and varied, the notes resembling a flute. He can be taught to speak and imitate many birds as well.

From Africa are shipped large numbers of little birds to this country called African singing finches. The plumage is handsome and often very odd. They lack voice, only one, the strawberry finch, having a song of any power. They are cunning, however, and pretty to have in an aviary. A gentleman in New York has an aviary cage containing some 35 varieties of small birds, and among them many African finches. As one of the canaries sings a small finch will fly to his side, and placing his head against the singer's breast listen closely until the canary drives him away.

A weaver bird with a thick red bill, in this same happy family, will take all the threads given him and weave a close network down the side of the cage and on the perches. His owner says that if he would give him enough material the bird would weave until he shut out the daylight.—Philadelphia Times.

HOW TO REMEMBER.

Advice to Those Wishing to Commit Songs to Memory.

"I wish you would teach me how to commit to memory the songs I want to sing," said an amateur musician to a friend. "I have never been able to commit my music to memory—at least have never done so—and I think it would be of use to me if I could."

"The process is not a difficult one," was the reply. "I have always found it easy to remember songs and poems by a certain rule or method that I adopted a long time ago. Take any popular song, 'The Last Rose of Summer,' for example. It is a good plan to read it over and get the sentiment of the verse, which comprehends the idea of loneliness, the fading away of beautiful things and the lack of sympathy in sadness. The rose is blooming alone. Its companions are faded and gone. No flower or kindred is nigh to share its pleasures or answer to its sighs. This is the groundwork—the skeleton, so to speak—of the verse. Impress this firmly on the mind and familiarize the thought with the sentiment. Imagine the garden with the one rose and faded leaves all around. Once this is fixed in the memory it is comparatively easy to fill in the remainder of the words. This is one of the simplest and surest way of committing the words of a song to memory."

"With most people memorizing the air of the song is much easier, and this is done by beginning again and again, referring to the music whenever there is any question. It is important to learn an air correctly at first, for when a mistake is made the outset one is almost certain to blunder at the same place over afterward."—New York Ledger.

TROUBLE WITH INDIANS

Excitement In Wyoming Over the Threatened Uprising.

WHITES REPORTED KILLED.

Unconfirmed Report of the Slaughter of Fifty-Nine Settlers—Several Carloads of Cavalry on Their Way to the Scene of the Trouble—General Schofield Returns to Washington.

POCATELLO, Ida., July 26.—It is reported from Market Lake that 59 white people were killed by the Bannocks near Jackson's Hole, but there is no way to confirm the report and it is not believed here. A courier is expected from the vicinity of Jackson's Hole with the latest news. There has been no news at Market Lake for three days of an authentic nature.

Forty-four carloads of United States cavalry left Cheyenne last night for Market Lake with provisions, horses, tents, etc. They will reach Pocatello this afternoon. The troop will be immediately piloted to the Wind river, and it is not likely that any trouble will occur after their arrival. It is feared the Indians will take advantage of the small number of settlers and commit wholesale murder before the troops can interfere.

Four hundred Indians are said to have joined the Bannocks on Fall River and are preparing to make an onslaught on the whites.

It is probable that Governor McConnel will be called to aid in suppressing violence.

Several parties of tourists are in Pocatello awaiting the results before making their departure for Yellowstone park.

Indians Gathering.

CHEYENNE, July 26.—Governor Richards has received a dispatch from the operator at Beaver Canon that about 200 Lemhi bucks passed that point yesterday headed toward the Yellowstone park.

A. A. Steede reports a bunch of Bannocks numbering over 100 camped on the east slope of the divide between Ham's Fork and Cokeville.

It is reported that a bunch of Utes crossed the railroad near Leroy station four or five days ago headed to the north west.

Ackaded to Act on the Defensive.

CHEYENNE, July 26.—The news that government troops have been ordered to the front was received with universal satisfaction. Governor Richards at once wired General Stitzer at Market Lake and instructed him to notify the settlers of Jackson's Hole that troops were on the way to protect their lives and property and return the Indians to their reservations. Also to advise them to act only on the defensive and not to precipitate an attack.

Reassuring Report From Cheyenne.

CHEYENNE, July 26.—Governor Richards has been advised by Adjutant General Stitzer, who is at Market Lake, that there are no new developments in the Indian situation at Jackson's Hole. General Coppering has requested Major Reynolds of the Eighth Infantry at Ft. Russell to accompany him on the expedition. Fifty-three pack mules and six packers will join the Fort Robinson troops.

News From Market Lake, Ida.

MARSHALL, Ida., July 26.—The Indians are camped in Hoback canyon. It is the belief here that the passes to the hole are guarded by the Indians and that no one has come out from Jackson's Hole for several days. Many Indians have been going in the direction of the trouble, but they will not talk.

Returned to Washington.

CHICAGO, July 26.—Lieutenant General Schofield returned to Washington last night. He had intended to make an inspection of the department of the Missouri preliminary to making out his annual report, but the Indian outbreak caused him to change his plans and he returns to Washington in order to direct whatever movements may be required.

Olive Branch Held Out.

NEGAUNEE, Mich., July 26.—It has been learned here that the mine superintendents interested held a meeting at Ishpeming yesterday afternoon and decided to submit to the miners to work at an advance in wages, but not at the price demanded by the strikers.

Investigating the San Francisco Mint.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 26.—H. W. Vansenden, private secretary
