Wonderful Recovery of Health.

Mr. Baird's rapid and marvelous recovery from a mere skeleton to his normal weight, 270 pounds, was surely the fullest test of the grandest strength-giving and building-up medicine ever produced, namely:

Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine.

J. H. BAIRD.

"Gentlemen—I wish to express to you my gratitude for the great good that Dr. Miles' Nervine has done for me. I was taken sick with typhoid fever and I laid in bed for seven months. After getting over it, I never had a fever, and I never, and did not regain my lost strength. I tried several proprietary medicines, and finally, after having been reduced in weight to 130 pounds, I began trying your Nervine, and at once began to improve. I am finally well cured. In all my life, I never felt better. This is my normal weight, as I measure 6 feet 5 1/2 inches in height."

HANNIGAN NOT GUILTY

Acquitted of the Charge of Killing His Sister's Betrayer.

CASE HAS A TRAGIC ENDING

Father of the Accused Expires Shortly Before the Verdict Is Read In Court. Could Not Stand His Daughter's Disgrace and the Strain of His Son's Trial.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Almost at the minute that the foreman of the jury declared that David F. Hannigan, who shot Solomon H. Mann, the seducer of his sister, was not guilty of the murder, William Hannigan, the aged father of the prisoner, closed his eyes in death.

This was the tragic ending of the troubles of the Hannigan family which seem to have multiplied since the death of Loretta Hannigan last summer from the result of a criminal operation which Mann procured.

During the past few days of the long drawn out trial, old William Hannigan, worn by his daughter's disgrace and the strain of waiting for the decision of his son's fate, has been gradually sinking, several days ago the last sacrament being administered to him, and last night he died before the news of his son's acquittal could reach the family. The closing plea of the prosecution and the charge of Judge Ingraham to the jury occupied the day and it was 5 o'clock when the jury retired.

It was 11 o'clock when the jury announced its readiness to return to the court room and half an hour before the members of the Hannigan family had been called from court, where they were anxiously waiting, by the news that the head of the family was dying. When the judge asked the foreman whether the jury had agreed upon a verdict, he said: "We find the defendant not guilty upon the ground of insanity."

Attorney Brooke then asked for Hannigan's release, but the judge said: "I would almost be guilty of manslaughter if I should discharge him, I think it best for himself and his family that he should be taken care of properly somewhere until he recovers from the excitement incident to the trial and what may follow."

Shortly after Justice Ingraham said that Hannigan could be taken in the custody of the sheriff to see his father and then be brought back again to the Tombs.

When the prisoner left the court he was cheered by a large crowd. It was 11:45 when he reached home and found his mother beside his father's body. The verdict had been announced at 11:10, and at 11:15 the elder Hannigan had died.

SYMPATHY FOR CUBA.

Governor Matthews of Indiana Delivered an Address in Philadelphia.

CONSIDERABLE INTEREST.

Expressions In Favor of the Recognition of Belligerent Rights—Meeting Held in the Academy of Music—Aid and Encouragement Mean Salvation to the Cubans.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 22.—Governor Matthews of Indiana last night delivered before a large meeting of Cuban sympathizers his anxiously awaited expression on the subject of sympathy for Cubans. Considerable interest had been aroused by reason of the incidents which prevented its delivery a month ago in Atlanta, and his very decided expression in favor of the recognition of belligerent rights had the hearty support of his hearers. The meeting was held in the Academy of Music, under the auspices of the Philadelphia Antietam Brigade association.

After stating thanks for the opportunity and reviewing familiar history in connection with despotism which has prevailed and the struggles for liberty, the speaker said:

There often comes a time in the lives of nations, as well as of men, when it becomes necessary to walk in new, untried, unbroken paths; to brush aside the cobwebs of tradition which but obscure the view; to grasp great living thoughts and meet the problems of a growing, progressive age in short, to find a way or make it. France found a way to aid our struggling fathers in their midnight gloom, with scarce one star of hope to rift the overhanging cloud. Besides, we can not ignore the fact that there are moral duties resting upon nations which oftentimes rise superior to fine-spun technicalities and the cold logic of law, and that these moral obligations rest more imperatively upon some nations than upon others. Indifference and inaction may discourage, may even delay, the coming of the inevitable, but they are powerless to prevent it. There is presented to us a question which we cannot well escape—a cry coming across the waters for sympathy and for aid to which we cannot much longer close our ears or hearts.

This appeal comes direct to us as the chosen people who have passed through the red sea of oppression and the wilderness of despair, on and out into the goodly land of freedom which we have occupied, and in which we have waxed great and strong through the priceless heritage of independence won. There are appeals for help at times when it becomes almost a crime not to stretch out the hand with needed aid—when aid and encouragement mean salvation, life, peace and happiness, and their refusal is sorrow, suffering, degradation and death.

Let not my words be construed into reflection or
