Neway Minor Notes.

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 31.—Governor Mount, in speaking last evening of the recent whitecap outrages in Brown and Monroe counties, said: "The law on the subject is ample. As has been stated, I have called the attention of the prosecuting attorney of Monroe county to the newspaper reports of outrages. It is the duty of the local officers of the law to enforce it. I take it that it would hardly be proper for me to step in and endeavor to enforce the law until there had been failure on the part of the local officials to do their duty. If there should be failure on the part of the local officials to do their duty, I shall see that the good name of the state is vindicated. Whitecapism will not be tolerated while I am governor."

CHICAGO MARKET.

December Wheat Leads September by 3-8 of a Cent.

CHICAGO, Aug. 31.—Corn was the leading market on change yesterday. It closed at a  $\frac{1}{2}$  cent advance, something remarkable in view of the enormous receipts. September wheat was radically weak on the almost total abandonment of their lines of that option by the heaviest holders and the taking up on December.

Dumping of September for December commenced at the opening and within an hour the  $\frac{3}{4}$  cent difference which existed between the two options had disappeared and the eagerness with which exchange was made at even figures proved an additional source of weakness and ultimately put the price of September below December figures. The market ruled dull during the closing hour with December hovering around 89 $\frac{1}{2}$  cents. The closing prices were 89 $\frac{1}{2}$  cents for December and 89 for September.

DEERWESTER'S MISTAKE.

Taken to Kenton But Failed to Find Where He Got the Gold.

BELLEVILLE, O., Aug. 28.—Sheriff Shaw and Detective Archambault took Lew Deerwester, the Detrick murderer suspect, to Kenton at his request to see if he could find the person to whom he gave change for the $20 gold piece which he had a day or two after the murder. It was an unfortunate thing for him, as he proved nothing beyond the fact that several weeks ago he was in that city with Mrs. Lincoln Lamb, of this city, who spoke of there as his wife. He was taken to several saloons and was identified by some of the saloonkeepers as having been there. The sentiment of the public now appears to be against him.

WAS MORTIFYING.

President McKinley Refused Admission to the Veterans Camp at Buffalo.

BUFFALO, Aug. 27.—The president of the United States was refused admission to the grand army camp yesterday, although he had come at the special invitation of the veterans and everything was in readiness to receive him.

The incident proved one of great mortification to the grand army leaders and excited indignation among the members of the local committee. To the president at first it was a trifle annoying, but a few minutes after the episode he was having a hearty laugh over it and excusing the official who refused him entry by saying that the man was perfectly right to obey orders, no matter who demanded admission. The reason for the refusal was that the sentry had been ordered to admit no carriage to the camp.

Words of Commendation.

DECATUR, IND., August 27, 1897.

MR. EDITOR:

I wish a place in your columns for a few words of commendation. As I feel they are due the superintendent of the Adams county infirmary.

I am a visitor at the United Brethren conference of this city, and was invited to the county infirmary to conduct religious services. I had the happy privilege of preaching the Word of God to the inmates of the house. All were very attentive. Some visitors were present and shared in the blessings God saw fit to send upon us, which were soul reviving. The superintendent and wife demeaned themselves commendable in making for us a pleasant entrance in the home. They spared no pains in making comfortable sitting for the inmates, and all seemed to enjoy the service. After the service was over, which closed with a general hand shaking, I noticed the superintendent kindly take an old man by the arm, and had he been a son he would not have shown more reverence as he led the old man to his room. The sons and daughter aided in the service by rendering the music.

After the inmates were excused and retired, we were invited to follow the superintendent through the house. A sitting room was first entered which was marked with evidence of much care. We then ascended a flight of stairs leading to the upper sleeping rooms. The superintendent had no hesitancy in opening the doors of all the rooms. We were permitted to enter and examine room and beds, which we found to be perfectly clean and nice. Every apartment entered appeared to have been kept with great care. As we were passing to the landing of stairway on going down, some of the inmates were met, and the exchange of words with them gave evidence of their appreciation of their home. One old gentleman asked, "What do you think of our home?" After getting an answer, he said, "Who could wish for a better?" We were led through the dining room and kitchen on out in the lawn. Everything gave evidence of good and wise management. When the time came for us to go, it was with a measure of regret; wishing to tarry a little longer.

Now Mr. Editor and citizens of Adams county, taking into consideration the perplexities connected with the management of such an institution, we are free to express ourselves in words of highest commendation of both manager and wife, and it is the opinion of the writer that few homes of the kind are more neatly kept.

Mr. Editor, I send these words of hearty commendation from the fact I wish to encourage the right everywhere. And I congratulate the citizens of the county on having this combination—a good home and good manager. My prayer when I left the home was that God's benediction might follow us all from our homes on earth to our richer homes in the land of undying bliss in the heavens.
