When people lose their capital they set to work to regain it. When we lose our nerve force we ought to seek a means of getting it back. There is a way, certain and scientific.

It is said that Daniel Webster was twice offered the nomination for vice-president as a consolation prize for the loss of the nomination of the presidency. Either time he would have succeeded to the presidency through the death of the president had he accepted. As it was his main ambition was never fulfilled, like that of many of our great statesmen.

Worth its weight in gold. J. H. McMurray, Box 61, Seymour, Mo., writes: "Dr. Geo. Leininger's For-mal-de-hyde Inhaler has done a power of good for my catarrh. The postoffice department has decided not to issue a special stamp in commemoration of President McKinley as had been proposed in many quarters and was taken under careful consideration. The objections to doing this were of the practical sort. It would require a month at least to get a new issue out and by that time it was felt that much force of the tribute would be lost.

The nitroglycerin companies engaged in shooting oil wells in Grant county have not decided how to shoot wells situated in the city limits since the ordinance recently passed by the council regulating the number of guns to be carried in a wagon. The ordinance allowed only 100 quarts to be carried at one time and as many wells require nearly 300 quarts it will necessitate these trips from the magazine to the well.

A Mr. Sellers of Montpelier, has a musical prodigy in a cat—a common every day sort of Tom. It is said that several nights ago while the members of the Sellers family were peacefully sleeping this cat conceived the idea of jumping on the piano and prancing up and down the keyboard at a lively rate, almost scaring the senses out of the family. Now it is said that every time his outstep gets an opportunity he leaps to his favorite position in the piano and apparently takes a great delight in the tones brought from the piano.

Larson of Big Villa, Sanborns River, Cape Colony, confides a story typical of South Africa, at which can be purchased anything from the proverbial "needle to an anchor." This store is situated in a valley nine miles from the nearest railway station and twenty-five miles from the nearest town. Mr. Larson says: "I am honored with the custom of farmers within a radius of thirty miles, to many of whom I have supplied Chamberlain's remedies. All testify to their value in a household where a doctor's advice is almost out of the question. Within one mile of my store the population is perhaps fifty. Of these within the past twelve months, no less than fourteen have been absolutely cured by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. This must surely be a record." For sale by Holtzhouse, Callow & Co.

This week in Chicago the American Plow company was formed of twenty-three of the leading plow manufacturers in the United States and the combination has only $1,000,000,000 behind it. It is up to the farmers to organize a trust of their own and name the price these millionaires shall pay for their eatables.

It Will be Too Late. If you let a cough run on until it has affected your lungs. It will be too late as Consumption will surely be the result and death will end all, why are so many people careless about a Cough, be careful there is danger, and if not stopped in time it will certainly cause serious trouble and probably prove fatal. If you will only send for Dr. Marshall's Lung Syrup, it will cure you, as it has never failed to cure the very worst cases, and is guaranteed to give satisfaction, you can try this for 25 cents. Hustling advertisers throughout the country are besieging postmasters everywhere with requests for information as to the names of persons who live along rural routes for advertising purposes. So annoying to the department has this become that the following order has been sent out: "Postmasters and other postal officers and employees are strictly prohibited from making public the names or addresses of persons living along rural routes."

Stricken with paralysis. Henderson Grimes, of this place, was stricken with partial paralysis and completely lost the use of one arm and side. Those who have had much experience in handling and feeding work horses say that they should have at least one good weekly ration of some succulent food, along with dry feeds usually fed, and that carrots are a favorite food for horses, as they tone the digestion and improve the appearance of the coat. Carrots will soon learn to eat potatoes, sugar beets, cabbage and turnips. If roots cannot be obtained, ensilage will be found to be a good substitute, especially if made from clover, or soy beans, to balance the winter ration.

An Indianapolis man has invented a combined wife and carpet beater that he guarantees to fill perfectly a long list want. He claims that it will prove effective in all cases where the wife refuses to do much time to clubs and literary disturbances. The same fellow is at work on a procuring machine. It is intended to be a sort of automatic washer and mangle. The fellow no doubt is a genius but his inventive faculty is likely to lead him into trouble unless he directs it along different lines.

See Dollar Record, Box. The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one trouble-free disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known as the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer one Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address: F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O. Sold by druggists. See Hall's Family File for the best.
