Catholic ladies of Decatur and Hesse Cassel will form branches of the Catholic Benevolent league and the prospects are good for a large membership in both places. The work of organizing is in charge of the Messrs. T. J. McLaughlin, Harry Kinnet, Julian Franke, Philby B. Wyss, J. J. Kohrman and Mrs. J. E. Christman.—Fort Wayne Journal-Gazette.

Workmen are busy stretching wires for the electric day current and Mayor Coffee informs us that two weeks more will find the system in good working order. The boilers are being walled up and will soon be ready for use and customers may within a few days use electricity for light or power in unlimited quantities and at any time of day or night. It is possible that the current may be turned on next week but Mr. Coffee said he thought it better to wait until everything was in readiness and then no shut downs will be necessary.

The mysterious lady in black was seen again Wednesday and her identity is still unsolved, although an effort was made last evening to see her face but at the last minute she easily eluded her pursuers. It was just shortly before the fire whistle blew last night that she was seen on the west side of the court house by the nightmen working at the Murray house, who at once proceeded to investigate but were frightened away before they could distinguish anything. This made the boys mad and they set a big dog on her trail, and the mysterious lady was given a nice chase down third street the dog soon returned and that was the last seen of the woman in black. She was also seen the night before on Winchester street by several reliable parties. She is certainly a mystery.

A meeting of the stockholders of the Ft. Wayne and Springfield interurban railway was held here Wednesday at the interurban office. Not all the members being present but enough to make a quorum. The members got right down to business and elected their board of directors who will hold for the ensuing year they being W. H. Fedderjohann, B. A. Fedderjohann, Edwin Fedderjohann, John H. Koenig, C. Vogt, Willis Armstrong and Charles Dirksen, immediately after this other business of importance was transacted by the stockholders after which the meeting adjourned. Immediately after the adjournment of the stockholders, the newly elected board of directors went into session and elected their officers the same being W. H. Fedderjohann president and general manager, Edwin Fedderjohann first vice president, Willis Armstrong second vice president, B. A. Fedderjohann secretary and John H. Koenig Treasurer and general counsel for the board. After the board had transacted all business under their jurisdiction the meeting adjourned and all stockholders were driven over the proposed route to Ft. Wayne and from there they will depart for their respective homes. The meeting developed that the company was in good standing and that if weather and nature permitted the company would be laying steel by September first.

Attorney Jacob Butcher of Geneva, filed a new suit this morning entitled William Zagle vs Nancy and Byron Ault, Lillie and John Adams, suit to quiet title. The plaintiff claims possession of lot 180 in Buffalo, an addition to the town of Geneva, but his rights are disputed by the defendants and the matter will be settled in court.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Sutton were most pleasantly surprised last evening when a number of their immediate neighbors burst in upon them to appraise them of the fact that they still cherished their good friendship if they were intending to move to the south part of the city which will occur in a few days. The evening was spent in playing numerous game and all indulged in as genuine old fashioned taffy pulling and at a late hour all adjourned for their respective homes.

A number of Decatur people were at Fort Wayne Thursday attending the K. of C. picnic which is described as follows in the Journal-Gazette. The Knights of Columbus had their annual outing yesterday and though the weather was disagreeable, everyone had a good time. About fifty knights and their friends came to the city from Decatur and joined with the local knights in their outing. Field day sports and a base ball game together with boating and fishing, occupied the day. The winners of the races which were pulled off were as follows. 100 yard dash—C. T. Sullivan, first, John Rank second. Three Legged Race—G. Sosenheimer, and John Falvey. Egg Race for ladies—Miss McVey, first prize. Potato Race—G. Sosenheimer, first Victor Knapp, second. Bicycle Race—George M. Deininger. The ball game was played between the Fort Wayne knights team and a team from Decatur. The latter won in a game the most sensational and wonderful ever played at the park. In the evening there was a dance at the pavilion, but the weather proving rather cold the dance was completed at the hall of the knights in the Lau building.

It was just midnight Thursday night when night watchman Geary who was standing in front of Smith Yager & Falks drug store, heard a peculiar, muffled explosion, sounding as he explained it "like the throwing of a barrel on a pavement." He soon located the sound as having come from the basement of the Forbing building, occupied by the Nickle Plate saloon. Within a moment or two he detected smoke and at once sent in a fire alarm. It developed that a fire had started in some sawdust packed about the cooler in the cellar and had spread to a barrel of whiskey near by, which exploded. It was one of the most stubborn fires seen here for a long time and the company were three hours before it could be controlled. The smoke was so thick that the building could scarcely be entered and this fact caused the difficulty. The building which is owned by Peter Forbing was damaged probably $500, a hole about ten feet square being burned in the floor and the rafters and walls being injured considerably. It was insured in the Hooper & Lenhart agency for $2000. The saloon is owned by Will Cordua and his large stock was almost completely ruined as were his furniture and fixtures. He estimates his loss at $1500 with $500 insurance in the Home of N. Y. L. C. Heim agent and $500 in the Queen, J. S. Peterson agent. The building will be repaired at once and the Nickel Plate will reopen.

Hon. H. C. Peterson and daughter Miss Nan of Albion arrived Friday, called here on account of the serious illness of the former aged father John W. Peterson. Mr. Peterson is a well known attorney of Noble county and a brother of attorney R. S. Peterson of this city.

Eva Seguin, twelve years old, who came here from Payne, O., to attend the funeral of her sister, Abina May Seguin, who was drowned last Sunday at Rome City, fell yesterday and broke her right leg above the ankle, Dr. F. B. Ladd was summoned to attend her and he stated that the patient's injury is not serious. The little girl is the adopted daughter of Daniel Michaels, of Payne O., and since coming to the city she has been staying at 63 Riverside avenue. While going about the house yesterday she stumbled and fell down a flight of stairs. The accident of the younger daughter, following upon the heels of the other troubles, makes it appear that the family is having more than its share of adversity.—Fort Wayne Journal-Gazette.

cured and the county superintendent is slapping himself on the back for his good fortune in their selection. Miss Lelia E. Patridge of Philadelphia will have charge of the reading and language, L. W. Fairfield of the Angola Tri state Normal College school government, while Miss Carrie Thomas of this city will have charge of the instruction in music, being assisted by Harlan Cozine of Chicago. It is with pleasure that we here mention the rapid strides of Miss Thomas in both vocal and instrumental music she having recently completed a course at the Northwestern University at Evanston, Illinois. She there won much merit and was awarded a scholarship, the third one that has been given a student during the past six years. She was also shown much attention owing to her marked ability in both voice culture and instrumental music and was offered the influence of the university for a position in one of Chicago's many churches. She is certainly entitled to the preferred distinction as she possesses a sweet and cultured voice and has perfectly mastered the difficulties attendant to proficiency. Everything is promising for an interesting session in the county institute and it is expected that the attendance will be greater than ever before.

Herb LeBrun is still in the clutches of the law and his troubles are still on having been arrested at three o'clock by Marshall Cordua on a charge of malicious trespass the affidavit being sworn out by Chas. D. Murray proprietor of the saloon in which Herb in his angry passion on Tuesday evening let fly a salt holder aiming to hit the bartender but missing him and breaking a fifty dollar mirror. This offense if he is proven guilty carries with it a fine of not less than fifty dollars and not more than five hundred making the penalty very severe. Herb has employed as Attorney L. C. DeVoss to fight his cause and their respective troubles will be aired in court tomorrow morning.

George W. Bolds and Attorney John F. LaFollette arrived home Wednesday morning from Chicago where they attended a meeting of the directors of the Indiana Oil Company. Mr. Bolds is a director as well as being the principal stockholder and Mr. LaFollette is the company's attorney. The meeting

The case of the state of Indiana against Herb LeBrun on a charge of malicious trespass filed by Charles D. Murray on account of the disturbance Herb raised in his saloon a few days ago by becoming insulted because the bartender refused him a drink and then throwing a salt holder through the large plate glass mirror, was tried this morning before Squire Smith who on hearing the evidence and well knowing the law governing such cases handed Herb out a fine of ten dollars and costs which amounted in all to eighteen dollars and eighty cents. Herb stayed the docket.

Henry Bragg, who is in Wabash jail "laying out" a ten-day sentence for failing to pay his dog tax, is a British subject and as such is the case has been laid before the British consul at Chicago. Bragg was arrested a few days ago and as he showed no disposition to pay the fine and costs he was remanded to jail to "lay out" this sentence. His family has objected to this strenuously and his wife stated that she had notified the British consul and that she would see that he would take the case up. Some time ago a son of Bragg was arrested at Rochester for thieving and was sent to the state reformatory. At that time the British representative was appealed to and he has been investigating the case since then. The result has been a string of letters to the prosecutors of Fulton and Wabash counties and great deal of red tape. The only thing the consul can do is to see that the arrest and convictions were all made with strict conformity to the law of this country for the laws here govern a resident whether that resident claims Uncle Sam or John Bull as his patron. In this instance it will probably mean considerable correspondence although the prosecution was all done carefully and there will be nothing except an examination result.
