

NATIONALISTS MUCH EXCITED.

Made a Demonstration in Front of Colonel Roosevelt's Hotel.

Cairo, Egypt, March 29.—(Special to Daily Democrat)—Several thousand nationalists made a demonstration in front of the Shepherd hotel, where Colonel Theodore Roosevelt is stopping, this afternoon. The feeling is great against the colonel on account of his speech yesterday and his interviews in the papers. Many of the guests fled, fearing violence, but Teddy paid but little attention to the demonstration. The colonel has received many messages from various countries, congratulating him upon his speech. This was a quiet day for the Roosevelt. They visited bazaars and secured souvenirs, were invited by the commander of the Japanese fleet, dined with Count Hatzfeldt at the German embassy, and the colonel spent the latter part of the day going over his mail.

Geneva, Ind., March 29.—(Special to Daily Democrat)—Geneva was shocked this morning when messages were received from Indianapolis, announcing the death of George Hartman, one of the best known business men of southern Adams county. He had been suffering with cancer for a year or more, and two weeks ago went to Indianapolis, where he was being treated at a private sanitarium, and which it was thought might improve if not entirely cure him, but his weak condition was such that treatment was of no avail. He died there at an early hour this morning. The deceased was born in Orville, Ohio, in December, 1850. He came to Geneva in 1881 and opened a general store, which he conducted until 1905, when he sold the grocery stock and has since that time retailed nothing but dry goods, and to his credit he has about as good a store as there is in Adams county. Mr. Hartman was a bachelor and for many years lived with his sister here, but for the last several years he made his home with Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Barnes. His only family relatives are his sister, Mrs. Susie Kirk of Cleveland, Ohio, and his half sister, Mrs. C. Burghalter, living near this place. No arrangements have been made for the funeral, but it is expected that he will be brought back here tomorrow for burial, and the funeral will likely be held the following day.

Mrs. Lena Sipe and daughter of Kendallville are here on an extended visit with her sister, Mrs. Maurice Wells, living at the corner of Hale and Sixth streets.

Work on the B. & O. is making great progress, the track being complete to the corporation, and it will not be long until the cars will be moving into Geneva.

W. H. Fledderjohann, Charles Dirksen, F. M. McConnell and John Koenig were in Geneva this morning on their way to Celina, Ohio, via the automobile route.

There will soon be a new millinery store in Geneva, the Misses Beerbower and C. Shaffer will open such a store in the Pyle building on April 15th.

The sixty-seventh session of the North Indiana conference will convene in Bluffton April 6th. On the 7th day of April, second day of conference, at 2 o'clock p. m., will occur at Warren, fifteen miles distant, the dedication of the Methodist memorial home for the aged. This dedication will be a significant event to the conference, and in the history of Indiana Methodism. With her great schools, her great hospitals, and now a home for the aged, Indiana will have a still larger place in the attention of the church. Three years ago an aged couple, Mr. and Mrs. Chopson, residing in Warren, offered $25,000 for the purpose of providing a home for the worthy aged. The North Indiana conference accepted the gift on condition of duplicating a like sum for the same purpose. The faith of the friends of this movement arose to the occasion, and now on the third anniversary of the movement the dedication and formal opening of the home will take place. The event will bring together a large company of people deeply interested in the work of the institution and whose faith will be stimulated by the fact that this humanitarian movement meets a long felt need, and has the hearty encouragement to make it soon a possibility for gracious service.

Bishop Cranston, who presides over the conference and Bishop McDowell, who presided when the conference inaugurated the work of securing the funds for the home, will be present and deliver addresses and officiate in the dedication. Special arrangements are made to convey the entire conference from Bluffton to Warren and return at reduced rates. From all directions will come the people to attend the historic occasion.

It is a matter of universal regret that Mr. William Chopson, one of the principal founders of the home, was called to his eternal reward so near the day of dedication. His declining health for months past has caused intense anxiety on the part of the church. The hopes and prayers of his many friends were stimulated by periods of convalescence giving encouragement that he might be spared to attend and participate in the eventful service of dedication. It was not to be so, but his generosity will live in the good of the many who will have the comfort and care provided by his, and the gifts of many others, in this benefaction.

The improvements at the Vance, Hite & Macklin clothing store were carried along further today by the painting of the front of the building. Aaron DeVinney was doing the painting.

Events of the long ago are always of interest. Monday while going over some old records at the clerk's office Deputy Clerk Dan Roop came across a big third-sheet bill, advertising a home talent play, "The Union Spy," given at the Melbers' opera house, May 27 and 28, 1887, twenty-three years ago. It was given under the auspices of the G. A. R. and at that time quite an event. The cast is given on the bill and we find in glancing over it that the last curtain on the play of life has rolled down for several. Others have moved to other cities and states, and the old cast printed below will no doubt bring to mind incidents of that time:

Carrie Dalton, Sister of Edwin—Dollie Corbin.

Mrs. Dalton, Wife of Farmer Dalton—Mrs. J. Q. Neptune.

Little Willie, Drummer Boy—French Quinn.

It is needless to add that the play was a howling success and the hall was packed to the doors each evening.
