

No Man is Stronger Than His Stomach

A strong man is strong all over. No man can be strong who is suffering from weak stomach with its consequent indigestion, or from some other disease of the stomach and its associated organs, which impairs digestion and nutrition. For when the stomach is weak or diseased there is a loss of the nutrition contained in food, which is the source of all physical strength. When a man "doesn't feel just right," when he doesn't sleep well, has an uncomfortable feeling in the stomach after eating, is languid, nervous, irritable and despondent, he is losing the nutrition needed to make strength.

Such a man should use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It enriches the blood. Invigorates the liver, strengthens the kidneys, nourishes the nerves, and so GIVES HEALTH AND STRENGTH TO THE WHOLE BODY.

You can't afford to accept a secret nostrum as a substitute for this non-alcoholic medicine or known composition, not even though the urgent dealer may thereby make a little bigger profit. Ingredients printed on wrapper.

The home talent play, "The District Convention," at the Bosse opera house Friday evening, under the auspices of the High School Athletic association, was a complete success, and more than pleased the large audience which was present. The opening scene was very beautiful, when the high school class appeared, all seated on the stage, with a large American flag for a background. A chorus by the class was the first on the program and was well received by the audience. Gregg Neptune then favored those present with a song entitled, "Then We'll All Go Home," followed with one by Carl France, which received much praise. Fred Frisinger as "Zeke, the Original," kept the crowd going from start to finish with his funny sayings and clever stunts, and showed that he was made up of the real stuff. Bruce Patterson then favored those present with a song, "If I Could Win the World by Whistling," followed by Lawrence Biggs in "What's the Use?" Lynn Shoemaker was next on the program, being dressed as a tramp, and rendered a song, "Take Plenty of Shoes," which was well received and he was called back several times. Frank Mills and Earle Colter rendered solos, which were very good. The first act was then brought to a close with a song by the class. Act two, was of a comic political nature, made up by the class, whose object was to elect a mayor for the town. The play was brought to a close by another song by the entire class. Between acts the audience was favored by a quartet, made up of Rev. Sherman Powell, Professor Rice, Jonas Tritch and Dan Baumgartner, whose numbers were among the best on the program. They were called back a number of times by the audience. Howard Wiesehaupt, who was manager of the cast, should receive special praise for his work and the manner in which he had his men trained for the occasion. The proceeds will go for the benefit of the association and they wish to thank the people very cordially for their liberal patronage.

RETURNED TO CITY.

Paul Harrod, ticket agent at the G. R. & I. depot, who has been detained from his duties on account of an operation for appendicitis, for a number of weeks, returned to this city Friday afternoon and will in a short time resume his former work. He is feeling much improved and it is thought that he will fully recover from his sickness.

Don Burk, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Burk, who was recently appointed supply pastor of the M. E. church at Woodburn at the recent conference held at Bluffton, left this morning to take charge of his pastorate, and will conduct his first services there Sunday morning and evening. Don is one of Decatur's brightest and best young men. He is a member of the senior class of the Decatur high school and will graduate in May. For many years he has felt himself called to the ministry and all these years fully knowing what his life mission was, has made all his study and plans tend to the fulfillment thereof. He will continue as pastor of the Woodburn charge until September, when he will resign to enter Dapauw university as a student. He is contemplating taking the four years' course there in three years, and after securing a firm educational foundation there, and graduating from that university, will enter Drew Seminary in New Jersey for the three years' course that will further educate him in his chosen work of the ministry. Though still in his teens he shows a wisdom and knowledge far beyond his years and is said to be one of the brightest young men that has passed through the Decatur high school. He has been an active member of the local M. E. church in all of its departments, and has delivered sermons and addresses in many of the churches of the surrounding country, in all of which he is known as an eloquent and powerful worker for the cause. Among his many natural abilities that will prove of great aid to him in his work is his musical talent, being both a vocalist and violinist of much talent, and has gained considerable fame as a composer. He is a young man of the most exemplary qualities and his many friends wish for him the highest success in his life.

Muncie, Ind., April 16—In severe terms of arraignment, Charles E. Lambert, former Center township trustee, is held to be $12,368.53 short in his accounts in the official copy of the report of Examiners E. C. Morris and C. T. Hain, which was given out at Indianapolis yesterday, and which was filed with the state board of accounts last Saturday following an extended investigation into Mr. Lambert's books for the full four years he held office.

Although no direct charges of graft are made in the report, Lambert is held responsible of having juggled the contract price on the construction of school houses, misusing funds, making illegal and erroneous disbursements, and for having given himself credit for money with which he had not charged himself, all of which are set out in detailed manner in the report of the two examiners, which is contained in sixteen pages of typewritten matter.

In short, Mr. Lambert is charged in the report as follows: To credits taken for unauthorized, erroneous and illegal disbursements and for money received and not charged in reports to county auditor, $5,562.58; school building, District No. 14, to unauthorized contracts, $286; to payments made in excess of contracts, $1,381.30; to payments made to excess of contract price for heating and ventilating, $54.26; to unauthorized contract with Wing & Mahurin, architects, $83.36; school building, District No. 15, to unauthorized contracts, building, $606; dry closets, $482; teletherm, $475; amount paid Lambert as overseer of poor in excess of $222.48.

HOME FROM HOSPITAL.

Hom Lauer, who was taken to Ft. Wayne a few weeks ago and later underwent an operation for appendicitis, returned home Friday noon and is feeling very good, although somewhat weak. It is now believed he will fully recover from the illness with which he has been troubled some time and his many friends are glad to hear of his improvement.

Mrs. Glen Glancy was in the city visiting with friends and left for her home at Monroe on the noon train.

The following interesting article was written by S. J. Kelley, son of S. F. Kelley of Blue Creek township, who formerly conducted the old Mississauga house in this city. The young man left here some years ago and for three years worked as a dining car conductor on Pennsylvania and Wabash roads. Then he went to the "new north," where with two of his brothers they own a large ranch southeast of Edmonton, near the Saskatchewan river. His postoffice address is Capelle P. O., Alberta, Canada. His story is interesting:

In that vast and fertile region lying between the Lake of the Woods on the east and the Rocky Mountains on the west and extending northward from the international boundary, for from two to three hundred miles lies that part of the three prairie provinces of Canada, lined with a network of railways, and each year sees larger additions to the lines already in operation in this new nation which has sprung up in a night peopled with well-to-do farmers and business men of the states and eastern Canada, with a sprinkling of the congress of nations of the old world, has often been termed the last great west, and as the advancing settlement and decreasing number of free homesteads continue, the eyes of the land-hungry are beholding that last retreat on the continent for free land. The new north containing the valleys of McKenzie, Peace and Athabasca rivers with a host of tributaries, a veritable empire within itself, with a climate in summer comparable to the states of North and South Dakota and where the sun rises at 3:12 a. m. and sets at 9 p. m. in latitude 56 degrees, the center of the rich agricultural Peace river district and a crop of grain or vegetables will mature in two-thirds the time it takes in the above named states several hundred miles to the south, on account of the long summer days at this period of the season. It is estimated that this district contains over thirty thousand square miles of rich virgin soil, capable of producing immense quantities of grain and vegetables, while wild fruits and berries are found in abundance, scattered over this fertile region. The native grasses are the most luxuriant found in the whole dominion, and for several years past there has been a large influx of ranchers into the grand prairie country and other favorable localities of the Peace River valleys, to take advantage of the free pasture for cattle and horse raising.

For several years the Hudson Bay company have maintained grist mills all over this district for several hundred miles north of Edmonton and has an electric flour mill in operation at Vermillion, several hundred miles north of Lesser lake, and last year consumed twenty-five thousand bushels of native grown wheat in their operations at this point alone. But the agricultural wealth of this new north is only one of the many and important diversions to be found there. The country is dotted with a park-like growth of trees, while the banks of nearly all the streams are lined with giant spruce fir and hemlock, and lumbering will be a source of great wealth as soon as the railroads that are projected north from Edmonton are completed to the navigable waters of the Peace and Athabasca rivers.

In the numerous lakes scattered over this region are found great quantities of white fish and other valuable food species, while ducks and geese and other waterfowl make this a sportsman's paradise. Large herds of caribou and moose abound, and bear, wolves, foxes, deer and smaller fur-bearing animals are numerous. Immense quantities of raw furs are brought down to Edmonton early each year by dog trains and has made Edmonton the largest raw fur market in the world. Valuable deposits of gold-bearing quartz have in the last few years been found along the western branches of the Peace river, most notable being the Ingenika country along the Flinlay river in northern British Columbia, and immense quantities of coal have been located along the Peace river near the Alberta and British Columbian boundary.

Valuable deposits of asphalt and petroleum have been discovered in the vicinity of Fort McMurray, nearly four hundred miles north of Edmonton. A stock company composed of wealthy promoters and business men of the states and Canada has recently been incorporated at Winnipeg with a capitalization of five million dollars to develop these valuable resources. Last winter the provincial legislature guaranteed the bonds for the construction of the Alberta Great Waterways railway, which is to be built from Edmonton to Fort McMurray, four hundred miles north of the Alberta capital, at the junction of the navigable waters of the Peace and Athabasca rivers, which will give an outlet to this great waterway system of the north, extending to the Arctic ocean, via the McKenzie river and up the Peace river to Fort St. John, the head of navigation in British Columbia, on which for several years the Hudson Bay company steamers have been plying. The survey for this line was completed during the summer of 1909 and the present winter. An army of men are at work clearing the right of way and making ties to be used in the construction of this line and the outlook is that this road will be rushed to an early completion to give access to this valuable territory. A million dollar packing plant has just been completed at Edmonton by Swift & Company. Each year large herds of cattle are driven on foot down to this gateway of the northern empire and in the future this north country must supply most of the livestock for the markets of the Canadian northwest until the country is given transportation by the numerous lines of steel projected northward, when it will ultimately be given over to farming as in the already settled portions of the provinces to the south.

Dr. S. D. Beavers returned last Saturday from a trip through the southwest, and though it was in the nature of a business trip, he found a great deal of pleasure combined with it, inasmuch as he met many Adams county friends who are now living or visiting in the southwest. He went by way of St. Louis, then going to Memphis, Tenn., and then across the Mississippi to Marion, Arkansas. There he met Dr. and Mrs. J. S. Coverdale and their son, Clark, and family, with whom they are visiting, and spent a day with them. He found them well and prospering greatly. Dr. Beavers was privileged to visit the large plantation of Dr. J. S. Coverdale, which consists of 400 or 500 acres of very fine land, adapted to the growing of cotton and corn. The cotton planting season is just now on and it was an interesting sight to see the fifteen or more negroes at this work, there being a great number employed by Dr. Coverdale on his plantation. He also saw the 160 acres of Dr. Earl Coverdale, which is also near that place, and which is very fine land, with an abundance of timber. Dr. Beavers said that the land in that country is certainly a money-making proposition, and while land owners here are content with making a very small per cent, land owners there are working for a return of twenty-five per cent profit. From there he went to DeWitt and Stuttgart, Arkansas, the region of the great rice fields. There he called on his brother-in-law, Hazel Andrews, who owns a very good 160 acre farm, with fine house and barn, and called on Andrew's sons-in-law, Valentine and Leasure, all of whom went from Adams county several years ago. Valentine has a nice farm of forty-five acres and Leasure a nice residence property in DeWitt. All are prospering, making money and contented. DeWitt is a thriving little place, and to boom it still more a new railroad will be built through the town this summer. The rice field is the great characteristic of that country, and is booming as much as the greatest oil field. The rice field is about 150 miles long and seventy-five or eighty miles wide, and several Adams county men are working there. After a happy stay with relatives there, Dr. Beavers went to Texarkana, in the Red river valley, a thriving town on the Texas-Arkansas line, but was there only six or seven hours. The land there is also rich and good and timber is abundant. Corsicana, a booming oil town, surrounded by rich farming lands and oil fields, with its inhabitants very prosperous, commanded his attention and admiration next, after which he proceeded to Houston. He is very much pleased with Houston and its surroundings. Corn and cotton and general truck growing is fine in that vicinity and he said that ten acres of land there will make for a man a good living. Dr. Beavers is much pleased with his trip, and with the promising qualities of the land through which he passed. He met many men from Indiana, and indeed Indiana men seem to make up the greater number of those who are investing in land in the southwest. Illinois ranks next and then Missouri. He emphasizes especially the prosperity of the land and residents of the country through which he passed.

In short, Mr. Lambert is charged in the report as follows: To credits taken for unauthorized, erroneous and illegal disbursements and for money received and not charged in reports to county auditor, $5,562.58; school building, District No. 14, to unauthorized contracts, $286; to payments made in excess of contracts, $1,381.30; to payments made to excess of contract price for heating and ventilating, $54.26; to unauthorized contract with Wing & Mahurin, architects, $83.36; school building, District No. 15, to unauthorized contracts, building, $606; dry closets, $482; teletherm, $475; amount paid Lambert as overseer of poor in excess of $222.48.

Jack London, in a recent sermon by a San Jose clergyman, was described as "an atheist, a scientist, a philosopher, a thinker, questing the universe in a mad search for God." Then the preacher praised in the highest terms, the sincerity of the man whom he had been criticizing, and concluded his remarks by asserting that the author is "essentially spiritual."

D. V. Steele left yesterday for Attica, where he will visit his daughter, Mrs. Charles Barnhart. The Barnharts recently moved to Attica, where they opened a Racket store today. Mrs. Steele will then go to Cayuga for a visit with another daughter, Mrs. Albert Parker. He will be gone a week.

A PROMISING CAREER.

Is That of Herbert A. Lucky—Grandson of Squire Stone.

The Indianapolis papers contain a likeness and "booster" article on Herbert A. Lucky, and a grandson of Squire J. H. Stone of this city, who is making the race for the nomination for state representative from Marion county on the republican ticket. The young man is but twenty-six years of age, a graduate from the high school, the University of New York and from the Indiana Law School in the class of 1902, and is now a practicing attorney in Indianapolis, having offices in the Law building. His career has been a remarkable one for one so young, and his friends have strong hope for his nomination and ultimate election. He is a member of the Marion club, past commander of Ben Harrison company Sons of Veterans, and is state attorney for Indiana Division of Sons of Veterans. His parents were former residents of this county and are well known here, his mother having been Miss Lucy E. Stone.

The democrats and republicans of Allen county held their primary elections Friday for the selection of candidates for next fall's election. The vote was the lightest in years, only about one-third of the democrats being out and the republican vote was so small it could hardly be estimated. It is said the reason for this is the fact that everyone conceded that whoever was nominated by the democrats would be elected. There were several battles on the democratic side. Homer Underwood was defeated for judge. William Wells, for auditor, made a poor showing and the democrats named were as follows:

For Senator—Frank Greenwell, Huntertown.

For Representatives—Clifford J. Moran, Adolph Roggen, W. H. F. Moellering.

For Superior Court Judge—Carl Yapple.

For Prosecuting Attorney—Harry H. Hilgemann.

For County Clerk—W. E. Gerding.

For County Auditor—Calvin H. Brown.

For County Treasurer—J. Herman Buster.

For Sheriff—A. M. Reichelderfer.

For Coroner—Dr. Edward Kruse.

For Surveyor—Ralph W. Guenther.

For Assessor—William Eggeman.

For County Commissioner (First District)—F. William Franke.

"BILLY" JOHNS SPRAINS ANKLE.

"Billy" Johns, the very popular clerk in the grocery department of the Fullenkamp store, who has been on duty nearly every day during the past nine years, will be forced to take a vacation of a week or more, and all because he sprained one of his ankles. Fate seemed against him, as day before yesterday he gave the right ankle a slight twist, which made him slightly lame, and then to complete the job, while coming out of the warehouse at the rear of the store Friday, his foot caught in something that gave it a hard wrench, and the sprain was complete, putting him entirely out of commission. He was taken home in a carriage and it will be some time before he can be at work again.

Miss Elizabeth Bell, who visited relatives here for several weeks, will go to her home at Flint, Mich., today. She will be accompanied home by Mrs. Tom Miller of Bluffton, who will visit her sister, Mrs. Frank Bell, at Flint.
