

No Man is Stronger Than His Stomach

A strong man is strong all over. No man can be strong who is suffering from weak stomach with its consequent indigestion, or from some other disease of the stomach and its associated organs, which impairs digestion and nutrition. For when the stomach is weak or diseased there is a loss of the nutrition contained in food, which is the source of all physical strength. When a man "doesn't feel just right," when he doesn't sleep well, has an uncomfortable feeling in the stomach after eating, is languid, nervous, irritable and despondent, he is losing the nutrition needed to make strength.

Such a man should use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It enriches the blood, invigorates the liver, strengthens the kidneys, nourishes the nerves, and so gives health and strength to the whole body.

You can't afford to accept a secret nostrum as a substitute for this non-alcoholic medicine of known composition, not even though the urgent dealer may thereby make a little bigger profit. Ingredients printed on wrapper.

New York, April 23—(Special to Daily Democrat)—Albert Wolter, convicted slayer of Ruth Wheeler, today is the calmest man in the prison. He joked with his keeper and refused to talk of the verdict under which the death sentence will be imposed next Wednesday. Unless his family will bear the expense there will be no appeal.

New York, April 23—Albert Wolter, degenerate youth of nineteen years, who gloated over lewd pictures and was "crazy" about women, must die in the electric chair for the murder of Ruth Wheeler, a pretty fifteen-year-old stenographer. After only one hour and fifty minutes of deliberation a jury in the court of special sessions found him guilty of murder in the first degree at 10:30 o'clock Friday night, bringing to a close a trial marked by its swift movement and its testimony of horror.

The boy's counsel said that Wolter was too tender hearted to harm a cat, but twelve men decided last night that he had strangled Ruth Wheeler and thrust her while yet alive into his fire place, where, soaked with oil, her crumpled body writhed and burned.

With the same wax-faced indifference that he had shown throughout the trial, Wolter evinced no emotion when the verdict was announced. With almost inhuman complacency he had been asleep in his cell and sleeping soundly while the jury was deliberating on his fate. This was made known by a court attendant who said he had to rouse the prisoner to bring him into court. He will be sentenced Wednesday.

MISS MYLOTT GIVEN JUDGMENT.

Miss Genevieve Mylott, a vaudeville singer, was given a verdict of $500 against the Chicago City Railway company for injuries suffered when she fell from a street car at Halstead and Fifty-first streets September 25th last. The case was heard in Municipal Judge Bruggemeyer's court.—Chicago Daily Tribune.

Miss Mylott is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Mylott of this city. She was injured in a collision on the road last September and was in the hospital for several weeks. Representatives of the railroad were in this city the first of the week looking up facts relating to the case, and to the settlement by compromise.

Miss Lilah Lachot is acting as clerk in the Charles Voglewede shore store today.

Sarah Catherine Reynolds, aged sixty-six, wife of Dan P. Reynolds, one of the pioneer women of the county and city passed away Thursday night at 11 o'clock at the home in the north part of the city. She had been ill for many months with cancer of the liver and her death has been expected for several weeks. Several weeks ago she underwent an operation at St. Joseph hospital, Fort Wayne, and it was learned then that her condition was beyond all cure, and that death was the matter of only a short time. She was born October 18, 1843, in Tuscarawas county, Ohio, the daughter of John and Elizabeth Archbold. When only a child she came with her parents to this county, making her home in Preble township. It was there that she became acquainted with Dan P. Reynolds and their acquaintance ripened into love. When the Civil war broke out Mr. Reynolds was called to the front, but in six weeks was taken a prisoner and sent home on a furlough. While on this furlough he and his sweetheart were married, and shortly afterward he was again called to the war and served to the close, serving three years in all, while his faithful companion remained at home. After the war, they continued to make their home in Preble township, and in 1873 came to this city to live. In 1884 they went to Kansas and lived there twelve years and then returned here, in 1896. With the exception of sixteen months in Oklahoma they have lived here the remainder of the time. Several years ago Mrs. Reynolds' health became poor and they went to Oklahoma, hoping the change would do her good. She gradually grew worse, however until death. She leaves husband and two children—Mrs. Daisy Priest of Dill, Oklahoma, and Will of Noble, Oklahoma. Mrs. Priest was with her mother when she died and the son was also here during a part of her illness, but found it necessary to return home. One child died when three years of age. She is also survived by the following brothers and sisters: William Archbold, Ossian, James, east of the city; Ezra, Fort Wayne; Margaret McCague, Martha F. Kreigh, Wells county; Rebecca Murphy, Decatur, George, Tom and John Archbold, and Mary J. Meitz are brothers, and sisters who have preceded her in death. The funeral was held Monday morning at 10 o'clock in the Elhannan church in Wells county, the Rev. Powell, pastor of the Methodist church of this city, officiating. Burial in the Elhannan cemetery. Mrs. Reynolds was a most estimable woman, and her death has caused untold grief.

Long months of suffering from spinal meningitis terminated Saturday at 8 o'clock in the death of Emma J., wife of Harvey L. Kessler at the home of his parents, Ferd Kessler, four miles south of the city. The ailment had assumed a most serious phase in the past several weeks and her death was not unexpected. She was one of the best known of the younger ladies of the county and her death will be a cause of much sorrow. She was little more than twenty-six years of age. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Steele of north of this city and was born February 23, 1884. A year ago last December she was married to Harvey L. Kessler, who, with a nine-months-old son, Kenneth, survive. Her mother died several years ago and her father and the following brothers and sisters survive: Roy and George Steele and Mrs. Roy Venis of Bluffton, and a half-brother and sister, John and Cleo. The funeral was held Monday morning, the procession leaving the home at 10 o'clock for the Monroe M. E. church. Burial in the Ray cemetery.

Ed Berling came home from Fort Wayne, where he has been working and will be the guest of his mother, Mrs. H. Berling, over Sunday. That Will Parr enjoyed very excellent fisherman's luck this morning was evidenced by the string of fine fish he carried home at noon. D. V. Steele returned last evening from a week's visit with his daughter, Mrs. Charles Barnhart, at Attica, and Mrs. Albert Parr, at Cayuga.

Miss Emma Cowan of Fort Wayne, who has been the guest of friends at Dunkirk for several days past, returned home this morning and left on the 10 o'clock car.

Dore B. Erwin, attorney for the plaintiff, filed a new case entitled Netie Roop vs. Frank Roop, complaint for divorce and alimony, demand, $10,000. Mrs. Roop filed a similar case two or three years ago, but a reconciliation was effected before trial. The complaint says the parties were married April 4, 1895, and lived together until Thursday of this week. The charges which follow are sensational. Mrs. Roop says her husband has often called her vile names; that he is an habitual drunkard; that he has taken possession of $3,476 of her money and invested it in real estate in his own name. The complaint also alleges that on April 16th last, the defendant went home and assaulted his wife and her small child and when plaintiff to protect herself locked herself in a room, Roop procured an ax and with it broke down the door, and made a brutal assault on plaintiff and would have done her bodily harm had not the son and daughter restrained him and disarmed him of the ax. Three children have been born to Mr. and Mrs. Roop, to-wit, Sarah, aged fourteen; Lawrence, aged eight, and Orval, aged four years. Plaintiff says defendant has personal and real property valued at $18,000. Mrs. Roop asks a divorce, the custody of the children and for $10,000 alimony. The plaintiff also asks the court to enjoin the defendant from selling or disposing of any of his property and from molesting or interfering or visiting Mrs. Roop or children. The court granted a temporary restraining order.

Mrs. Dr. Charles S. Schenk of Berne and one of the best known and respected ladies of this county, passed away at her home on Thursday at 12:30 o'clock. While her death had not been the best for some time prior to her death she was only taken bed-fast on last Friday and from that time gradually grew worse with diabetes, which caused her death. The deceased was the daughter of Mrs. J. M. Atkinson and was born in Salamonia, Jay county. She was united in marriage a number of years ago and was a resident of Berne for the past fourteen years. She was united in marriage to Doctor Schenk, of Berne, and to this happy union, one daughter, now twelve years of age, was born. She was well liked by a large number of friends, and her death has caused a gloom over all who were near and dear to her. She leaves a mother, Mrs. J. M. Atkinson, a husband and one daughter to mourn their loss. She is also survived by one brother and sister, H. M. Atkinson and Miss Etta Atkinson, the latter residing at home with her mother. Two brothers and one sister, Rev. Daniel Atkinson, president of a college at Jireh, Wyoming; Albert Atkinson and Mrs. C. W. Pfeiffer, of the same place, have been notified of her death and will be in attendance at the funeral, which was held from the house on Monday.

TO BAKERS.

The Pure Food law of 1907 and the Sanitary Food law of 1909 define unsanitary conditions as they may exist in food producing and distributing establishments, and provide that all food in the process of manufacture, sale and distribution be securely protected from flies, dust and dirt.

Bread, pastries and other bakers' goods which are not delivered to the consumer at the bakery but which are carried unwrapped to the grocery stores and other distributing stations in wagons, carts or similar conveyances, are not properly protected and the practice is in violation of law.

In order that the sale of bread, pastries and other bakers' goods may be conducted under sanitary conditions and in conformity with the laws of the state, bakers are hereby instructed that on and after July 1, 1910, all such goods, including bread, buns, rolls, biscuits, cakes, crackers, doughnuts, pies, and other bakers' products, must be properly protected while in transit or while displayed for sale.

For the guidance of bakers it is ordered that bread shall be wrapped in suitable wrappers, or placed in suitable bags before being taken from the bakery, and that other goods shall be carried in tight, dustproof boxes or cartons.

This order shall not apply to baker's goods which are sold directly to the consumers at the bakeries where they are made.

County, city and town health officers, state food inspectors and all other officers whose duty it is to enforce the Pure Food and Sanitary Food laws, will be governed by this notice in regulating the operation of bakeries and the sale of bread and bakers' products.

H. E. BARNARD,

State Food and Drug Commissioner.

Miss Emma Cowan of Fort Wayne, who has been the guest of friends at Dunkirk for several days past, returned home this morning and left on the 10 o'clock car.

Terra Haute, Ind., April 22—(Special to Daily Democrat)—Two persons were killed and nine badly injured, five of them fatally today when a Big Four express train ran into an open switch at Sandford, ten miles west of here. The dead are Robert Ely of Mattoon, Illinois, engineer of the passenger train, and H. A. Driscoll of Mattoon, interlocking switchman. Among the injured, those who are believed to be dying, are Harry Gilman, Mattoon, hurt internally and crushed; Harry Clark of Mattoon, lacerated; Sam Moffet, Mattoon, body crushed and internally injured; L. D. Donnelly, Mattoon, body crushed and badly cut; T. D. Griffin, Indianapolis, brakeman on express train, internally hurt. All the injured and the two dead men have been removed to this city. The four other trainmen who are also badly hurt are L. Shipman, Indianapolis, conductor on passenger train; Fred Riley, Mattoon, cut and bruised about the shoulders; Charles E. Jones, Mattoon, internal injuries; Dallas Springate, Mattoon, legs badly cut and bruised. The passenger train was No. 46, and was running thirty-five miles an hour. It left here, westbound, at 4:20. A construction train had taken a siding to permit the passenger train to pass, and it is supposed that through a blunder a switch was left open and No. 46 was switched onto the siding with the terrible results, crashing into the construction train from the rear. The passenger engine was badly wrecked. Engineer Ely was pinned underneath his engine and was scalded to death. The injured men from the construction train were all in the caboose when the crash came. L. R. Donnelly of Mattoon, died in a hospital here this morning. Blame for the open switch is charged against the crew of the westbound freight, which passed fifteen minutes before the wreck. Albert Hunt, aged eight, night agent at Sandford, denies he was told to close the switch. He will testify at the coroner's inquest this afternoon.

Nature itself, with brilliant smiling skies, and all things else agreeable, combined to make the wedding of Miss Lulu Kukulhan and Mr. Henry Fuelling one of the happiest of the year. The ceremony took place Thursday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at the Fuelling church, northeast of the city, and that edifice was thronged with relatives and friends who witnessed the event. The bride procession was a very pretty one—the bride and groom and their attendants, the Misses Minnie Fuelling and Emma Kukulhan—sisters of the bride and groom—and Messrs. Otto Fuelling and Edward Kukulhan—brother and cousin of the bride and groom. Entering the church to the strains of a triumphant wedding march, the procession proceeded to the altar, where the impressive ceremony was pronounced by the pastor, the Rev. Dornseiff. The bride of pleasing personality and appearance, was most beautiful in a frock of white silk, made in tunic effect, with trimming of valenciennes lace. She wore a long tulle veil, caught to her hair with smilax and roses and she carried a shower bouquet of roses. Her maids were gowned in white tissue, and carried bouquets of white and pink carnations. After the church ceremony the wedding party drove to this city in cabs which had been previously adorned by their mischievous friends with placards heralding without all doubt the fact that they were newly-weds, and while they visited the picture gallery here and sat for their photographs, guests to the number of two hundred or more gathered at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Kukulhan, where a sumptuous feast was spread at 6 o'clock and where the festivities continued until late at night, with dancing and other merry-making. The house was beautiful in its decorations of pink and white crepe paper streamers and cut flowers. The supper was served at three large tables decorated with carnations in pink and white and ropes of smilax. Many beautiful presents were received. The bride and groom are representatives of substantial and prominent families of the county, and are deserving of all the good wishes bestowed upon them. The groom is a son of Fred Fuelling. They will be at home on a farm, between this city and Fort Wayne. Among those from this city who attended the wedding were Mrs. Sophia Hobrock, Will and Louise Hobrock, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Niblick, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Niblick, Cal Peterson, Clara Lang, Kate Hennelord, Joseph Kortner, Emma Schlickman.

MARTIN RUPEL WILL PROBATED.

Property Given to Wife During Life, Then to Children Equally.

The will of the late Martin Rupel has been probated in the circuit court. Executed February 2, 1909, it provides that his wife, Priscilla J. Rupel, during her lifetime, shall have a farm of 153 1/2 acres in Jackson township; at her death it is to be divided in equal shares between his children, Permella Updegraff, James A. Rupel, Isaac C. Rupel and Pearl M. Rapp. The wife is given all personal property. All remaining real estate, including a lot in this city, and twelve acres adjoining the city is equally left to this four children above mentioned. His sons, Clark and Charles Rupel, are left one dollar each. His son, Isaac C. Rupel, is made executor.—Portland Commercial-Review.

There will not be a very heavy session of court next week as the docket has been arranged so that the attorneys and officials can get away from Tuesday until Friday to attend the state convention.

Sheriff Meyers Thursday arrested David Warmcastle, who works at the Ernest Fuelling farm, on a charge of provokes, preferred by Charles Bohnke. The two men had some words at a barn raising recently. Warmcastle was taken before Squire Zeigler at Monmouth and plead guilty, paying his fine of $1 and costs, amounting to $3.80.

Emil E. Virol vs. Sophia Virol, divorce case from Allen county, answer filed. Cross-complaint filed by defendant. Application filed for an allowance by defendant.

The Arbuckle-Ryan Company vs. David L. Marchand et al, note and foreclosure. Evidence heard. Finding that there is due Margaret Scherry, from Marchand, $1,044.92, and that it is first lien. Finding also for plaintiff for $2,050. Judgment and foreclosure.

JUDGE MOCK AND HIS VIOLIN.

Celebrated His Seventy-Fourth Birthday in Usual Manner.

Judge Levi Mock serenaded residents of East Washington street last evening and other neighbors in the east part of the city with selections on his violin. He explained that it was his seventy-fourth birthday anniversary, and that he had made it a custom to serenade the favored neighbors mentioned above on every tenth birthday. He said, however, that the city has built up so much in that section that he cannot serenade every house as he did in former years.

He has serenaded in the same way every ten years since 1870. Last evening he received quite a collection of eatables, drinkables and amokables as the fruits of his prowess. One hand has been seriously affected with poison for several weeks and for a time it appeared that he might not be able to use his fingers for a serenade on his birthday. He has made good progress toward recovery in the last few days, however, and most of the poison has been killed.—Bluffton News.

County Treasurer Yager is worried over the business in his office for next week and he is unable to figure out just exactly how he is going to be able to handle it. With only about a week for this important duty there remains unpaid nearly $160,000. According to this it will have to come in mighty fast next week unless a great many are expecting to pay the penalty necessary if the taxes go delinquent.

Alice M. Storer vs. George Epstein, note, $275, rule to answer made absolute in five days. The case was sent here from Jay county on change of venue.

Sue H. Kirk, administratrix of the George Hartman estate at Geneva, filed additional bond of $12,000, making a total bond of $32,000. An inventory has been filed.

Real estate transfers: Anna E. King to Peter Bauman, 1 acre, Wabash tp., $100; Mathew Blocker to Anna Brown, lot 66, Ceylon, $450; Alexander Bolds et al. to Daniel P. Bolds et al., 80 acres, Hartford tp., $7200.

Miss Ada Cowan stopped off here enroute to her home at Fort Wayne from Dunkirk this morning. She was the guest while here of May and Ethel Rex.
