The happiest, brightest and best week in the history of the city and county is closing today, with a burst of splendor. The number of visitors in the city for the entire time cannot be estimated. Some came for a day or two and departed, their places being filled by later arrivals. There were many thousands on the streets every day, and every hour and minute were grand reunions for hundreds who have been separated for years and months.

The entire six days were one round of pleasure after another, and even Friday, the one rainy day of the week, brought in a crowd that rivaled the others. There was much rejoicing this morning, when it was seen that the clouds had given away to sunshine, and that the close of the festivities would be unmarred by the least bit of gloom. Many of the Home-comers will remain over for week-end visits and the Sunday will see many reunions.

By noon today the official register at the library, in charge of Miss Bertha Heller, showed between eleven hundred and twelve hundred names. This number included only those who may be called "strictly home-comers" those who at one time resided here and who are now living out of the county. It is expected that the close of the week will see at least fifteen hundred registered. By noon Thursday the supply of one thousand blue badges provided by the Home committee for the visitors who registered, was exhausted, and it is necessary to use the white badges of the reception committee for the later registry.

Exhausted by the continuous round of festivity, or finding it necessary to stay at home to arrange the order of events for the coming Sabbath, the streets showed the smallest crowds of the week this morning, but with the afternoon, came hosts of arrivals and this evening will probably be one of the greatest of the week. The balloon races and parachute drops, as well as the high wire walking and performances given by Herr Granada and Podora, which were deferred Friday on account of the rain, were given this afternoon. Both the Blue Creek and Pleasant Ridge bands were here bright and early this morning to add to the festivity.

The Horse Show Prizes.

The horse show and the parade held Friday by the many farmers of the county was one of the most successful events ever pulled off here. Due entirely to the progressive farmers of this county the event was one of interest to all the visitors to our city. And, too, when it is known that every prize, except two, in the whole series of classes, were captured by Adams county farmers some idea may be obtained of the importance of the Adams county farmer in the horse business of this state. Prominent horsemen from all over the state say, and say it earnestly, that they have never seen a better grade of horses in such quantities as was exhibited here Friday. That means that Adams county is the best horse producing county in the state, and Decatur, of course, is the best, and biggest horse market in the middle west. We have a reputation and we uphold it Friday. The prizes awarded were:

Best Trimmed Turnout—Jas. Rice. Entertainment Appreciated. D. J. Abers of Tucumcari, N. M., who, with James Stoops, claim to be the first arrivals for Home-coming, gives us the following words of good appreciation, and makes us feel that our efforts have not been in vain: "We who have been entertained desire to express our appreciation of the royal welcome accorded us. The strains of music may vanish like the receding echoes in the cliffs; the tumult and noise of rejoicing may cease in the streets, but our hearts by the true welcome, will perpetuate a current of friendships that shall be enduring and co-extensive with our lives. By way of contrast we have known cities numbering three hundred thousand inhabitants and possessing facilities of ancient as well as modern times, such as parks, hotels, auditoriums, transportation boulevards, and shady drives, that entertained larger crowds of people. Decatur is not ancient in any sense. Aside from the business street it is all park. There is nothing ancient here. We take pleasure in expressing our appreciation of the youthful appearance and sprightly step characteristic of her people. The entire program of entertainment was unique. Business went on in the usual orderly way and whenever one might drop in wearing the blue badge there was a welcome and an inquiring such as the old patriarch Jacob made of his sons regarding Joseph, whom he had not seen for many long years. We have not heard of a single instance occurring illustrative of the return of the Prodigal, of whom it was said by a minister of the gospel that he was destitute of apparel except his wrist bands and a shirt collar."

Sends a Greeting.

At the reception given for their visiting members, the German Reformed church heard read from their former pastor, the Rev. Henry W. Vitz, now of Indianapolis, the following letter of greeting, which is of general interest:

When we first heard of the great Home-coming inaugurated by the wide-awake citizens of Adams county's main city, we anticipated a most pleasant and happy reunion, for we had considered it as self-evident to be there. Each invitation received, every word heard or read on the great jubilee, quickened the pulsation of the heart, intensified the soul's longing to be there, so that we could in fact say, we were homesick. As the date of the celebration approached we could not check this peculiar affliction of the heart, for memory has been aroused from its sleep and the past has been brought to the present. When we awake in the morning our thoughts are with Decatur, its home and friendship ties, and as the king of the day continues on his journey to the dusk of night there ever passes before our mind as the shadows of a reel upon a screen the memories of various experiences enjoyed and endured, while we were permitted to enjoy the citizenship of that beautiful and thrifty city on the banks of the St. Mary's river. It is therefore with sincere regret, that we are by circumstances compelled to notify you of our inability to be present at, and to participate in the jubilee of your beloved city. May the above words assure you, however, that we shall be with you in spirit. It is self-evident that our best wishes accompany these for this occasion and reason and As we understand those of the Reformed church will meet in their place of worship on Thursday evening. Since we have served this congregation from 1885 to 1897, we would for this occasion and reason send them special greetings. We have learned of your going forward, your growing in strength both spiritually and numerically and that you are making yourself more worthy of the name you bear, at real Zion, according to the Scriptures. The friendly relationship between the various denominations, which existed in our time is as we have been informed, still upheld. The Reformed church has a good confession, nevertheless true to our tradition, we can shake hands with our neighbor over the fence we therefore extend our greetings to all the churches of Decatur and may they all through the preaching of the word be a power unto salvation to those who believe.

Wishing the city and its citizens, the county of Adams and its people God's blessing in things secular as well as spiritual, we remain

Sincerely yours,

HENRY W. VITZ.
P. S.—Mrs. Vitz joins us in congratulations and best wishes for Decatur.

The Oldest Home-Comer.

Undoubtedly the oldest Home-comer is Grandma Gaffer of Fort Wayne, who is now in her ninety-fourth year. Grandma formerly lived here for thirty years or more, but for the past four years has lived with her son, Michael, in Fort Wayne. While here, she is the guest of her son, Peter Gaffer. Grandma still enjoys good health. She is a devoted Catholic and able to attend all the services of her church, going with a step as spry as many a younger one.

One of the very pleasant social events of Friday was a luncheon given by Mrs. C. A. Dugan to the visitors. Those invited were Mrs. Harry Deam of Chicago, Mrs. W. H. Nachtrieb of Goshen, Mrs. F. L. DeVilbiss of Detroit, Mrs. G. H. Myers of Bloomington, Ill.; Mrs. J. L. Fulton of Portland; Mrs. Ellingham and Mrs. Smith of Indianapolis, Mrs. H. P. Moses and Mrs. Harding of Fort Wayne, Mrs. F. France of Muskogee, Okla.; Mrs. Etta Rosebough, Huntington, Mrs. Robert Meyers, Columbus, Ohio, and Mrs. John Heller, Mrs. J. W. Tyndall, Mrs. J. C. Patterson, Mrs. S. N. Dorwin and Mrs. Eli Meyers. Miss Dorothy Dugan and her guest, Miss Winifred Ellingham, assisted Mrs. Dugan during the luncheon. In the afternoon the crowd repaired to the home of Mrs. J. C. Patterson, where they witnessed the afternoon parade and had a general good time.

Weddings of two prominent Decatur couples are among the events of the coming week. The wedding of Miss Edith Smith, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Smith, to Mr. Will P. Schrock, will take place Tuesday, October 22nd. That of Miss Frances Merryman, daughter of Judge and Mrs. J. T. Merryman, to Mr. Avon Burke, will be Wednesday, October 23.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Baxter entertained as Home-week friends the following: N. B. Wood, Jackson, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. John Yaney, Coldwater, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Wagers, Rockford, Ohio; Mrs. George Dustman, Rockford, Ohio; Mrs. Mary Ellen Dustman, Rockford, Ohio; Mrs. E. Pence, Wren, Ohio; Miss Pearl Pence, Wren, Ohio; Mrs. Annis Merica, Mrs. Jonas Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. Orla Ritter and son, Leon, of south of city.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Miller and daughter, Effie had as guests during home-week, Miss Flora Peters of Ft. Wayne, the Misses Glee White and Leah Geisler of Willshire, Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Miller, Bud Hayes and Miss Mildred Small of Rockford, O.

Miss Pearl McGill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George H. McGill, and Mr. Stanley Koon, of Fort Wayne, were quietly married yesterday afternoon at four o'clock at the Methodist parsonage, by the Rev. R. L. Semans. The bride is well known here but for some time has been employed at the Fort Wayne Electric Light works. The couple will live in Fort Wayne where the groom is employed on the street car line.

Henry Krick and William Johnson, judges of the wagons in the beet wagon parade of Tuesday, have announced the winners of the prizes. These were given for the most artistically arranged load of beets. Julius Heidemann was adjudged the winner of the first prize, five dollars in cash. A co-incident is that Mr. Heidemann's contract with the company is numbered one. His wagon, among other pretty features, bore the motto, "Decatur Can and Will," and also the name of the company that established the sugar plant, "The Holland-St. Louis Sugar Company." The Wallingford company came in with the second prize of $3. For the third prize, E. O. Osterman and Rose Harden tied and each was given $2. Andrew Mickey, a beet worker on the Feichter farm in Wells county, carried off the honors for raising the largest beet, and was awarded $1. The beet weighed thirteen and a half pounds.

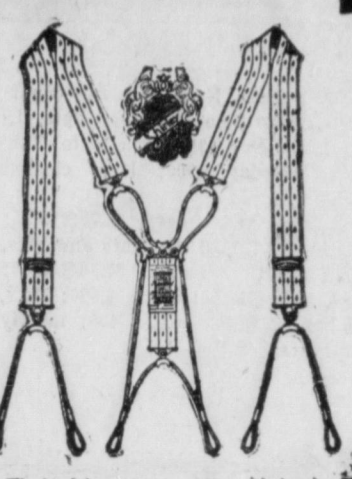

The "woman" who was "kidnapped" Thursday night on Madison street by three men, who picked "her" up and ran west with "her," to the G. R. & I. railroad, wore a red coat. So did the delegation of New Corydon band boys—the Modern Woodmen of America band—which furnished music here during the day and returned home on the night train. Piecing things together, and being unable to solve the mystery otherwise, the populace is inclined to think they were the victims of a practical joke—a joke either intended for the citizens here or for the red-coated band boy who was picked up by his comrades and hurried away. Anyhow the old town was stirred up to a high pitch for some time and the Jefferson township band boys who claimed to have seen the party proceed west across the G. R. & I. railroad, were wise enough to direct the posse of fifty men on the trail of the abductors in that direction until they had time to board their train for home.

W. H. Wilken. He is in a class by himself, and the best we have ever heard. Dressed as a farmer of the old days when "rubes" were in style, he tells the people who listen to him, and he always has a crowd, about the cutest story of where to buy the best goods for the least money, that you ever heard. If you haven't taken time to hear him, you have really missed something and the merchants who employed him deserve credit for doing something that helped the celebration. He carries out the part all the time, is good natured and has the ability. No week of amusement is complete without this fun-maker.
