Major General Miles on Coast Defences.

Major General Nelson A. Miles, commanding the army, accompanied by Capt. F. Michler, of his staff, recently appeared before the Senate committee on coast defences. He stated that he had examined Senator Squire's bill and approved its provisions. It was absolutely necessary, he said that appropriations be made for the protection of the seacoast cities of the United States. The only places where provision had been made for any considerable defence were at New York, San Francisco, and Boston, and the defences at those places were entirely inadequate and insufficient. He recommended the immediate increase of the artillery by two regiments, or at least 2,000 men. The entire cost of coast defence fortifications for adequate protection of the country he estimated at about $80,000,000.

Engine Falls Between Wharf and Ferry Boat.

San Francisco special: At the Northern Pacific Coast Railway company's wharf, in Sausalito, while the engine and tender were being put on board the ferry, the apron connecting the ferry boat and slip gave way and the engine and tender plunged downward between the end of the boat and the wharf. Fireman Williams leaped from the tender and landed in the bay. He was badly cut by the timbers he encountered in his jump, but was rescued. Engineer Turner went down with his engine and was either mangled to death or drowned. His body has not yet been recovered.

A Mob Beaten Off at Sullivan, Ind., By a Plucky Sheriff.

Sullivan (Ind.) special: A mob endeavored to lynch Grant Atterbury, who is under arrest on a charge of assaulting his sister-in-law, but was driven off by the Sheriff. The door of the jail was broken down and an entrance forced. The Sheriff confronted the mob and threatened to kill the first man who came upstairs towards the cell room. The mob halted and finally withdrew, but threatened to return within twenty-four hours. Atterbury strongly asserts his innocence and the only evidence against him is that bloodhounds followed a trail to his house.

A Sad Accident.

At Pittsburg, Penn., Nora Steele, aged 2 years, while lying in her crib, kicked over a stand on which was a lighted carbon oil lamp. When the lamp struck the floor it exploded and threw burning oil about the room. The place immediately took fire. Before Mrs. Steele could rescue her children little Nora, was crawling over the excitement she had created, while 5-year-old sister Mary, was burned to death. Mrs. Steele, mother of the children, was fatally burned. Two other children were saved by being thrown from a window.

Double Killing.

A double killing occurred at Shofers Lake, Andrews County, Texas. Crick Atmore and Willis Mason quarreled over a section of school land both wanted, and came to blows after which both went home, got Winchester rifles and went on a hunt for each other. They met on the bank of Shofers Lake, simultaneously fired, and both shots took effect. Atmore was shot in the head, dying instantly, and Mason was shot in the body, dying in less than an hour.

Instantly Killed.

Andrew McGoughan, who leaves a wife and five children, and George Thorne, who leaves a wife and eight children, were instantly killed by express train No. 8 on the Fort Wayne road, while walking to their homes at Youngstown Hill, Ohio, from Massillon. Both men were miners and had been drinking heavily. They were shockingly mangled.

Final Settlement of the Armenian Question.

St. Petersburg special: Notable arrangements point to a conclusion between Russia, Great Britain, France and Italy for a final settlement of the Armenian question. These include Russia's occupation and administration of Anatolia and the purchase of Cyprus by Great Britain.

Carried a Bridge Away.

The ice gorge in the Maumee River, about eight miles above Toledo, broke, and in running out carried two spans of the new bridge in course of construction. The bridge was supported by a trestle-work on the ice, and the loss is estimated at $50,000. The ice in the tributary river is running to the lake, but no serious damage is expected.

Sheep Going Mad.

Messrs. James Burnside and Walker Brothers, two prominent farmers of Garrard County, Ky., report that a number of their sheep have hydrophobia and attack each other and persons riding in the fields. Several mad dogs were killed in this locality, recently, and it is supposed that they bit the sheep.

Cursed His God.

Raus Smith, died in the Lexington, Ky., Asylum recently. He was a large cultivator of watermelons, but some years ago his crop failed, and it is alleged, that he went about cursing God Almighty. Since then his crops never amounted to anything, and he finally lost his mind.

Off for Cuba.

Cadiz special: Gen. Weyler, the newly appointed captain general of Cuba, has sailed hence for Havana. He was accompanied by Generals Ahumada, Barges, Ochando, Bernal, Arolas and Melguzo.

TERRELL ANSWERED.

Red Cross as a Society Will Not Be Admitted to Turkey.

Secretary Olney has received from Mr. Terrell, the United States Minister at Constantinople, a cablegram saying that while the porte refuses permission to the Red Cross, or to members of the Red Cross, as such, to distribute relief in Armenia, and thereby declines to officially recognize that society, it will permit any persons whom Mr. Terrell names and approves, to distribute relief in the interior of Turkey, provided the Turkish authorities are kept informed of what they are doing.

This concession of the Turkish government materially simplifies the Armenian situation with regard to the efforts of Miss Clara Barton and her assistants to furnish food and clothing to the suffering people in the perturbed districts. In the discretionary power given Minister Terrell to name persons to make the distribution, the minister will undoubtedly designate Miss Barton and the members of her party now on their way to Southampton, but under the stipulation of the porte they must perform their mission as private individuals and not in any sense representing the humane society to which they belong. No insignia of the Red Cross can be carried into Turkey. The Turkish branch of the society has the crescent as its emblem.

Blown to Atoms.

Samuel Angel started from St. Mary's, Ohio, with a team of horses, carrying 250 pounds of nitroglycerin. In thirty minutes after his departure every house in the town was shaken, shattering glass in every direction. The accident probably occurred while unloading at the store house, and such was the tremendous force of the explosion that not a whole brick of which the building was constructed was found. In every direction for 600 feet the ground was colored a reddish hue from the powdered brick. Trees are stripped of their limbs, and what few remain are ghostly reminders of the frightful occurrence, as bits of human and horse flesh, as well as parts of blankets, harness, and other small articles are hanging from them fully sixty feet from the ground. Not a piece so large as a hand can be found of either man or animals, except the head of one horse.

The Business World.

R. G. Dun & Co's Review of Trade says: The week has been marked by improvement apparent rather than real. Prices for home products have risen only because the supplies are believed smaller than expected. The Senate still injures all business by doing nothing. The treasury cannot expect a gain in gold as yet but the losses are less than expected. It is generally assumed the new loan will be placed without difficulty though successive payments may cause continued disturbances. A deluge of foreign reports favorable to wheat speculation found ready answer in an advance of over 5 cents in New York despite western receipts were 50 per cent. larger than last year.

Gen. Garcia on His Way to Cuba.

Philadelphia special: It is stated in this city, from what is considered an authoritative source, that General Garcia, the most distinguished Cuban General now outside of Cuba, sailed from this port last week on board the fruit steamer Bernard, bound for Cuba, and that he will land there with the most formidable expedition that has ever left this country. It is said he will take command of the expedition on the high seas, where he will meet the fruit steamer Jasof, with over 500 men and a large quantity of arms and ammunition on board. General Gomez has been kept thoroughly informed of the movements of the expedition.

Brakes Didn't Work.

Eight persons had a narrow escape from instant death at the Asylum street crossing of the Southern Railway and Knoxville, Tenn. The motorman lost control of his car, which dashed at frightful speed down an incline and collided with a switch engine. Mr. F. B. Davis was injured internally, probably fatally. The others badly injured were Mrs. Tombley, Mrs. David Gettys, Mrs. Gorton, David Keislin conductor D. L. Branch and motorman Robert Munday. The car was totally wrecked. The accident was entirely unavoidable, as the brakes were not working.

Horrible Mine Disaster.

Cardiff (Wales) special: A terrible explosion has taken place in a colliery at Tylerstown, near this place. The shafts were shattered and the whole town was shaken by the tremendous concussion, causing a scene of wild excitement. Fifty-four miners were below the surface when the explosion took place, and although several of them have reached the surface with the dead body of one of their companions, it is supposed that nearly all of the remainder were killed. Rescue parties have been hurried to the scene, but their work is very dangerous owing to the fact that the pit is on fire.

Whole Family Drowned.

Ft. Worth (Texas) special: News was received here of the drowning of an entire family in Prairie Dog Fork of the Red River, in Randall County. Joe Wycker, wife and two children attempted to ford the stream in a covered wagon. The father attempted to swim ashore with one child on his back, but he sank to the bottom, and both he and the child were drowned. The mother and other child remained in the wagon until it was overturned, and both were also drowned. Another family in a second wagon turned back in time to save themselves, but could give no assistance to the Wyckers.

Sisters of Mercy Injured.

An electric car on the Jefferson avenue line at St. Louis, collided with a barouche conveying five Sisters of Mercy, on the Jefferson avenue bridge, and four of the nuns and the driver of the carriage were seriously injured. The sisters who were injured are: Sisters Barbara, Germania, Evaline, Alphonsine and Faigenta. Their injuries are not regarded as fatal. The driver of the barouche, James Fagan, is not seriously injured. The motor man of the electric car is held responsible for the accident.

Wrecked at Sea.

Gloucester (Mass.) special: John F. Womson & Co., owners, have formally announced that they have given up as lost the schooner John W. Bray and crew of fourteen men. The John W. Bray sailed from this port, November 19, for a four weeks' trip to the fishing banks, and since that date has not been sighted, nor has any word been heard from her. It is believed she was wrecked by the fierce gales of December 11 and 12. Her captain was Alexander McCleed of Cape Breton.

Gen. Gomez Hard Pushed.

Havana special: Besides Gomez's sickness, he is sharply pushed by the Spanish troops, getting no rest day or night. His movements now are marked by a trail of tired-out or lame horses which the insurgenes leave behind them. The opinion is expressed here that the insurgents are in desperate straits, and that for Gomez everything depends upon the safe arrival in the province of Havana of the eastern or second army of the insurgents under Gen. Jose Maceo and Rabi.

Ghouls' Work.

There is much excitement at Allisonville, Ind., ten miles north of Indianapolis, over the desecration of the grave of Mrs. Ann Cory. It appears that within six hours after burial the body was stolen. The grave was open, the casket taken out and broken open and the body removed, and the casket not even replaced in the grave. The relatives of the dead woman and the citizens of Allisonville will spare no pains or expense to run the offenders to ground.

Crooked Transactions.

Guthrie (Oklahoma) special: The latest developments in the United States Marshal's office investigation, shows that thousands of dollars were secured on false vouchers and forged fee bills by the deputies, and other sensational features. It is now certain that several of the judges and district clerks and half a dozen United States Commissioners will be involved and the inspector's report will create a sensation. The frauds may create a National scandal.

Prisoners Walk Out.

Harry Madden, Reus Lambert and John Hess broke jail at Greensburg, Ind. The jailer and Sheriff were at North Vernon, and left the prisoners in charge of a servant girl, who, after giving them their dinner, forgot to turn the combination lock on the main door. When she had gone the three prisoners named walked out, and have not yet been caught.

Shot the Scorekeeper.

Near Duval's Station, Ohio, at a shooting match, Martin Dolby accidentally shot and instantly killed Ira Reed, 21 years old, who was keeping the score. Mr. Dolby had just loaded his shotgun and laid it over his left arm, the muzzle being near Reed's head when it was discharged, blowing off the entire top of Mr. Reed's head.

Saved From a Mob.

Albert Tollis was lodged in jail at Fowler, Ind., by Sheriff Morgan, of Newton County, and a posse of deputies. Tollis is charged with having choked his own child to death, and was taken to Fowler to escape the vengeance of a mob, which threatened to storm the Newton County Jail at Kentland and lynch him.

Scanlan Dying.

William J. Scanlan, who was probably the most popular romantic Irish comedian and vocalist the American stage has ever known, is lying in the Bloomingdale Insane Asylum, in White Plains, New York, at the point of death. He has reached a state of total paralytic collapse, and his death cannot be far off.

"Skating in Hell."

Blaine Lynch, 18 years of age, committed suicide at Danville, Ill., by jumping down a coal shaft 200 feet deep. He had been caught robbing his father's store. At the top of the shaft was found a note which said: "You will find my body at the bottom of the shaft, and I will meet you skating in hell."

A Fight in a Tree.

Near Kennedy, Lamar County, Ala., James Runyon and Robert Young climbed a high tree for an opossum. On the same limb, 40 feet from the ground, they quarreled. Runyon pushed Young off the limb, but was pulled off with him. Both lived just long enough to tell how it happened.

Still Hesitates.

In spite of the urgent representations of the United States Minister, Alexander W. Terrell, the Turkish government still hesitates to accord permission to the American Red Cross Society to distribute relief to the sufferers in Anatolia.

The Flying Squadron.

London special: It is announced that the new flying squadron of British war ships now assembled off Berhaven, Bantry Bay, on the south coast of Ireland, will not sail until after the arrival of the remains of Prince Henry of Battenberg.

Revenue Cutters for the Lakes.

In the senate Mr. McMillan made a favorable report on the bill providing for additional revenue cutters. There are to be two for the great lakes, two for the Pacific coast and one each for the gulf and New York.

Shot His Companion.

While rabbit hunting near Washington, Ind., William Veale, aged 14, received the entire load of his companion's shot-gun in his hip by the accidental discharge of the firearm. He is thought to be in a critical condition.

CUBA MAY BE FREE.

HOW SPAIN'S RECALL OF CAMPOS IS REGARDED.

The Veteran Spanish General Is Surprised by a Man Who Is Deeply Hated for His Former Cruelty on the Island.

Situation Is Serious.

Cuba may be free! The recall of Gen. Martinez Campos by the Spanish Government and his replacement by Gen. Weyler is a strong indication that the situation on the island is critical and that the insurgents are stronger than the Spanish authorities hitherto admitted.

On the outbreak of the revolution it was intimated by Spain that the disturbance was merely local and that a few months would see the end of the trouble. But the revolutionists gained strength every day, and then Spain decided to send her veteran and most experienced general, Campos, to take command of affairs on the island.

He was given absolute authority to call upon all the troops needed and ever since the bravest and the best of the soldiers of Spain have been sent to the unfortunate island. Gen. Campos announced that he would quell the rebellion in three months. He had subdued the former rebellion of ten years—1868-78—and his announcement was accordingly regarded as well founded. But the three months elapsed and Gen. Campos had made no progress. On the contrary the insurgents were making headway, forcing their way each week a little nearer to the political capital, Havana. Then Campos said that winter would see the end of the revolution. Winter in Cuba, which means the rainy season, has come, but the insurgents, instead of Campos, made progress. They forced their way over six strategic lines of defense established by Campos and a week ago appeared within striking distance of Havana. This startled the Spanish Government and it has just resolved upon a change of leaders. Gen. Campos is recalled and Gen. Weyler, a man who made himself notorious during the last rebellion in Cuba for his cruelty, is appointed to take his place and will sail from Spain today. Gen. Weyler says that he will not follow the more or less humanitarian tactics of Campos, but will meet warfare with warfare. With spies and persons aiding the insurgents he will be inexorable; to those who lay down their arms he will show clemency. He will at once endeavor so completely to blockade the coast as to prevent the further importation of arms and munitions. Gen. Weyler says emphatically that in his course he will be merciless, but just. He is of the opinion that two months ago it would have been easy to have dealt the rebellion a death blow; now he fears it will be more difficult owing to the strength the movement has gained and the losses suffered by the Spanish army. Spain is still sending reinforcements to Cuba, and soon 18,000 more men will leave Spain for the seat of war.

At first it was supposed that Gen. Campos had resigned, but it is now known that the Government removed him, purely, as Campos himself says, because he was not cruel enough and spoke of conciliating the rebels instead of butchering them. He now believes that Cuba is lost to Spain and all through the political parties in Spain, who thought to frame a policy for the island, ignorant of the conditions there existing. The politicians in Madrid wanted a butcher in the field and probably have secured one in the person of Gen. Weyler.

Over the change of generals the Cuban patriots rejoice, for they believe Campos to be an abler commander than Weyler, while the enemies of the latter will alienate those now friendly to the Spanish cause. In any case it is not likely that Weyler will make any greater headway than Campos against the insurgents, led by the veteran warrior, Maximo Gomez. The latter is one of the ablest military leaders of his time—a man of iron nerve and astute judgment. He has led the insurgents victoriously from one end of the island to the gates of Havana, 400 miles distant, and this in the face of a soldiery, greater in numbers and better equipped than the patriots. When Weyler accented him he will meet a veteran, acquainted not alone with the science of warfare, but with every pass and road and vantage point on the island.

BUNYON PASSES AWAY.

Heart Failure the Cause of His Sudden and Unexpected Death.

The Hon. Theodore Runyon, United States ambassador to Germany, expired in Berlin suddenly and unexpectedly at 1 o'clock Monday morning of heart failure. Mr. Runyon had been in somewhat feeble health for some time past, but no immediately fatal results were anticipated. He was present at a dinner given in his honor by ex-Empress Frederick, mother of Emperor William. Last summer he had planned to make an extended trip through Norway, but on the advice of his physician he abandoned this trip, and instead went to Carlsbad, where he took the cure. He subsequently went to Axenstein, in Switzerland, for the purpose of taking an after-cure. Since that time, however, he has manifested great activity in the discharge of the duties of his office, which have been more than usually onerous on account of the complications in European affairs, and have more or less discouraged that I had given up the thought of ever being any better, as after every attack I was so much weaker and more helpless. It seems almost a miracle to me that after trying so many remedies that your medicine should have helped me so much. I can now walk quite a distance without getting very tired, and the bunch on my back is much smaller than it was."

"I can furnish plenty of proof that these statements are all true from friends who have seen me suffer and know just how helpless I was when I commenced using your medicine. I have used in all thirty-two boxes. I am perfectly willing to tell what has helped me and have recommended your pills to several persons who are now using them. I do not believe I would have been alive now had it not been for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and am very thankful that there is such a medicine, for they have helped me when everything else failed."

Respectfully,

MRS. J. S. FLOWERS.

A Smoker's Stratagem.

The editor of the Melbourne Spectator, the Rev. Lorimer Fison, is a Wesleyan with a backbone and a considerable amount of humor. He edits the paper with his coat and boots off and a great pipe in his mouth. He relates that just before his ordination he was sent for by the Board of Examiners.

"Mr. Fison," said one of the board, "your papers are excellent, but there is one thing we object to."

Fison asked what it was.

"You are addicted to the evil habit of smoking."

Fison explained that he saw no evil in it, but, taking a large plug from his pocket, said: "In deference to your opinion, gentlemen, I promise you this: as soon as I have smoked the plug I hold in my hand I will cease smoking forever."

They were satisfied, and he was ordained the next day.

But, as he refills the big pipe, he chuckles and tells you: "I have kept my word—I've got that very plug yet."

Polite Japanese Boys and Girls.

"In Japan I visited several schools," says a writer in the Cincinnati Tribune, "and I must admit I never saw such a nice lot of children. Their politeness is wonderful and gains for them the admiration of all the strangers who visit them. As soon as I entered the school the little boys and girls stood up and inclined their heads Japanese fashion to salute me. In answer to various questions they replied without bashfulness, but with an air showing how they appreciated the honor of being visited."

Timber for South Africa.

As wood is largely wanting in the Australian gold fields several steamers are now engaged in carrying timber from the Pacific coast for use in Australian mines. The steamships carrying from 2,000,000 to 2,500,000 feet each. The wood is California pine and fir.

In many nations it has been believed that an individual bitten by a dog may cure himself by placing three of the dog's hairs on the wound. The idea is expressed in the English proverb: "The hair of the dog is good for the bite."

The Serum Diphtheria Treatment.

In Germany 6,626 cases of diphtheria have been treated by serum inoculation, 2,460 of them in hospitals, according to a report of the government's medical department. Of these 86.5 per cent. recovered, 12.9 per cent. died and the rest were still under treatment.

"Thought you said your friends were a unit?" "I was right about it, too," answered the defeated one; "I got just one vote."

RESULTS OF MALARIAL AND TYPHOID FEVER.

A Case Cited in Three Oaks, Mich., Will Interest Delicate Women.

The Effects of the Fever Were Felt in the Weakest Spots.

A WARNING TO MOTHERS.

From the Press, Three Oaks, Mich.

Out at Three Oaks, Mich., lives Mrs. J. S. Flowers, from whom we publish part of a most interesting letter. The first part of the letter was taken up with a description of her sufferings as a result of malarial and typhoid fevers. These fevers, she says, were the most interesting, however, followed and it will interest many women, particularly mothers of young daughters.

"I had also been a sufferer for several years with painful menstruation. Every time I would have to lie down most of the time, as it was impossible for me to stand. At last, as a result of this malarial and typhoid fevers, I was cured. Every time they should come, I would cramp and would have to use hot applications, and would take hot sittings, and every known remedy, but of no avail. After using Pink Pills two months the cramps went on without any more trouble. I had been two years since then had been any color. The doctors said it might be the turn of life, but as I was too young only thirty-three, he thought it strange it was. Now I am just as anyone should be at those times."

"Another trouble I had was a weak stomach from a child. Every little while I would have bad vomiting spells, consequently the doctors found me a very impatient to treat. My physician said I had spent more time in studying my case than that of any patient he ever had. Several physicians advised me to use an electric battery. We got one and I used it for some time before I commenced using the pills, and continued it for some time after I began using them, but I found I could get along as well without it and just depended on the pills."

"When I commenced using them I was so discouraged that I had given up the thought of ever being any better, as after every attack I was so much weaker and more helpless. It seems almost a miracle to me that after trying so many remedies that your medicine should have helped me so much. I can now walk quite a distance without getting very tired, and the bunch on my back is much smaller than it was."

"I can furnish plenty of proof that these statements are all true from friends who have seen me suffer and know just how helpless I was when I commenced using your medicine. I have used in all thirty-two boxes. I am perfectly willing to tell what has helped me and have recommended your pills to several persons who are now using them.
