The first real sign of spring is apparent—the genuine American hobo is abroad, and each evening our jail has the honor of entertaining several of these poor but distinguished gentlemen. Last night two standard tramps slumbered there and the evening previous six strange faces were noticeable.

L. C. Waring has recovered from the slight indisposition under which he has been laboring for a week or so.

The meetings at the Methodist church are still continuing, and the interest is becoming even more manifest.

The township assessors begin their labors the first of next month thirty days earlier than formerly, and in consequence thereof, it is time to kill the dogs.

Judge Smith has postponed the date of passing sentence on John Terrell until next week. This was to have been done today but Terrell's serious condition of mind prevented it.

Jacob Stout of Bluffton has applied for license for a saloon at Ponto, at which place there is a strong feeling against saloons, and against which strong resentment will be made.

The sale of personal property belonging to Joe Osborne together with his interest in Union township jointly, will be offered at public sale tomorrow at the farm. The sale is of rather large proportions and will doubtless be well attended.
