The Daily Democrat yesterday was the only newspaper in this end of the district that gave the election figures anything near correct. It is just as we expected though.

L. E. Roush is slated for the Bluffton postoffice by some of the wise ones. He may do for Bluffton—they are a little slow you know—but Decatur intends that a democrat shall succeed the present postmaster.

Randolph county indorsed Theodore Shockney by giving a majority of 558 for M. M. Dunlap for congress. One of the most insignificant features of this was the fact that Winchester precincts in which live State Chairman Goodrich, Judge Marsh and Judge Macy and in which these gentlemen led the fight personally for Cromer the majority is heaviest for Dunlap. NEWS FROM THE STATE CAPITAL

Indianapolis, March 3.—Congressman E. D. Crumpacker of the Tenth is paying a rather mysterious visit to Indianapolis at this time. He has held conferences at the Claypool hotel with some of his lieutenants and it is hinted that he is trying to find out some inside information on the political situation with especial reference to his chances of succeeding Senator Fairbanks if the latter is elected vice-president. He said that he did not have any announcements to make and that while he does not think that Senator Fairbanks is a candidate for the vice-presidential nomination that he certainly feels that he will be nominated. Crumpacker has recently come to the front as one of the strong advocates of President Roosevelt. He will be renominated in his district without the slightest opposition.

The Republican state committee will have an interesting meeting here tomorrow at which the date for the state convention will be determined. There is no doubt but that there is some friction among the candidates as to when it should be held. Hanly and his boomers want it early as they feel they are now way in the lead. On the other hand a statement has been credited to Judge Penfield that give him enough time and he would certainly win. It is also said that Taylor, Sayre and several others are in favor of waiting until the middle of May at least. There is some prospect that the original dates considered—April 29 and 31—will not be selected out of deference to the wishes of members of congress who think the session may adjourn by May 1. So if the convention is held after that date there will be no occasion for them to make an extra round trip between here and Washington.

will now undertake to run for governor.—Portland Commercial Review.

The eleventh district congressional convention will occur Tuesday March 29. This will also prove a red letter convention, Major Steele having already announced his intention of contesting with Fred Landis for the coveted nomination.

Hon. I. P. Watts who for some years has had a hankering to go to congress, has done the next best thing by receiving the nomination in Randolph county for state representative. He can practice on this a while and if Cromer gets tired, we will have Shockney train him for the big show.

Now comes the cruel announcement that Edward C. DeHority, cashier and director of the First National Bank of Elwood, has consented to allow his name to be announced as a candidate for the democratic nomination for congress in this district. One of the alluring advantages is said to be that he is already "dirty" with campaign assessments.

The Eighth district primary election for congress resulted in the election of Boss Cromer by about 1700 majority. The total vote at the primary in Cromer's county, Delaware, was 7,485, although the republican vote in the county two years ago, was only 7,064. Eighth district republicans are so thoroughly disorganized that a democratic successor to Mr. Cromer is a possibility—if not a probability.—Huntington Herald (Rep.)

"A Model Wife."

Dr. Willits lecture, "A Model Wife" at Bosse's opera house Friday night is sure to be the best event of this kind of the year. It is useless for us to give space to his many good qualities for his reputation is world wide. He is called Apostle of "Sunshine," and Decatur people know he is all that is claimed for him.

The Republicans of the Sixth congressional district held two conventions at Shelbyville today. The one in the morning renominated Representative James E. Watson of Rushville, who was not opposed. He was present and made a rousing speech. It is said that he is growing in popularity in his district and that he has been greatly strengthened with his constituents by reason of his appointment as a member of the committee on ways and means. The convention this afternoon was for the purpose of electing two delegates to the national convention. It was the understanding that John Wingate, the veteran editor of Shelbyville, and Francis T. Root of Connersville, would be the men. J. Frank Hanly, W. L. Taylor and other candidates for places on the state ticket left here this morning to attend the conventions and incidentally look after their own fences.

George Self, of Corydon, one of the candidates for the republican nomination for reporter of the supreme and appellate courts, left here this morning to attend the conventions at Shelbyville. He is very hopeful of landing the nomination. He comes from a district in which there is an intensely bitter fight among the Democrats over the congressional nomination. Representative Zenor has been fighting for his political life for several weeks and although there is a bad mix-up throughout the district yet the Zenor men think they have won. W. E. Cox of Jasper, the rival candidate, is still putting up a game fight and is also confident but Self, who is a close observer, says it is the general impression that Zenor has the best of it and unless he is euchered out of it by the machine he will certainly win.

ERIE TALK

May Equip Railroad With Their Own Sleeping Cars.

It is stated that the passenger department of the Erie is considering favorably a plan which put in force, will equip the road with its own sleeping and parlor cars. It is claimed that for the last year the Pullman cars that have been furnished the Erie have not been up to the expectations of the passenger officials, who were aiming to equip the road with the best rolling stock obtainable. The Pere Marquette operates a chair car service of its own at a rate much less than charged by the Pullman Company, and the Pennsylvania owns a large proportion of its Pullmans, as does the Union Pacific and the New York, New Haven & Hartford road. President Underwood of the Erie, is said to look with favor on the plan which he expects will improve the service and give the Erie the same advantage of other roads in operating its own sleeping and passenger cars. All railroad men say that there has been a scarcity of Pullman cars in the last year. Pullman men say they have difficulty in supplying the kind of cars sought, and many have been rebuilt and put into service in the last few months.
