WINDLE TONIGHT

A Democratic Speech at the Court Room
Tonight.

The Hon. C. A. Wendle the Chicago editor and orator who speaks at the court room this evening, arrived over the Grand Rapids at 3:17 this afternoon. He spoke at Ladooga last night, and it is about a day's trip from there here. His speeches fairly bristle with keen and ready wit, and with a discussion of the issues that will prove entertaining. Mr. Wendle's reputation as an orator is extended in character, and Decatur is fortunate in hearing him for one evening. Crowd the court room to the doors, and give him a deserved reception.

Opie Read, of Chicago, and C. Eugene Banks, of Iowa, left today for Warren, where Mr. Read will address a republican meeting. Through a misunderstanding Mr. Read was forced to cancel his engagement here. He stated, however, that he would return here in a short time.

Sheriff Butler picked up a fine blue roan horse this morning hitched to a rattle trap buggy. The animal was standing in the vacant lot just north of the jail. The horse is probably ten years old. Mr. Butler has been busily engaged all trying to locate its owner, but had not succeeded as we go to press.

This evening at the Presbyterian church will be held a reception for the benefit of the Sunday school children, and everything has so far been arranged to show the little chaps and a few of the older ones a good time. A little informal program has been arranged to delight the children and everything will be carried out with the one aim in view, of entertaining the children. Light refreshments will be served and a good time is expected to be had. The event will open promptly at seven o'clock, of which all are requested to take notice.

WE WOULD LIKE to have a little talk with you. We'll try to make our little chat interesting. This isn't a talk about politics and it isn't about the war either. It's just a plain everyday sort of conversation. In fact we want you to know more about this store and its methods. Just consider THIS store YOUR store, and make yourself at home here. Our constant aim and endeavor is and will always be to serve you in a courteous manner. You'll always find us pleased to show you goods whether you wish to purchase or not.
