Bryan Day Friday promises to furnish the largest crowd that has been in Decatur for many a day. Reports from every corner of Adams county finds every one coming to see and hear the magnetic Bryan.

The Indianapolis News, republican, gets back to earth and sounds a note of warning and g. o. p. wail to the members of his flock. The News emphasizes a caution that the over-confident republican who already saw a thirty or forty thousand majority in Indiana had better get busy in saving the state from a democratic victory. This is the true situation, and it behooves every democrat to save every vote for the democratic tickets.

The opening of the campaign at Berne last night was all kinds of a success, the speeches being made by Judge Erwin and David E. Smith, Attorney Henry W. Warren, of Indianapolis, was to have spoken, but train connections interfered. The crowd was large, the interest all that could be desired and the speakers did themselves proud. Enthusiastic meetings were also held in Kirkland and Union townships, where James T. Merryman, Jesse Robinson, John W. Tyndall, John C. Moran and Dore B. Erwin were the speakers.

Senator Beveridge is deeply grieved. Some one told him that the democratic campaign fund was so large that cash was paid for all postage stamps used, and that the untimely actually intended to use the thirty cents on hand to corrupt the ballot and purchase the whole bunch of United States senators, congressman and a few other statesmen. The deal was so brazen that war is declared upon every son of a gun that votes the democratic ticket. The senator believes only in that patriotism that buys at two dollars a head the defenseless colored and white brother who furnish the only plurality the republicans ever had in Indiana.

Lost.—A brooch set with pearls and turquoise center, was lost between central school building and Niblick's store. Finder will please return to this office.

A DECISION

Supreme Court Gives Important Ruling in Saloon Case.

The appellate court yesterday decided that a licensed saloon keeper who removes to another county thereby forfeits his license, and if he employs a barkeeper to run his saloon for him after his departure that barkeeper is liable to prosecution for selling without a license. The case decided came from Wabash. Warren Morrow obtained a saloon license there, and after running the saloon for three months moved to Peru, leaving the business in charge of Charles Dudley. Dudley was acquitted of the offense of selling liquor without a license and the state appealed.

PLAYED WHIST

Club was Entertained at the Moltz Home Last Night.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry R. Moltz were "at home" to their whist loving friends last night and the evening was delightfully spent. Misses Rose Christen and Bess Schrock and Messrs W. A. Kuebler and Will Schrock were invited guests. The high scores were made by Mr. Moltz and Miss Schrock. The refreshments were delicious.

Additional Locals.

Rev. E. A. Allen returned today from a business trip at Winona.

Charles Christen returned today from a business trip at New Haven.

L. A. W. Luckey returned to Indianapolis today, after attending the funeral of P. B. Kern.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hessler returned today from Fort Wayne, where they were visiting for a few days with relatives.

John Jones, of Hartford City, is in our city the guest of his parents. John is employed in one of the glass factories at that place and is doing well.
