

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 12, 1877.

In convention assembled, the Radicals of Grant county, this State, refused to endorse Hayes.

Interesting developments in the career of William Pitt Kellogg, the carpet-bag Senator from Louisiana, are promised.

Capt. P. H. Dowling, ex postmaster at Toledo, has been re-elected in his old position, the Senate refusing to appoint the appointment of his successor.

Thomas Jefferson, author of the Declaration of Independence, was aged 33, and next the youngest of those who signed that instrument.

Our New Rail Road.

President Lee was in town yesterday, and informed us that everything was being done to reach Rensselaer as early a date as possible. The grading is almost done, and the iron being laid as fast as the ties can be furnished.

Over thirty car loads of iron is at Bradford. The new and elegant engine, "A. McCoy," is on the track; it weighs eighteen tons, and those who have seen it pronounce it a splendid machine. It will soon be here; then good-bye old Rensselaer.

1878 will mark a new period in our history, and we will soon forget the hardships and labor of tugging the mud to the railroad, for in 1878 it will come to us and assist in building up a beautiful little city where old Rensselaer once stood. There are many eminences clustering around the dear old town that cannot soon be forgotten, but we will have the name as the brightest and best for us all, and with commendable energy will soon build up on the banks of the Duquesne one of the most beautiful and prosperous little cities in north western Indiana.

Special Correspondence of the Sentinel. Charlie Ross Found at Xmas. -

Excitement in Rensselaer.

While walking down Washington street on the eve of the 11th inst., my attention was attracted by the large crowd of people passing before the Drug Store of W. J. Ross, and upon investigation I learned the fact that Allen Pinkerton, the great detective, who has been hunting for Charlie Ross for the past two years, had just discovered the boy quietly standing in the above named popular and beautiful store gazing with eager eyes upon the new and handsome stock of Toledy Gools that were just being opened out for the inspection of the public. The boy, when met by the detective to fly with him to his father who, with breaking heart, had been on a hunting trip in vain, quietly responded—"See here, master! Suppose you just let the old man out a while longer while I take a good look at those beauties?" It was a speechless heartless remark, but not one of the strongest present could have the boy, for there is, without doubt, in that store, the handsomest display, the greatest variety, and the greatest, considering quality, ever brought to this market. (Continued on next page.)

The New Rail Road.

The following encouragement Indiana has been received by Mr. Ross, President of the Indianapolis, Decatur and Chicago railroad:

Bradford Decatur, Indiana, Messrs. Odell, Gold, and others.

Dear Sirs: We are going along with the work on our road as far as could be expected considering the weather. We have had some bad days to work since we commenced, but we have the grading going along and about two miles of the road laid down. We expect to have the road or county line by Saturday, when if they can keep on in despite the weather is so we can work, we will crowd Rensselaer very closely by Christmas. Everything is being done that can be to push the work. Our work was ordered shipped to day. It will be here this week. When it will be will lay a mile of iron a day.

We can get our part of the contract in shape we will doubtless be in Bedford by the 1st of July at the furthest, and may be there sooner.

Tell our friends to be of good cheer, we will certainly succeed this time.

Yours truly,

JOHN DEE.

Candidates Before the Democratic State Convention.

Indiana Sentinel.

Some days since we referred to the fact that quite a number of distinguished democrats had been announced as candidates for state office & whose names were to be submitted to the Democratic State Convention. As the Sentinel circulates in every county in the State we regard it as proper to lay before our readers such announcements of candidates have come to our notice through the state press and otherwise. They are as follows:

FOR SECRETARY OF STATE. Hon. David S. Gooding, of Hancock county.

Lycurgus Dalton, Esq., of Lawrence county.

J. G. Shanklin, Esq., of Vanderburgh county.

A. T. Whittlesey, Esq., of Vanderburgh county.

Hon. Henry A. Peed, of Martin county.

Hon. James B. Hendricks, of Pike county.

FOR TREASURER OF STATE. Hon. D. F. Skinner, of Porter county.

Hon. H. H. Walker, of LaPorte county.

Hon. Joseph Henderson, of St. Joseph county.

Wm. Fleming, Esq., of Allen county.

Hon. John S. Williams, of Tippecanoe county.

Hon. Edgar Henderson, of Madison county.

John J. Cooper, Esq., of Marion county.

W. M. Foley, Esq., of Decatur county. Patrick Shannon, Esq., of Vigo county. Benjamin F. Welker, Esq., of Floyd county. Henry Kramer, Esq., of Spencer county. Jno. B. Ringer, Esq., of Tippecanoe county. Jas. B. Ryan, of Marion county. Wm. Walker, of Lapeyre county.

FOR STATE AUDITOR.

Hon. A. T. Armstrong, of Howard county.

John Nestor, Esq., of Warrick county.

R. D. Slater, Esq., of Dearborn county.

Jas. M. Hoskins, Esq., of Clay county.

J. O. B. Fulwiler, of Miami county.

Col. Jas. Keigwin, of Clark county.

Jno. M. Youatt, of Marion county.

We have so far heard of no announcements for attorney general and superintendent of public instruction. These, however, will doubtless be brought forward in due time. The first to give are quite formidable, but not too large, and there is room for more. We shall take pleasure in announcing them as they may appear in the state press, or are otherwise brought to our attention.

Our New Rail Road.

President Lee was in town yesterday, and informed us that everything was being done to reach Rensselaer as early a date as possible. The grading is almost done, and the iron being laid as fast as the ties can be furnished.

Thomas Jefferson, author of the Declaration of Independence, was aged 33, and next the youngest of those who signed that instrument.

President Lee was in town yesterday, and informed us that everything was being done to reach Rensselaer as early a date as possible. The grading is almost done, and the iron being laid as fast as the ties can be furnished.

Over thirty car loads of iron is at Bradford. The new and elegant engine, "A. McCoy," is on the track; it weighs eighteen tons, and those who have seen it pronounce it a splendid machine. It will soon be here; then good-bye old Rensselaer.

1878 will mark a new period in our history, and we will soon forget the hardships and labor of tugging the mud to the railroad, for in 1878 it will come to us and assist in building up a beautiful little city where old Rensselaer once stood. There are many eminences clustering around the dear old town that cannot soon be forgotten, but we will have the name as the brightest and best for us all, and with commendable energy will soon build up on the banks of the Duquesne one of the most beautiful and prosperous little cities in north western Indiana.

Special Correspondence of the Sentinel. Charlie Ross Found at Xmas. -

Excitement in Rensselaer.

While walking down Washington street on the eve of the 11th inst., my attention was attracted by the large crowd of people passing before the Drug Store of W. J. Ross, and upon investigation I learned the fact that Allen Pinkerton, the great detective, who has been hunting for Charlie Ross for the past two years, had just discovered the boy quietly standing in the above named popular and beautiful store gazing with eager eyes upon the new and handsome stock of Toledy Gools that were just being opened out for the inspection of the public. The boy, when met by the detective to fly with him to his father who, with breaking heart, had been on a hunting trip in vain, quietly responded—"See here, master! Suppose you just let the old man out a while longer while I take a good look at those beauties?" It was a speechless heartless remark, but not one of the strongest present could have the boy, for there is, without doubt, in that store, the handsomest display, the greatest variety, and the greatest, considering quality, ever brought to this market. (Continued on next page.)

Allowances by the Board of Commissioners of Jasper County, Indiana, at their December Term, 1877.

F. J. Sears & Co., funeral expenses of Mrs. Ranney, $ 2 60

G. A. Moss medical aid to Alfred Whitmell, 23 75

S. N. Caldwell medical aid to Core Wyatt, 13 00

J. H. Longbridge medical aid to Henderson, Goodale et al, 54 25

G. A. Moss medical aid to the Lewis family, 8 00

Lewis Davison, Trustee, aid for Casey's child, 8 05

Louis Korn, goods for A. Whitmell, 4 42

Jno. Clark, 3 50

W. L. & S. Sigler goods for poor at poor farm, 13 51

Guy & Hartman goods for poor at poor Carpenter twp, 3 60

Adams & Co., goods for poor of Carpenter Township, 9 90

Thos. H. Robinson coffin for Elizabeth Clifton, 12 50

J. P. Powell goods for Samuel P. Clark, 1 00

H. Y. Martin medical aid to Alfred Whitmell, 5 00

W. L. & S. Sigler goods for poor at poor farm, 13 50

Shelby Grant, boarder poor at poor farm, 13 50

Shelby Grant, 3 50

C. C. Starr goods for poor at poor farm, 13 50

David Miller boarder Thos. H. Downing, 1 00

Henry Downing aid to S. Eckers, 18 77

D. W. Peck aid to A. W. Waits, 3 50

Wm. S. Walker medical aid to John Thomas, 1 00

Jas. S. Eickels, 1 00

Jas. C. Laird for keeping Jno. B. Atte, 1 00

Jas. A. Ranney for keeping M. B. Atte, 1 00

John H. Moore for poor at poor farm, 1 00

Edw. C. Clark for poor of S. Eckers, 1 00

S. H. Mulligan keeping Mary Downing, 1 00

John V. W. Wold, 1 00

John V. W. Wold, 2 00

John V.