West.

A Portland (Ore.) dispatch says: Gen. Howard has been collecting the hands of surrendered Indians at Camp McDermott, and the whole of them, aggregating about 1,000, are being transferred to Camp Harney. They are held as prisoners, and are to wait the pleasure of the Government.

Lieut. Bishop recently had a fight, in the northeastern corner of Wyoming, with a band of hostile Bannocks that have recently been raiding the Yellowstone Park, and succeeded in giving the red rascals a sound thrashing. The fight was a severe one, and the result to the excellent disposition of his forces made by Lieut. Bishop, it was a clean-up.

A spirited fight occurred in Southern Kansas, near the line of the Kansas Pacific railroad, a few days ago, between some 200 Indians and about an equal number of whites, composed of soldiers and cattle men. ## South.

Dispatches of the 19th from the plague-infected cities of the South indicate that the fever had reached its height. The number in New Orleans for the preceding twenty-four hours numbered 63, and the new cases about 100. At Memphis 91 deaths were reported, but there was a marked decrease in the number of new cases. In Vicksburg there was a decided falling off in the mortality roll as well as in the number of new cases, the former figuring at 12, the latter about 50. Several stores had been opened, and the city was gradually assuming a more business-like appearance. Reports from the interior fever-infected towns were quite encouraging, nearly all them reporting signs of an abatement of the disease.

Ex-Gov. Sam. Ward, of Louisiana, is dead.

Advices from the plague-infected cities of the Mississippi valley to Sept. 1 show a marked abatement of the disease, both as to the number of new cases and the mortality lists. The weather was growing colder, there were hopes of an early frost, and the weary-stricken people were beginning to hold up their heads again. At New Orleans, Memphis, Vicksburg and other points the mortality roll showed a decided decline. At Grenada, Miss., the fever had run its course, the victims having all left, and business was being resumed.

The Secretary of War has placed 400,000 rations, in addition to those heretofore distributed, at the disposal of the Relief Committee in New Orleans.

WASHINGTON NOTES.

The Commissioner of the General Land Office has decided that soldiers in the regular army may file claims and secure homesteads on the public lands without intending to become actual settlers.

POLITICAL POINTS.

J. H. Slater, Democrat, has been elected by the Oregon Legislature to succeed John Hippie Mitchell as United States Senator from that State. Mr. Slater is a hard-money man, but favors the abolition of the national bank.

The Democratic State Convention of Massachusetts was called to meet at Worcester on the 17th of September, and, by the evening of the 16th, the town was filled with delegates and lookers-on. The State Central Committee decided to issue tickets of admission to the convention, and exclude all from the hall who did not hold the pasteboard. This increased the Butler men, who looked upon it as a trick to defeat their favorite, and, before daylight of the morning of the 17th, the friends of the Essex statehouse took possession of the hall. The anti-Butterites, finding themselves thus checkmated, appealed to the city authorities for help. The Mayor, however, declined to use force to clear the hall. The State Committee then held a council of war, and decided that the Butler men were to be declared the time of holding the convention changed. In pursuance of this plan, Edward Avery, Chairman of the committee, went to the hall and made three or four attempts to announce that the convention was postponed to Wednesday, Sept. 25, and would be held in Faneuil Hall. He denounced the proceedings of the Butlerites as revolutionary and illegal. He then retired from the hall amid a scene of uproar rarely witnessed in a political body. Gen. B. F. Butler was thus nominated for Secretary of State, Charles Edw. Eliot for Treasurer, and George Marston for Attorney General.

The United States Treasury has issued a new trade, and by their action the Dominion of the United States has been placed under the protection of home industries.

The New York Public says the clearings in seventeen cities during the second week in September, including the previous week for San Francisco, compared with last year, show a total decrease of 10 per cent.

A heavy robbery was perpetrated in Baltimore the other day. Col. Boone, President of the Mount Vernon Cotton Mills, was the victim, and his loss is about $65,000 in cash and bonds. The robbery was committed in broad daylight, and the robbers did their work so clean as to leave no clew behind them.

THE SOUTHERN PLAGUE.

Deploable Condition of Memphis.

Moved by an incorrect report that the Associated Press reports were exaggerated, the Memphis press, in its issue of the 10th inst., says: "To lose over 1,200 men, women and children in twenty-seven days, out of a population of 15,000, white and black, and to be expending over $10,000 for 1,200 nurses and 40 doctors, and for medicines, and food for more than 3,000 sick and 10,000 indigent, is to us a sad reality, enough to move even a stoic to tears. But before this, there came the death of a child, a widow's sorrow, of whole families swept away in a week, leaving not even one of the name; of nurses dying at their posts; of priests and ministers and good sisters following those they succored so fast as to appeal the doctors to 'give us pain' amid the general weeping and ruin. No poe can do these scenes and sights justice; no tongue exaggerate them. Lying childhood, hoary and venerable old age, the tears of the mother, the wail of the child, the wail of the merchant, the wail of the God and the unbeliever, all are taken, claimed alike by the awful pestilence. The cry of the fatherless is heard every hour, claiming pity, through the streets of the city. The wail of the mother, the wail of the child, the wail of the merchant, the wail of the God and the unbeliever, all are taken, claimed alike by the awful pestilence.
