

After Breakfast.

DAY DECEMBER 6, 1878.

Christmas eve festivities at the M. E. Church by the M. E. and Presbyterian Sunday Schools. A Christmas Tree will be on hand.

The Indianapolis Journal has at last arrived at the conclusion that Mr. Voorhees will be elected for the short and long term to the United States Senate.

The Rensselaer Dramatic Troupe who understand has engaged Starr's Hall and will give entertainments on the evenings of December 31st and January 1st.

Rev. S. R. Seagriff, of Monticello, is expected to preach in the Presbyterian Church Rensselaer, Sunday, December 15, 1878. A cordial invitation is extended the public to attend.

One who participated in the festivities of the Thanksgiving ball, make note of it for the SENTINEL, and because the same thing was not done for the Union the consul kicks up his heels, makes faces and plays the bag generally.

Willis J. Imes has already received a heavy stock of fancy and useful articles for the holiday trade, and more on the way. Willis and Frank exhibit good taste and sound judgment in the selection of goods, and none will have occasion to leave that establishment dissatisfied.

Some parties evidently have been practicing a little imposition upon Horace. They seem to have approached and offered him less for the establishment than he considers his combination of old offices is worth, but his vanity, and now he's mad about it. As the matter of consolidation with this paper had never been broached to us we are inclined to believe the consul has been given away.

On the first and fourth pages of the SENTINEL to-day we give the President's Message, and other State papers. The message is only remarkable in the fact that it evinces a weakness, on the part of the President, to the demands of the "bloody shirt" element of his party. A few enactments by a Democratic congress may be required to brace him up in the true line of his duty, and to properly comprehend the extent of his authority.

The consul intimates that in an interview with a Cincinnati Enquirer reporter Mr. Weir stopped "far short of the full story of the treachery practiced upon him by the same gentlemen that betrayed Dr. Haymond in his second contest," etc. As the consul is the only person we are aware of who assisted in securing the nomination of Dr. Haymond for "his second contest," and then went back on him at the polls, we pause for a recital of a history of the affair.

Some of the more sensible republican journals, seeing the dangers that await us are not slow to denounce the schemes of John Sherman and the clearance houses of New York. The Lagrange Standard, speaking of the matter says:

The clearing houses of New York have adopted rules in anticipation of resumption, that will tend to discredit silver somewhat, and to be received only in special deposit, and to be paid out in kind. Deposits of gold and paper, are to be paid in lawful money, gold for paper at the option of the depositor. The banks and money metalists had better go slow in their hostility to silver. The great refunding act of 1870, which now covers largely our national debt, provides expressly for the payment of all obligations issued under it in coin of the then standard value. It will be well to let the stands alone.

We will soon be in the midst of the holidays, and the customary presentation of tokens of affection and admiration to loved ones and friends will be the order of the day. Good taste is exhibited in selecting such articles as combine comfort and utility as well as elegance. These can be purchased cheap at the well-filled Furniture Ware Rooms of Longhrey & Co., Monticello. Chairs for invalids, sewing and arm chairs, etc., etc., are just the articles many need and should have. Then their parlor and chamber sets are handsome, well made and low in price. Citizens of Jasper county, when in Monticello, are cordially invited to call and examine the extensive and varied stock contained in this establishment.

PURCE BUTLER, editor of the Aurora (Ill.) Herald, was formerly a citizen of Alabama, and remained in the State for six years after the war, and was a republican member of the legislature from Mercurio county, was a candidate on the radical ticket for lieutenant governor in 1870. In speaking of the southern negro in a lengthy editorial, he says:

The conclusions drawn from these facts and figures are: 1. The colored voters are voluntarily voting the democratic ticket. 2. The republican party does not and could not possibly succeed in polling the colored vote, with the utmost freedom at elections, if they could hold it, owing to the incapacity of such voters. 3. The republican party can not hold the colored vote or make any converts among the white voters.

This is undoubtedly a true state of the case and explains the heavy increase of the Democratic vote in that section in the absence of radical interference and intimidation. The bloody shirt hirelings have manufactured and written up a statement of the cause with a view to secure intermeddling on the part of the federal government. We think the effort will fail.

The work of red emings $247,000.00 to greenbacks and $320,000.00 in National Bank notes, and $2,100,000.00 of deposits, and all private and public indebtedness, with $130,000.00 in coin, will begin shortly unless should interfere and stop the trick.

Serving Notice on the Banks.

(New York Graphic)

The National Banks will now do well to consider that they exist only at the will of the National Government, they violate the spirit of the letter of their charters the National Government and the National Courts have the power to kill them. As a part of the machinery of the Government to regulate commerce and to assist in the reception and disbursement of the revenue, as Government depositories, it is their plain duty to receive on deposit and to disburse without discrimination or favor whatever the Government may declare to be the money. If they can discriminate against silver, they can discriminate against gold and against greenbacks. In fact, the power to discriminate against any one of the dollars established by Government is a power destructive of commerce and of the fiscal operation of the United States Treasury. It is the thin edge of the wedge, which, if allowed to enter at all, will direct the power to regulate commerce from the National Government and transfer it to the banks. After the first day of January next the silver dollar, in all respects in this country, is the same as the gold dollar, and it is wholly illegal for any National Bank to discriminate against either. Such discrimination on the part of the National Banks would be a violation of the spirit of their charter and endanger their forfeiture. It is unfortunate for the City of New York and the country at large, that there is not more intelligence, patriotism and breadth of view among the managers of the banks. Many of the Bank Presidents while admirable managers of a grocery or a dry goods business, have not the education and experience in the broader principles of national finance that it them to control banks. They are so short sighted that they are constantly injuring the great future of their institutions and the country in the hope of some little present gain. By their war on silver for the last two years, they have driven millions of commerce away from this city, and are building up in the West financial centers that may soon seriously affect the prosperity of the City of New York. Unless they wish to raise a storm of indignation that will not only sweep them out of existence, but go far toward transferring a large part of the commercial and financial business of New York to other cities, they had better regulate their action before the 1st of January, and start upon a patriotic and national course.
