

FRIDAY APRIL 18, 1879.

A Kansas radical State Senator says his State doesn't want the negroes.

The president has nominated Francis P. Van Wyck, of Illinois, counsel at Turkey Island.

On last Tuesday, in the U. S. Senate, Senator Thurman was elected Vice President pro tem.

The people of Kansas are beginning to realize the effects of negro emigration. Indignation meetings have been held and calls have been made upon the State government to intercede.

An emergency clause is attached to the new Homestead law, exempting from execution $600 worth of property, real or personal, to every head of a family. The law, therefore, is now in full force.

Sullivan, Ill., Progress: "Dr. O. C. Link has located at Rensselaer, Indiana, in the practice of medicine. Dr. Link and his estimable lady have many friends in this part of Illinois who wish them unbounded success."

The army appropriation bill passed the House of Representatives by a vote of 148 to 122—26 majority. The Democrats, and all the Nationals but two, voting therefor, and the Republicans solid in opposition. This would indicate that the Republican party is "in favor of starving the army."

The betrothal of Moses Tuteur and Miss Rachel Bass of Rensselaer, Ind., is announced. Both are well-known and much loved in Lafayette. Coupler.

The fishing season's now at hand.

A sport as well as a leisure.

The parties now will fish while love, both in their bosoms burn.

And should the bride instruction need,

As on the hours pass;

Bachet will then a Future have,

While Moses catches Bass.

Lafayette Leader.

A scheme is being evolved in Washington, whereby 100,000 colored voters are to be colonized in New York, 75,000 in Indiana, and 50,000 in Ohio. It is to be the policy of the Republicans of the Republican party assumed. The fact that a large proportion of the negro voters are Democrats might sadly interfere with the Republican programme.

And then the pursuance of such a scheme by the radical leaders might prove the happy means of inducing thousands of Republicans who earn their bread by the sweat of their brow to assume the patriotic duty of voting the Democratic ticket. So mote it be.

The ex-confederate loyalists, whose sins of treason is wiped out the moment they become members of the radical party, now and then receive a center shot which completely demoralizes them. Col. Warner, a National M. C. from Ohio, who served with distinction in the Union army, the other day put the following pose to one of these ex-rebels who is now a blabbering loyal republican:

Mr. Warner wanted to know why the gentleman from North Carolina would have the House to vote to pay for property which he (R. S. S.) while in the Confederate service, had helped to destroy.

Maj. Calkins has procured the appointment of Horace E. James, editor of the Union, as postmaster of Rensselaer. What has become of the Packard-James libel suit?—Messen ger.

Yes, yes, Jess' so, Jess' so. What has become of that famous libel suit? We felt a little anxious about that when the Union voted around and supported Gen. Packard's attorney for Congress.—LaPorte Argus.

Ah, then, it was the lovely William, of LaPorte, and not petitioners of Jasper county, who wrought the change. Well, well, the Congressionally apportioned had been made, William was left out of this district, and he didn't care a continental about the wishes of the people interested.

The New York World very appropriately says: "If any Democrat desires to decorate the repeal of the statutes for the abuse of the army at the polls with expressive phraseology, we advise him to insert in the bill enacting it certain words used by Mr. Everts, (Secretary of State) in a great speech in this city, Jan. 12, 1875. In that speech Mr. Everts called upon the American people to demand 'the absolute abstinenace of the federal power from interference in the States except upon the invitation of the Legislature for the suppression of actual violence, and upon its withdrawal immediately and necessarily after that violence is suppressed.'

A tool fellow, resident in North Carolina, employed by the radical committee to get up capital for them, writes to John Sherman: "Inclined please find a $1,000 bond of the Confederate States of America, issued in accordance with the sixth section of an act of the Confederate Congress, February 17, 1864. I desire to have my bond filed for redemption at some future day. I believe that a law, sooner or later, will be passed making these convertible into United States bonds." And this letter is telegraphed all over the country by Cowboy Sherman to frighten the timid and shaky of his party back into the ranks of the exclusively loyal.

The recent Jeff Davis speech of Z. Chandler is having a great run, while the most popular for the speeches of Daniel Webster or Everett. This is undoubtedly because Mr. Chandler's style of oratory is better adapted to the average republican intellect than the works of the great masters.

Partly Reminiscent.

Proceedings of the District Medical Society of Benton, Jasper, Newton, and White counties.

The society met in regular session at Monticello, Ind., April 8th, 1879. Members present, Drs. Spencer, Wood, Clark and Tracy of Monticello; Ballou and Jones of Burnettsville; Delzell and Holtzman, of Brookston; Grant and Howell of Maxwell, of Washington and Hotel of Rensselaer. The President (Dr. Ballou) is in the chair. After reports from standing committees and the transaction of other business connected with the affairs of the society, Dr. Spencer presented a case of "Malignant Tumor of the face" and gave an account of its progress and treatment. After remarks from several members in regard to representation in the State Medical Association the following resolution was adopted:—"Resolved, That the society memorialize the State Medical Association to change its rules so as to admit delegates from District Medical Societies on a par with the delegations from County Medical Societies. A committee consisting of Drs. Delzell, Clark and Holtzman was appointed to draw up a petition to the State Medical Association in accordance with said resolution. The President appointed a Committee consisting of Drs. Wood, Maxwell, Wells and Hatch, to secure the names of the members of the society to the petition. On motion the delegates from the White County Medical Society to the State Medical Association were requested to use all honorifics and to do the same in accordance with the aforesaid resolution. On motion, the President appointed a committee consisting of Drs. Spencer, Delzell and Landon to make nominations of officers for the society and report at the next meeting of the society. The meeting then adjourned until one o'clock P. M.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The report of the special committee on petition to State Medical Association was received and adopted.

The subject of "Prostatitis," was discussed by Drs. Clark, Spencer, Maxwell, Tracy and Hatch. The use and action of ergot in Hemorrhage, was also discussed by Drs. Trowbridge, Wood, Grant and others.

Dr. Spencer and Clark gave the history and most mode of occurrence of a case of "cancer of the stomach." Remarks in regard to "Malignant and Non-malignant Tumors" were made by Drs. Medaris, Wood and Tracy.

Dr. Delzell gave the history, treatment and present condition of a case of Rheumatic inflammation of a joint. Dr. Maxwell gave the history of a case of "Anchylosis of the hip joint." On motion it was resolved that the subject of "Diphtheria" should receive due consideration at the next meeting of the society. The following gentlemen were selected Essayists for the next meeting: Principals: Lovett, Wells, Jones and Smith. Assistants: Beckner, Kolb, Black and Didlake.

After a vote of thanks to Mr. Lear, proprietor of the Lear House, for his kindness to the members, the society adjourned to meet at Remington, on the second Tuesday in June, 1879.

Teachers! Teachers!—Everybody!!!

McCabe's "Pictorial History of the World" is literally a library in itself, and is one of the most valuable works ever offered to the public. It presents to the reader a mass of information respecting ancient and modern history not to be found in any other book. To all who wish to study the history of the various nations without delving into hundreds of volumes, it is invaluable, for it contains the pith of hundreds of histories—Very few people find life long enough to plod through the histories of the various nations, but here you have it from the beginning of the world to the present day.

Read one of the many thousands of highly complimentary notices that this work has received: "We received your "Pictorial History of the World," but it so far exceeds our anticipations that we wish to secure another copy. We will give you a column and a half review, and insert the advertisement several times, or anything else that is reasonable, as we must each have a copy. It is one of the very best books ever published."

The publishers have placed the price so low that all can secure a copy. Don't fail to procure it of Mr. W. S. Beery, who is the agent for this section.

Miss Hubbard may not have done so badly as her friends imagine. She has married a man from all accounts an honest young coachman. She might have married a corrupt politician—New York Commercial Advertiser.

Now is the time to procure the very desirable and most beautiful History of the World. You can't afford to let this opportunity pass. Mr. Beery reports success.

And now it turns up that Ex-Gov. Otis of Hartford, Connecticut, whose accomplished daughter took a fancy to a coachman, was in his youth a charcoal peddler, and yet this old aristocratic nincompoop will not be reconciled.

The republicans only ask that the elections shall be honest," remarks the Philadelphia Press. But when it is understood that the Republican idea of "honest" election is one that elects only republicans to office, the modesty of the demand is apparent.

Congressman Murch the stone-cutter from Maine, who carved his way into Congress from Eugene Hale, drew the seafish by Chittenden, of Brooklyn, in the last House, which is one of the most conspicuous seats on the floor. Here Mr. Murch proposes to hold the fort and from his central seat keep an eye on both sides of the House.

A Beautiful Paper for Boys and Girls.

The April number of The American Youth, published at Topeka, Kansas, comes in full of the best reading matter for boys and girls. It is a paper parents need not hesitate to place in the hands of children. It is finely illustrated and contains all the requisites for a first-class youth's paper. It is sent one year for 50 cents. The publisher offers to send a sample copy free for examination. No cheap hunting premiums are offered to secure subscribers, but the best paper for the least money is given.

New Music.

Of all the new songs now flooding the country none are so popular as those composed by Will L. Thompson. He has just issued a beautiful new Song and Chorus, entitled "My Grandpa's Advice." It is thought to be even prettier than the author's famous song "Gathering Shells." If you want the latest and prettiest songs of the day, "My Grandpa's Advice," by Will L. Thompson. Any grandchild will mail it to you for 25 cents.
