It is amusing to witness the gushing joy of the radicals over the withdrawal of a few radicals and professional nationalists, according to programme, from the convention, Saturday. One would suppose they had been snatched from the jaws of political death to witness their excited antics.

Besse, one of the withdrawalists, was defeated by the nationals of Jordan township last spring for Trustee, on the ground that they did not consider him of the household of faith. They insist, too, that his nomination was manipulated by the Rensselaer radical ring with a view to secure the election of Jack Yeoman.

Stinson, another of the bolters, was understood, was in full cahoot with the radicals in his township, last spring, in opposition to the national nominations.

A Republican Greenbacker is all of sudden a very devoted admirer of Messrs. Saup, Erwin, Dr. Sam. Ritchey, Geo. Besse, A. B. Clinton and others, and proportionally, down on Messrs. Price, Boroughs, Burnham & Co. The soft soap of "A Greenbacker" should disgust Messrs. Erwin, Ritchey and others.

The bolters nominated our friend, Wm. Pierce, for Commissioner, with the consent and advice of our clever townsman, Alf. McCoy, and other radicals, but Mr. P., it seems, lives just beyond the district line a little way, and is therefore ineligible. The result of being flurried with the congratulations of the numerous radicals who made up the numbers of the meeting

Garfield's Defence.
All the articles of the cunning Dr. Golyers to screen their candidate have come to grief. Not one is left to hang a hope upon. First they bro't out Judge Black's letter, written February 15th, 1873, and boastfully exclaimed "that settles it." Another portion of Garfield's testimony we have not quoted, is as follows:

Mr. Ames never gave nor offered to give me any stock or valuable thing as a gift. I once asked and obtained from him, and afterward repaid him, a loan of $300. That amount is the only valuable thing I ever received from or delivered to him.—See Poland Report, page 129.

Now, Ames said he did "offer," and practically give this stock to Garfield. If it stood only on the oaths of Ames and Garfield, both republican members of Congress at the time, one oath might be set off against the other. But it doesn't rest in that way at all. Ames produced the written memorandum of Garfield to fortify his testimony, and so put it, as against Garfield's, beyond the pale of controversy. And there is the added force of Garfield's frailty, that he refused to respond to the solicitation of the committee to come before it and make any explanation of this conflict of testimony between him and Ames. Why did he refuse? There was the check for $329, and Garfield's written memorandum, both substantiating Ames and discrediting Garfield out of his own mouth. Never went a clearer case to a jury.

But it was the Black letter we started upon. This letter says Garfield did take the stock, flying right in the face of his testimony, that he had never—no, never owned, &c. As the New York Herald puts it:

Garfield swore that he had never touched the stock; Judge Black pleaded that when he handled it he did not know that it was loaded. The plain contradiction between the oath of the defendant and the argument of his counsel makes the republication of Judge Black's letter a perfect "boom-crang."

And now come Poland, and Banks, and say they have unlimited faith in their candidate, and plead the baby act also in behalf of Garfield. What their avowments are worth the reader can readily decide for himself from their verdict made up in their report made to the House Feb. 18, 1873, already printed by us, no longer than last week. Judge Black's letter accomplished its purpose—to soften the judgment of the committee, and to get Garfield off easy. As to the loan, Ames said there was no loan about it, but Garfield wanted him to swear it was but he had never lent Garfield any money in his life. Garfield swore he borrowed $300, and returned it. Ames, a careful, calculating, Yankee business man, with his wit all about him, and ready reckoner in day-books, ledgers, and memorandum books, contradicts that, and Garfield don't contradict him—that is, he refused to meet this cumulative testimony of his guilt when offered the opportunity. So faces away the flimsy artifices to screen Garfield.

The Garfield Acceptance is a characteristically eccentric paper. Mr. Garfield accepts the Chicago Platform, and if he understands what its progenitor called "the nearest next to nothing that was practicable," he might claim credit for a certain proportion of perspicacity beyond its top knotted author. It is almost as unexpressible a performance as would emanate from a badly bedeviled candidate whose only outlet is meaningless platitudes. His heart seems to "bleed" as overflowing for the negro as the Fraud, Hayes, whose heart pants out in a perfunctory way, and as perfunctory. A slap at State Rights, under the synonym of State supremacy, is a mild sop for the "stalwarts," but will scarcely appease their demand for something in a candidate that is positive. "The right of the nation to determine the method by which its own legislation should be created cannot be surrendered," sounds roundly, and is intended to catch gudgeons only. "The nation" makes no voter—it confers no right of suffrage. The States do that and it is they who elect representatives to and thus make a "national" legislature. This is clap-trap of the regulation radical order. "The prosperity which is made possible in the South by its great advantages of soil and climate will never be realized until every voter can freely and safely support any party he pleases"—that is to say, under the dictation and eye of Federal election supervisors and marshals, and infantry and artillery. This is Garfield's apprehension of this, and by that interpretation we understand precisely what Garfield means by "fully and freely supporting any party the voter pleases." On the question of the tariff he is as muddy as his official reputation. He is for paper and coin as a medium of circulation. The Chinese problem he tackles with scrupulous caution, and fights all round the edges. He is for Civil Service Reform, just in the Peck-sniffan style of his prototype, Hayes, and that is saying all that need be said about his views. The Ohio style of civil service is too odious to commend favor, and Mr. Garfield's public career offers no inducement to accept him as an oracle on the subject. He represents in himself a loathsome evidence of contempt for all the decencies and proprieties of public official life, and no greater travesty of Civil Service Reform stands on two legs to-day.

In a recent sketch by Gen. J. S. Brisban, (heretofore a well-known republican), of the brilliant and patriotic record of Gen. Hancock, published in the Philadelphia Times, appears this sentence:

"The people of this country will not soon forget there was a day in its history when, if Gen. Hancock had not shown the highest capacity as a military commander, there might be no republic to govern."

We must expect to the closing words: "There might be no republic to govern." There never has been a day since this country emerged from colonial vassalage into the full stature of an indestructible Union of indestructible States," when in our life time we were willing to admit such words as true. If anything were needed to prove them fallacious our recent experience is at hand to do so. The eight years reign of Grant, the feudishness of the reconstruction abnormalities, and the theft of the chief executive office of the country, the thieves rewarded from the public treasury through the fattest plums in the official basket, were greater strains upon the integrity of the people to preserve their republic than the fearful contest of arms which preceded it. The sublime patience of the Democracy and a large body of politically unaffiliated citizens under these outrages stand out to rebuke any such thought. There was more peril in these gross abuses of temporary acquired power in a time of peace than in the giant struggle made to sever the Union of these States. The attempt to make secession a success was a blow at the permanence of one government for prescribed purposes over all the States. Had it succeeded, which was impossible, we should have had two rival republics instead of one in the area covered by the United States and its territories. The other and more dangerous force aimed at the destruction of all that gave vitality to a republican form of government. The Union was menaced by Secession—the Republic by the Radical leaders and their enactments.

Such language as we have quoted from a well meant eulogy of General Hancock cannot have been deliberately considered by its enthusiastic author, though it serves for a text to further accentuate the reasons preponderating in favor of his being elected President. No language that impairs the integrity of the patriotism of the mass of the American people should go unchallenged. To assume that a defeat in the battle of Gettysburg would have rendered the salvation of the Union doubtful, and of all things the perpetuity of the republic, is not called for nor justified in any form of eulogy. That of Gettysburg was the crucial battle of that distressing era in our history. Our triumph there made what came after it in furtherance of the end sought easier of accomplishment. General Hancock's military genius and valor and his inspiration that made it a victory, and he was thus the commanding hero of the great event. No man would more readily resent the exaggeration which would rob his comrades, however humble in station, of their share in this achievement than Gen. Hancock, and his always total abnegation of self is a conspicuous characteristic of the man. Mark his modesty when the day was won and he fell wounded: "Tell General Meade," he directed his Aide, Col. Mitchell, "that the troops under my command have repulsed the enemy and gained a great victory."

The editorial corps of the Republican this week was filled to overflowing, and so are its columns with misrepresentations Gen. Thompson, Bro. James, Messrs. Chilcote, Spitzer, "Iro-quois," et al., dished up fulsome praise and expressions of joy over the efforts of a few engaged in their service, and hope to save themselves from defeat through the exertions of these few. However, the Nationals claim these parties can do less harm in the position they have assumed than they might as professed greenbackers. As open allies of the radical ring they cannot influence true Nationals.

PROCEEDINGS
Of the National Greenback and Labor County Nominating Convention.
Pursuant to call the Convention assembled at the Court House, in Rensselaer, July 17th, 1880, and was called to order by the Chairman of the county central committee.

Jno. M. Helmick, of Wheatfield, was chosen Chairman, and A. B. Burnham, Secretary.

On motion the chairman appointed Brunson W. Harrington, Barnard, Reservative Joint, and Elias R. Pierce, of Wheatfield township, to be a committee on credentials and order of business.

While the committee were preparing report, Hon. John N. Skinner addressed the convention in a stirring greenback speech, at the close of which report of committee was read and adopted.

On motion, the convention proceeded to the nomination of candidates for county offices.

Names for candidates for the several offices were presented, as follows, to wit:

For Treasurer—Henry Welsh, of Jordan township.
For Sheriff—James M. Nickell, of Hanging Grove township.
For Surveyor—Ellis R. Pierce, of Wheatfield township.
For Commissioner, 2d District—James T. Randle, of Barkley township.
For Coroner—Sylvester Healey, of Rensselaer township.

No other names being presented, these were declared the nominees of the convention.

PROCEEDINGS
Of the National Greenback and Labor Reservative Joint Convention, held at Salem school house, Newton county, Ind., July 20th, 1880.

The convention met pursuant to call, at 11 o'clock, a. m., for the purpose of placing in nomination a candidate to represent Jasper and Newton counties in the General Assembly of Indiana, and was called to order by Aaron Lyons.

On motion, Andrew Hess, of Newton county, was elected permanent chairman, and Ezra C. Nowels, secretary.

On motion, the chair appointed C. H. Price, Z. Spitzer and Thos. Boroughs as committee to determine basis of representation. Committee reported that each county be entitled to one delegate for every 40 votes or fraction over 20, cast for Henry James in 1878, give to Jasper 13, and to Newton 14 votes.

On motion, the convention proceeded to nomination of a candidate for representative. Dr. M. L. Urmsstead, of Newton, presented the name of Capt. James A. Burnham, of Jasper, and Mr. Frank D. Hayes, of Newton. The name of Z. Spitzer, of Newton, Mr. S. declined, and seconded the nomination of Mr. Burnham, which was agreed to by acclamation.

On motion, Z. Spitzer, of Newton, and Thos. Boroughs, of Jasper, were appointed committee for Representative District.

On motion, the secretary was directed to furnish a copy of proceedings of each newspaper in the district, with request that the same be published.

On motion, the convention adjourned.

Culp Items.
Ed. SENTINEL: "Joe," in last week's Republican writes a few items from this office, in which he says the Republicans here are quiet, but wide awake, and well satisfied, and will all pull together this fall. I know of just three in this school district. I imagine I see "Joe" under the saddle, Garfield as driver, and DeMotte, as Marshal, which will continue until DeMotte is skinned in October, and Garfield sent up Salt River in November. Weather splendid.

Hay is going into stack at a rapid rate.

Corn doing fine—needs a little rain. Wheat all in stack in good order—not quite as well filled as was anticipated.

Oats good.

Potatoes good.

Bugs plentiful.

Democrats just feeling splendid.
Hancock & English took going up, and will still rise to the top, and be inaugurated as President and Vice President of this glorious Republic.

Union Township News.
Corn looking fine.
Wheat light crop.
Several of the Union township boys attending the Normal at Madison, Ind. Mr. William Cooper has built a new addition to his house.
Mr. Frank La Jans owns the largest number of cattle of any man in the township. His herd numbers 130 head.

There is talk of organizing a Democratic club in Union in a short time. It is conceded by the opposition here that Hancock & English will make a clean sweep of the county.

Several Union township republicans have already declared their intention to vote for Jim Nickell, the Democrat and National candidate for Sheriff.

GRAPE ISLAND.

SALT CREEK, Porter Co., Ind.,
July 16th, 1880.

Perhaps your readers will like to hear by direct letter from Porter county, the home of the Hon. John N. Skinner and Mark DeMotte. It was eminently proper that the political parties in choosing the men from whom the people are to elect our next representation in Congress, should, as the respective parties are doing, use Porter county material. The campaign of 1880 will be a great one. Every man for our country will feel it his duty as a patriot to contribute to the funds of his party to the fullest extent of his purse will permit a prudent man; and, where there is a prospect, real or imaginary, of reimbursement from the spoils to be divided, many a patriotic reckless fellow will be induced to contribute. Hence, it is not improbable that by the time the October election is over, there will not be an abundance of patriotic funds remaining, and the little that will remain will be required to effect the national salvation which, as appointed by our country's law, shall be done at a time when we were late in doing so.

And I have said all this to fix the premises upon which I wish to show the eminent propriety in our district's choosing between Porter county men. Notice the heading of this letter. Salt Creek is a part of the county stream which bears the same name. Now, as the defeated candidate must go up Salt Creek, and as he must be able to go to the expense of a round trip, and as railroads never allow defeated candidates to deadhead, Salt Creek should, in his last extremity, be able to head him off. But, as the movement of the defeated candidate is the other couldn't our October Mohammed, unless he have the power long ago decided by high church authority as belonging to the angels, viz: pass from the place of salt creek to another place, and out going over intervening space, would better be "right track." Successful congressional candidates, once at Washington may do the feat of Brunson W. Harrington, Barnard, Reservative Joint, and Elias R. Pierce, to a great many thousands without having bothered themselves with the intermediate amounts, but it has never been charged that a defeated candidate can annihilate space. The eminent propriety afore mentioned follows.

Now, who will be the up river excursionist? your readers will want me to answer it. My answer is, without mental reservation, Mark DeMotte. An attempt is being made to have it appear that there will be defects in the ranks of the democrats and greenbackers. This is very unlikely. It does not seem probable that any persons who have wrongfully thrown overboard so big-hearted a man as John N. Skinner, and support a man who, if sent to Washington, would fall into the ranks and assist in the overthrow of the Republic, without compunction, in the legislative and class legislation of the republican party. There is this difference between Uncle John Skinner and DeMotte: the latter worships at the shrine of salaried Democracy; the former is devoted to the cause of humanity. DeMotte is the candidate of a foul partisan organization which does the bidding of giant corporations. Skinner is the Republican candidate, and will stick to the last, and rise or fall with his constituents. It is because he is a man of broad views, a philanthropist, that Uncle John is the man to lead the Republic to the top of the world.

If there is defection among anti-Republicans, let some man on the "anxious" seat rise and put his finger on the neck of the Republic, and say that there are persons in the ranks who will refuse to support Skinner, and that the Republican Greenbackers will not support him. Thus it would convey the impression that at home they are rebelling against Uncle John. Let the Vindicator point one man in Porter county, be a partisan democrat or that paradoxical mongrel "republican greenbacker," and then we will give a credit to the democrats and greenbackers in Porter county as Skinner men and enthusiasts.

According to the election of '78, the democrats and greenbackers of the 10th district are 3900 in the majority, adding to this the 1100 that Uncle John got in Porter and Lake counties above his ticket as a tribute of love, and this will give him a majority of 5,000. He is now stronger in the affections of the people than ever before, and they will raise his majority 1,000 more, and with a shout triumphantly proclaim that he is the man whom they will have to do the work at Washington. Mark will be furnished free transportation on a mud-boot from the port Salt Creek up stream. Remember and wait.

BAMBLA.

We suggest to Bro. James that he dive into the files of the Rensselaer Union during the time he was "conspicuous for indulgence in vituperation" severe, but truthful and proper against the Republican party, and read the productions of "A DEMAGOGUE."

Camp Meeting.
A Camp Meeting will be held at Remington, Jasper county, Ind., commencing July 29th, at 8 o'clock p. m. to continue over the Sabbath August 1st. Remington is twenty miles east of the Illinois State Line, and on the Pittsburgh, Cincinnati & St. Louis Railway. The meetings will be held on the grounds of the Remington Fair Association, three-fourths of a mile north of Remington. The grounds are beautifully located, with abundance of water, the Association buildings can be used for lodging, with convenience, also, for teams. Boarding will be provided for such as may find it inconvenient or undesirable to provide for themselves. Let as many come as can stay on the grounds. Bring sufficient bed clothing and stay, that you may have the benefit of all the services. Wear in correspondence with able ministers who are expected to be present in sufficient numbers to make a strong working force. Among them the present and former presiding Elders of the district, and also the former pastors of the church. All are invited, ministers or workers whether personally addressed or not, come. The object of the meeting will be to win souls to Christ. To preach the repentance and remission of sins in his name, and holiness without which no man shall see the Lord. To equalize the expenses, a contribution will be taken at the gate on the Sabbath of ten cents from each person over ten years of age. J. A. CLEARWATERS, Pastor in charge.

Hancock's Sayings.
EXTRACTS FROM HIS ORDERS THAT SHOW WHAT KIND OF A MAN HE IS.
The true and proper use of the military power, besides defending the national honor against foreign nations, is to uphold the laws and civil government, and to secure to every person residing among us the enjoyment of life, liberty and property.

The right of trial by jury, the habeas corpus, the liberty of the press, the freedom of speech, the natural rights of persons and the rights of property must be preserved.

Tell General Meade that the troops under my command have repulsed the assaults of the enemy, who are now flying in all directions in my front.

Power may destroy the forms, but not the principles of justice. These will live in spite even of the sword.

The great principle of American liberty still are the lawful inheritance of this people, and ever should be.

Armed insurrections or forcible resistance to the law will be instantly repressed by arms.

Nothing can intimidate me from doing what I believe to be honest and right.

Arbitrary power has no existence here.

LIFE INSURANCE.
The Royal Protective Union, of Ft. Wayne, is the cheapest and most practicable Life and Accident Insurance Company that now extends its benefits to the people of this district. This Association is purely mutual and is the oldest form of protection in America. It furnishes Life Policies for one-fourth the amount charged by the old system of insuring. The Plan is similar to that of the Masonic Mutual Aid Societies that have gained the confidence of the public at large. We insure all persons between the ages of 15 and 65 that can pass the examination. It costs $12 to become a member of this association in the district. The death assessment is $1 for each member that dies. Also an assessment of $3 per year is made for sick and accident fund. Each member receives $5 per week when sick or disabled by accident. The amount of policy runs from $1,000 to $4,000, according to age, payable at death, or at a certain number of years—from 10 to 25 years. Full particulars will be sent upon application. Local agents wanted in every county in the district. Emmet annual, Rensselaer, agent for Jasper county.

DR. BARBER'S INHALER IN OPERATION.
The above picture partly shows how Dr. Barber's Inhaler acts. It is the first and only perfect Inhaler ever invented. Other vapor-giving Inhalers can be reached only by inhalation. Dr. Barber's Inhaler carries healing vapor direct to the source and inflamed surfaces, and searches out the very seat of disease. It is a complete treatment in itself—not a quack device for luring the sufferer to buy a batch of high-priced "secret" nostrums.

All intelligent physicians use and recommend Dr. Barber's Inhaler. It cures Croup, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Influenza, and all diseases of the throat and lungs. It relieves and cures Asthma and Hay Fever. It cures Pneumonia, Diphtheria, and even Consumption, if taken in time. It furnishes all diseases of the breathing apparatus. It is the cheapest, radical and complete treatment ever known.

Druggists sell Dr. Barber's Inhaler. We have been healed by this device, and sufferers who have been deceived by false advertisements will please send us a postal card for full particulars of this wonderful cure. It is a great discovery to know all about it with only a postal card. Give address plainly, and name of doctor containing this notice. Address the sole manufacturer.

A WONDERFUL DISCOVERY!
CARBOLINE!
A Deodorized extract of Petroleum. The Only Article that Will Restore Hair on Bald Heads. What the World has been Wanting for Centuries.

The greatest discovery of our day, so far as a large portion of humanity is concerned, is CARBOLINE, an article prepared from petroleum, which effects a complete and radical cure in case of baldness, or where the hair, owing to disease of the scalp, has become thin and tends to fall out. It is also a speedy restorative, and while it secures a luxuriant growth of hair, it also brings back the natural color, and gives the most complete satisfaction in the using. The falling out of the hair arises, it is found, from the accumulation of dandruff, and the premature change in color are all evidences of a diseased condition of the scalp and the glands which nourish the hair. To arrest these causes the article used must be medicinal as well as chemical virtues, and the change must begin under the scalp to be of permanent and lasting benefit. Such an article is CARBOLINE, and, like many other wonderful discoveries, it is found to consist of elements almost in their natural state. Petroleum oil is the article which is made to work such extraordinary results; but it is after it has been chemically treated and completely deodorized that it is in proper condition for the toilet. It was in far-off Russia that the effect of petroleum upon the hair was first observed, a Government officer having noticed that a partially bald-headed servant of his, when trimming the lamps, had a habit of wiping his oil-beamed hands in his scanty locks, and the result was in a few months a dense growth of thick, glossy hair, than he ever had before. The oil was tried on horses and cattle that had lost their hair from the cattle plague, and the results were as rapid as they were marvelous. The manes and even the tails of horses, which had fallen out, were completely restored in a few weeks. These experiments were heralded to the world, but the knowledge was practically useless to the prematurely bald and gray, as no one in civilized society could tolerate the use of reduced petroleum as a dressing for the hair. But the skill of one of our chemists has overcome this difficulty, and by a process known only to himself, he has, after very elaborate and costly experiments, succeeded in deodorizing refined petroleum, which renders it susceptible of being handled as delicately as the famous rose de chypre. The experiments with the deodorized liquid on the human hair were attended with the most astonishing results. A few applications, where the hair had been falling out, gave remarkable tone and vigor to the scalp and hair. Every particle of dandruff disappeared on the first or second dressing, and the liquid so searching in its nature, secured the growth of the hair at once, and set up a radical change from the start. It is well known that the most beautiful colors are made from petroleum, and, by some mysterious reaction of the use of this article, gray hairs, already impaired a beautiful light-brown color to the hair which by continued use, deepens to a black. The color remains permanent for as long a period of time as the change is so gradual that the most intimate friends can scarcely detect its progress. In a word, it is the most wonderful discovery of the age, and well calculated to make the prematurely bald and gray rejoice.

We advise our readers to give it a trial, feeling satisfied that one application will convince them of its wonderful efficacy.—Pittsburgh Courier of Oct. 23, 1877.

The article is telling its own story in the hands of thousands who are using it with the most gratifying and encouraging results.

W. H. BUNT & CO., Proprietors, 100 Avenue Pharmacy, Astoria, Ore., are also the sole agents for the hair for upward of twenty years, but have never had one to sell as well as give such universal satisfaction. We therefore recommend it with confidence to our friends who have lost their hair.

Mr. GEORGE F. HALL, of the Oates Opera Troupe, writes: "After six weeks' use I am convinced that the use of your 'Carboline' has restored my hair after everything else had failed."

Mr. J. H. SMITH, of the Jennie Hill Combination, writes: "After using your Carboline three weeks I can confidently say that my hair has been restored. It is simply wonderful in my case."
