Conkling and Platt,
 Are on the anxious seat;
 So also are the half breeds,
 With their chiefs, Garfield & Blaine.

"Stalwarts" and "half-breeds" on the same train.

Half Breeds—The followers of Garfield, Blaine, et homo genitus.

Stalwarts—The followers of Conkling, Don Cameron, Grant and Logan.

Chandler's nomination was rejected by the Senate. A solid Democratic vote cooked his goose.

Interesting reading on first page. The letters of resignation of Conkling and Platt, and the reasons impelling them to that course are printed in full.

Monticello Herald: Having gotten "Boss" Conkling out of the way, the half-breeds should now not object to the removal of "Boss" Blaine from the cabinet. Down with the bosses.

The Monticello Herald and Kentland Gazette battle for the "Stalwarts," and our neighbor over the way, and the Delphi Journal announce themselves as "Half breeds."

And now Windom, of the Treasury Department, is unearthing the corruptionists and thieves in that institution. It is expected to turn out as much dirt as the Star Route inquiry.

The Indianapolis Journal says that "Half-breeds" is the name assumed by the opponents of Conkling. Not correct. They have not "assumed," but rather have been denounced as "half breeds," by the "Stalwart" following. It is pronounced against them as a term of reproach, derision and contempt.

The Indianapolis Journal says, referring to "half-breeds": They "are not fertile. They run out, leaving no heirs behind. They are mulish and intractable." The "half-breeds" of New York are not likely to reflect honor on either party. How complimentary the radical brethren are to one another?

Crimination and recrimination is the standing order between "Stalwarts" and "Half-breeds." It is as astonishing to witness the alacrity with which "Stalwarts" throw Credit Mobilier, and other infamous frauds in the faces of the "half breeds," and the latter retort with allusions to Gov. Sprague's little shot-gun, etc.

Monticello Herald: It is thought the half-breeds are not content with Senator Conkling's retirement to private life. They probably want him to commit suicide.
 O, no; they only want him to get in range of Sprague's little shot-gun, receive a charge of turkey-shot and have the "strut" taken out of him. That would no doubt appease the wrath of Blaine.

The Monticello Herald intimates that Dorsey, the man claimed to have saved Indiana to the radical party, would "serve his country best" by resigning his position of Secretary of the National Republican Committee. What base ingratitude; or does the Herald repeat the election of Garfield, and wish that all promotive causes of that result may be wiped out.

The New Combination.—It now appears that school teachers have their rings like politicians. The latest, state mapped out by our aristocratic school masters, is: Phil. Corkins, principal of the Fowler school, Prof. Snively, for principal of the Oxford Academy and Prof. Johnson for the county superintendent. Some fellow has been in tating the devil when he took Christ up on the high mountain.—Benton Review.

Credit Mobilier DeGolyer Pavement Star Route, etc., Garfield, (sire of the "half-breeds" party) recently gave out that "Stalwart" Senators who opposed confirmation of appointments made by him, would thereafter be required to approach him with letters of introduction. Lord! His Majesty!! His Mighty Highness!!!—Wish he'd come down from his lofty pedestal and testify truthfully, if he can, concerning the Moresy letter.—The other poor devil, released from arrest, is pronounced innocent.

The Chicago Times last Sunday issued a supplement containing the revised New Testament complete. Such journalistic enterprise has never been equaled. Referring to this the Republican adds: "Just what effect such an influx of scripture will have upon the Democratic party cannot be clearly foreseen. That it cannot be otherwise than disastrous is evident."
 "Such an influx of scripture" has been disastrous only in the franks of the party of Conkling, Grant, Blaine, Garfield, Mahone, Ingersoll, et al. It has startled them to confessions and exposures, as witness the contest now going on between the "stalwarts" and "half-breeds." Charges and counter-charges, and bringing to the surface the most infamous frauds, stealings and corruptions.

Slip-Up Items.

Weather most too dry for wheat and oats.

The farmers all busy—some plowing corn; some finishing planting; some plowing for buckwheat.

Farmers would all do well to sow buckwheat.

Trade is improving at Piansaville.

A meeting will be held at Piansaville school house, next Sabbath morning, at 9 o'clock, a. m., for the purpose of organizing a Sunday school. Spikey Thornton will be chairman.

Last Sunday we took a ride on the construction train of the L. & C. Air RR. to the Black Marsh, and are proud to say that J. C. Connor is doing first-class work in the way of track-laying.

As we pass Slip-Up and Hob-Tail school house we discover the frogs have all disappeared, and but few are left in the Black Marsh.

John Thornton is making some improvements. He has a nice lot fenced, ed plowed and planted.

We met our old friend, James Hane, who lives on the borders of the Black Marsh. He says he has good prospects for corn this spring.

Engineer Heistand will run F. L. Cotton's engine. Farmers will do well to take their grain to the elevator.

Slip-Up has one goat.

Stephen Nowels, one of the first settlers in Jasper county, now living in Elk Falls, Kansas, a short time ago fell from a load of hay and was taken home for dead. He recovered and is fast improving. He is in his 73d year. Is well satisfied with the locality where he resides. He has many friends in Jasper county.

Health good and mosquitoes plenty.
 SAND LAPPER.
