

The condition of the President still continues critical.

Prohibition, in North Carolina, failed by 112,000 votes.

The surplus wheat of Oregon for export this year is estimated at 340,000 tons.

Fred. Douglass urges the Black Republicans of Virginia to vote the Mahone ticket.

Two hundred and fifty persons were bribed to vote for the Liberals at the recent election in Madrid, Spain.

Some Cambridge City parents blew up with dynamite a saloon where their boys were in the habit of procuring liquor.

A large number of spurious $10 bills on the First National Bank of Detroit are in circulation. Look out for them.

General Hancock has been selected to command the troops at the Yorktown Centennial celebration. He will be the right man, in the right place there.

The split in the Republican party in Pennsylvania is as well defined as that in New York, and the opposing factions are bristling with fight. Pennsylvania is irrevocably lost to the Republican party.

Convict labor in the northern prison has been re-let, and the price per day has been raised from 45 cents to 63 cents per day, a making for the State of about $10,000. The northern and southern prisons are managed by Democratic officials, are not only self-sustaining, but profitable to the State.

The Douglas monument and sarcophagus erected at Chicago at a cost of about $75,000 is now receiving its finishing touches, a bronze tablet medallion being added, which represents "Legislation," and which will have a place on one side of the base. The body of Douglas reposes within the sarcophagus, in an iron casket. The marble of which the sarcophagus is made came from Rutland, Vermont. Mr. Douglas' native county. On its front side are these inscriptions: "Stephen A. Douglas; born April 23, 1813; died June 3, 1861." "Tell my children to obey the laws and uphold the Constitution."

Republican organs are beginning to read the handwriting on the wall. The Albany (N. Y.) Express, State Republican paper, remarks:

It is in the air that the Republican party is to be defeated this fall. Why? Is it because of the indifference of the masses of the party? Or is it because of general despondency? We do not believe that the Republicans are indifferent—we know that they are despondent. Republicans would be pleased to carry the State; they would very much dislike to lose it; they are not willing to give it up; and yet they say that the Democrats will succeed because they will be united, while the Republicans will be divided. There are stronger reasons than the union of one party and the division of the other why the Democrats should carry the State. In all important measures before the New York Legislature the past session the Democrats have been with the people and exponents of the best public sentiment of the State against the machine and the bosses. They have acted in a manner to win confidence. Their opponents have improved every opportunity to defeat it. If records could be kept for anything there can be but one legitimate outcome of the work of the past winter.

Honest Republicans are almost sure to abandon the Republican organization. The bosses have forfeited the respect of all fair minded men, and elsewhere, as in New York, the fate of the party is sealed.

INSTITUTE NOTES.

One more very successful County Institute has been held, and the teachers have separated and gone to their homes to await the opening of the winter schools when the many ideas gained will be put into practice. It was in the query-box, Thursday, was found this question: "How much should a teacher who has a sixth month license be paid?" It evoked quite an excited discussion.

The Teachers' Re-union Thursday was attended by a crowded house. This shows that the citizens take an interest in the work of the teachers, for which we are very thankful. The programme was well carried out and was very good.

Prof. Ransburg, of Valparaiso, was with us Wednesday and Thursday and gave some very instructive talks on Natural History and Language.

Friday afternoon was mostly occupied by reports of committees and miscellaneous business.

The attendance reached 103, Friday—a greater number than has been enrolled at any previous Institute.

Many persons were surprised at the stand of the Superintendent on dancing and kindred amusements. We believe he is just right, and to give more authority to his statement let me quote from the report of the Superintendent of Whitley county to the State Superintendent: "While dancing and the use of tobacco may look to a very large portion of our people as being indeed very innocent in themselves and altogether harmless as to any influence effected thereby, yet a very large and respectable portion of our school patrons would rather not have our teachers indulge in such practices, and the teacher who cannot forego his amusement in dancing when such indulgence would add greatly to his influence for good, is not, in my opinion, worthy of license to teach school."

The spelling match for the bell, which was won last Institute by Messrs. Burnham and Johnson, was held Friday evening, and resulted in a tie between Miss Clara Coen and Mr. A. M. Munce. Another trial was given then to Messrs. Burnham, Murden and Johnson, and Miss Coen, which resulted in victory for Mr. Burnham. CORRESPONDENT.

August 23, 1881.

The late Judge Seymour, of Connecticut, was a man of sweet and kindly nature, and as a lawyer settled amicably an immense number of controversies. Once when prosecuting a case, says the Waterbury American, where the defendant was undoubtedly guilty, a point of evidence was ruled against him which was fatal to the case. He proposed to withdraw the charge without a verdict, but the defendant insisted upon a verdict in his favor, and the Court charged the Jury that the defendant was entitled to acquittal. They retired, and to the astonishment of a crowded Court Room, came back with a disagreement. "What occasions the difficulty?" queried the Judge. Whereupon an honest-looking Jurymen arose, and speaking for himself and some of his fellows, replied: "We have been well acquainted with Lawyer Seymour for a number of years, and we know that he never would have prosecuted the case unless he knew that this man was guilty."

Fair of 1881.

The Tenth Annual Fair of the Jasper County Agricultural Society will be held at Rensselaer, Indiana, on the 13th, 14th, 15th and 16th days of September—next month.

From present indications there will be an unusually large attendance of people from abroad. It has been better and more extensively advertised than any previous one. The completion of the Chicago and Indianapolis Air-line railroad to Chicago, and its certain construction to Indianapolis at an early day; the renewed and vigorous agitation of the Continental railway project; the discussion of the proposed railroad from the coal fields of Indiana directly to Chicago—each having Rensselaer as an objective point on its line—have served to advertise the town, county and region very widely, and public curiosity is aroused to learn of the products of the locality, the character and enterprise of the inhabitants, and the facilities afforded and promised for business. No better opportunity to judge of these things can be presented than by attendance at the County Fair; for here may be met people from every part of the county, and here strangers expect to see specimens of the best productions in live stock, grain, fruit and manufactures.

The secretary is in receipt of letters from parties in Kentucky, Illinois and Michigan, besides those in parts of our own state more or less remote, intimating a determination to visit our Fair this season for reasons here stated. Some of these correspondents promise to bring fine stock for exhibition. This will afford those who reside in Jasper and neighboring counties an opportunity to see celebrated prize cattle, sheep and horses, such as was never before presented them—at less expense and with more satisfaction than by a journey abroad.

A perusal of the premium list will disclose that the premiums offered in division A, for horses, are as liberal as those of former years and compare favorably with the premiums given by other associations. Division B, for asses and mules, premiums as large as ever. In division C, for cattle, the directors last year added a sub department for fat steers; this has been retained and the premiums in the entire division are as liberal as those of last year. In division D, for sheep, the directors have added three sub departments—one each for South-downs, Cotswolds and Merinos—which necessitated the increase of premiums offered in this division 300 per cent. Division E, for swine, remains unchanged. Division G, poultry, unchanged. Division H, gardening; H, grain and seeds; I, fruits; J, flowers and artificial work; K, domestic skill; and L, ladies' work, have been materially changed. The 10 per cent.

premium for the best of the year, which was charged heretofore, has been abolished, and all articles designed for these several divisions will be admitted to competition free of charge. This action would practically add 11 per cent. to the premiums in these divisions had they been left the same as were offered in other seasons. But a great deal more than this has been done for these divisions. In H additions of articles that might be exhibited for premiums were made which increases the amount of premiums in the division nearly 25 per cent. Premiums in division I were increased nearly 150 per cent. Premiums in division K increased 50 per cent. Premiums in division M, leather work, increased 70 per cent. Premiums in division N, miscellaneous, increased 25 per cent. and a number of departments added. The school department remains as last year. The division for farm apparatus, machinery, etc., the same as last year. For equestrian exhibitions, mule race and foot race the purses are as liberal as those of former times. In the speed ring the purses aggregate $460.

Having pride in the reputation of our immediate locality, the board of directors make a respectful personal appeal to the resident reader for assistance and co-operation in order that our annual exhibition shall be a credit to the region of country and one in which we may all enjoy a landable pride. As one means to this end they earnestly ask that each one bring something for exhibition. As an encouragement and special inducement for the exhibition of agricultural and horticultural productions and articles of house manufacture, the board of directors determined this year to admit everything of the kind to competition for premiums, FREE OF ENTRY FEES! This free list embraces more than one hundred articles, as follows:

Winter wheat, rye, clover seed, flax, flax seed, pears, oat meal, beans, grapes, oats, timothy seed, small fruits, tomatoes, cucumbers, watermelons, squashes, cabbages, muskmelons, pumpkins, cauliflower, nutmeg melons, potatoes, egg plant fruit, peppers, sweet potatoes, beets, onions, parsneps, sugar beets, carrots, roses in bloom, wax flowers, moss and rock work, annuals in bloom, wax plants, shell work, house plants, preserved leaves and flowers, taxidermist specimens, cut flowers, wig and hair jewelry, gold cake, homemade yeast bread, jelly cake, silver cake, homemade salt rising bread, fruit cake, marble cake, corn bread, sponge cake, white mountain cake, butter, cheese, canned peaches, spiced fruit, sweet preserves, canned peas, cucumber pickles, catsup, canned plums, mixed pickles, honey in comb, canned cherries, sweet pickles, apple butter, canned berries, medley, fruit butter, canned tomatoes, sorghum molasses, jellies, jams, tapestry work, chair covers, rugs, ottomans, slippers, embroidered handkerchiefs, mats, pin cushions, bead work, lady's cuffs and collars, tidies, lady's underwear, lady's chimesettes, lady's wrappers, lady's shirts, infant's shirts, lady's skirts, lady's night dresses, calico dresses, kitchen aprons, sofa pillows, patchwork garments, pillow shams, knit socks, knit mittens, knit scarfs, patch work quilts, log cabin quilts, stuffed quilts, quilted quilts, fancy quilts, silk quilts, double coverlets, single coverlets, display of needle work, rag carpets, etc.

In addition to the partial list above given, space will be provided free of charge for the display of the following articles which may compete for diplomas:

Stoves, house furniture, carpets, sewing machines, pianos, organs, carpenter and joiner work, etc. It will cost no money to exhibit the articles mentioned above, while all except those in the second list are entitled to liberal cash premiums according as they shall prove meritorious. No society in the state does better than this, and we confidently hope for a corresponding response of encouragement from the people, all of whom are directly interested in developing the resources of the county and promoting its industries. The speed ring purses are large, and two races will be made each day, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. These races will test speed in running, pacing and trotting. The sale of intoxicating drinks, and every species of games of chance and swindling devices, will be rigorously excluded from the fair grounds, as has been the practice with such happy results since the present organization came into control. Call upon or write to the secretary, at the postoffice, Rensselaer, Indiana, for all other information, or for premium lists, which will be mailed to any address free of postage.

CARD OF THANKS.—The friends that remembered us so kindly last Monday evening, will please accept our sincere thanks for their many tokens of good will. We will ever remember you as true friends and pray that God may bless you and guide you in the way of truth and righteousness.
