

Newspaper Decisions.
1. If a subscriber who does not give express notice to the contrary, has not consented to continue his subscription.
2. If subscribers order the discontinuance of their periodicals, the price will be continued to be paid.
3. If subscribers neglect or refuse to take their periodicals from the office to which they are sent, and the publishers have not been paid.
4. If subscribers move to other places without informing the publishers, and the publishers are not informed of their new address, they are held responsible.
5. The courts have decided that "refusing to take periodicals from the office or removing a periodical from the office, is prima facie evidence of intentional fraud."
6. Any person who receives a newspaper and makes a will, which has been ordered it or not, is bound in law to pay the subscriber.
7. If subscribers pay in advance they are not to give notice to the publisher that they do not want to continue taking it, or if the publisher is authorized to send it on, and the subscribers do not refuse to pay in advance, the publisher is bound to pay it, all amounts sent to the publisher.

Have for sale cheap lands. Buyers will do well to consult them before purchasing.

Quick and Sure.
Many miserable people drag themselves about with failing strength, feeling that they are steadily sinking into their graves. When by using Parker's Ginger Tonic they would find a cure commencing with the first dose, and vitality and strength quickly and surely coming back to them.

Five lads who went out from Greenock, Scotland, in a small boat to rescue two other boys who were in a great peril, were driven over to the Fife-shore, where they drew the boat up in safety, but it was afterward destroyed by a storm. The owner sued them for recover damages, but the court ruled that the boys were not responsible, and complimented them for their bravery.

The rarest coin in the United States is the double-eagle of 1840, of which there is only one in existence, belonging to the cabinet of the United States mint. The next in rarity is the half-eagle of 1815. It is said that the King of Sweden to complete his collection of United States coins, paid $2,000 for a specimen. Only five of these half-eagles are in existence. The silver dollar of 1804 is rare and valuable. Only ten pieces of the kind are to be found.

The robin has a red breast. They have a plaintive song, and sing as though they were sorry for something. They get their name from their great ability for robbing a cherry tree. They can also rob a currant bush fruit tree. It was not for these robins we should all be eaten up by caterpillars; but I think the robins might let us have now and then just one of our own cherries, tew see how they taste. The bat. They fly very much unstartin, and act as though they had taken a little to much gin. What they are good for I can't tell and don't believe they can tell either.

James Buchanan Evans was one of the head clerks in the Treasury department, eighteen years ago, and a great favorite in Washington society. He was a noted wit, a graceful dancer, wealthy and a free drinker. A Miss Harvey was a Washington belle. She belonged to the Norfolk family and had been carefully reared. This couple caused a social flutter by eloping and getting married. They did not return, and were soon forgotten, entering the circles in which they had moved. Even their relatives lost sight of them.

A few days ago, while a woman was singing and dancing on the stage in a concert saloon in Milwaukee, she was told that her husband was lying unconscious in a bar-room. It was common for him to get drunk, and she attached little importance to the message; but her daughter, also a performer, went to see her father, and found him dying from a fractured skull.

He was the once courted James Buchanan Evans, and had become a son. The woman was the former belle, Miss Harvey, and had turned her accomplishments to account in low form of the show business.

Anecdote of Judge Gray.

The Washington correspondent of the Philadelphia Press writes:

The bar here is looking for an outburst from Justice Gray. His Massachusetts reputation had become well before him. His enemies, against trembling deputy sheriffs and frightened witnesses, have been told about over and again. Only two lawyers in Boston have been able to turn the tables on him. One was Henry E. Payne and the other Sidney Bartlett.

"If your honor pleases," said Payne one day, beginning a motion.

"Sit down sir; don't you see I am talking with another Justice!" thus derided the then Chief Justice.

Mr. Payne took his hat and walked out of the court-room. A half hour afterward, a messenger reached his office with note saying that Judge Gray was willing to hear him. "I am not willing to be heard," answered the old lawyer, "until Judge Gray apologizes." And apologize the Judge had to.

"Mr. Bartlett," said the Chief Justice one afternoon, throwing his hat back in his chair, "that is not law and it never was law."

The veteran smiled, and looking over the bench, said: "It was law, your Honor, until your Honor just spoke."

A Bad Mix.

The Cincinnati Enquirer shows how badly printers sometimes get things mixed up by saying: Geo. Kinder, editor of the Putnam County Sentinel, recently wrote up a herd of short horn cattle, and the same week the ladies of Ottawa gave a concert, which George put in flowery language. The foreman had drab too much "air," and got the items混 up what mixed. This is how they read: "The concert given by the sixteen of Ottawa's most beautiful young ladies was highly appreciated. They were elegantly dressed, and sang in the most charming manner, winning the enthusiastic plaudits of the entire audience, who pronounced them the finest short-horned in the country. A few of them are of rich brown color, but the majority of them are spotted, brown and white. Several of the heifers weigh as high as fifteen hundred pounds. They are excellent milkers, and as high as twenty pounds of butter have been made from them in a single week."

A Foolish Mistake.
Don't make a mistake of confounding a remedy of merit with quack medicines. We speak from experience when we say that Parker's Ginger Tonic is a sterling health restorative which will do all that is claimed for it. We have used it for rheumatism and when worn out by over-work.

Our old friend and fellow-citizen, Mr. Eli Yoeman, departed this life last evening, after a protracted and painful illness. He was an affectionate husband and father and a faithful friend to the relatives have the sympathy of the entire community.

Funeral services at the Christian Church on to-morrow, Saturday, at 10 o'clock a. m. All are invited to attend.

GOOD NEWS.

No more chills and ague in this section. Our druggists are selling an article called "AGUE CONQUEROR." It is about the only satisfactory preparation sold for the cure of Fever and Ague, Dumb chills, Intermittent or Bilious Fevers. The Proprietor of the AGUE CONQUEROR has used but little energy to make this medicine known, and yet its sales is immense in Ague Districts. It purifies the blood, Liver and other Secretory organs so effectually that the Chills do not return even when persons have had them for years. Entirely vegetable preparation. Price 50 cents and $1.00 per bottle. Two doses will stop the chills.

Ladies who do fancy work buy of H. HALLETT & CO., Portland, Maine.
