SATURDAY JUNE 24, 1882,

at 1 o'clock, p. m. for the following purposes, to wit:

1. To reorganize the County Central Committee.
2. To select delegates to the State, Congressional, Senatorial, Representative and Judicial Conventions.
3. To nominate a County Ticket.
4. To nominate a State Convention from the representation in said Convention from the following Townships, to wit:

It is particularly urged that all Democrats use special efforts to have a general turn out to the meetings. Let us have a sharp, aggressive campaign and from the present outlook success will be the result.

By order of the Democratic Central Committee.

HENRY A. BARKLEY

Chairman Democratic Central Com.

D. B. MILLER, Secretary.

The announcement of Mr. Burnham appears in the Republican and contains a bad and cruel blunder.

Radical Howgate's stealings, as finally audited, is said to amount to $101,275 80.

The Jury Commission is not even a respectable fraud, for it deceives no one. It is all protection.

Little Brown Jug paced a mile in 2:16 1/4 at Red Wing, Minn., recently, the fastest time on record on a half mile track.

Dr. Talmage was the greatest attraction at the Trinity College, North Carolina, commencement. Six thousand people went to hear him talk.

Fraud Hayes planted two acres of corn, using his own little hoe this year. It was a hard, dry, temperance sort of corn, and he hopes that the cubs can be used in place of sand-piper.

A Missouri woman was astonished when a man took her suddenly in his arms and jumped into a pond with her; and grateful when she learned that her dress had been in a blaze, which the leap extinguished.

At the recent Philadelphia Convention of Independent Republicans the banners bore the following: "The cause for which Garfield died must not be lost." Garfield was murdered a Republican crank, and was the victim of the spoils system.

Charles Erway, a boy aged 12 years, living at South Bend, was bitten by a dog two years ago. The wound healed, and nothing more was thought of it until Thursday last week, when the boy began to show unmistakable signs of hydrophobia. Friday his paroxysms were terrible, and his recovery improbable.

A recent story from Congressman Sam S. Cox: "While in Georgia some time ago I happened to be passing along the street. 'Hallo! Sam,' said a particularly black colored man on the other side of the street. 'Hallo.' I promptly replied, whereupon the African aforesaid retorted, 'Cuse me, sah; I dressin' another cullud man.'"

A little story about the President: "Chapter I.—When General Arthur was Vice President he wrote to Postmaster Pearson, of New York, requesting an appointment for a political friend. The Postmaster wrote on the back of the request that politicians had no influence in that office. Chapter II.—The letter has since come into President Arthur's possession. Chapter III.—Is not quite ready to be written, but it will probably read something like this:—has been nominated for Postmaster at New York, vice Pearson, removed. The New York Tribune prints the story.

General Milo S. Hascall, of Goshen, in his Decoration Day address, delivered at Kokomo, said: "I say, further, that there is not a machine politician or third-term in the land, from Conkling and Cameron and other would-be bosses down to the lowest tide-water in the machine service, but what, notwithstanding his crocodile tears, rejoices in his secret heart that the man made President by the assassin Guitau, instead of the one made so by the great American people, now sits in the Executive chair." Hascall is a leading half-breed, and evidently hates a Stalwart worse than he does a Democrat.

Brother Talmage, says the Indianapolis Sentinel, suggests that in the next world the spirits of men continue the occupations their bodies follow in this world. It does not seem probable, as for instance, there is ex-Senator Dorsey. Is he to rob the Government? Is "My Dear Hubbard" to assess Government employees? Is Hayes to draw Tilden's salary? Is Arthur to hug stalwarts and kick half-breeds? Is Guitau to run a mud machine with Grant? Is Murat Halsted to champion Liza Pinkston, and Republican officials to steal bond papers, print epurious bonds and divide the proceeds? Is Jo Gray to have a class, and teach his pupils how to vote and count double tickets? It does not seem possible, Brother Talmage will have to revise his theory.

Congressional Committee Meeting.

The democratic committee of the 10th Congressional district met in the Council chamber, at Logansport, Tuesday, for the purpose of fixing the time and place of holding the Democratic Congressional nominating convention. The meeting was called to order by A. B. Crampton of DePaul, chairman, at 2 o'clock.

On motion of Dr. Thompson, of Pulaski county, Thomas J. Tuley, of Logansport was made Secretary, and on motion of Mr. Keefe, of Newton county, the meeting proceeded to business. Mr. Keefe moved that the basis of representation of the different counties be fixed at one vote for each hundred voters and one vote for each fraction thereof. Carried.

The different counties were allowed representations as follows: Lake, 12; Porter, 16; Newton, 7; Jasper, 8; Elkhart, 10; Fulton, 13; Cass, 36; Carr, 1; 2; White, 16 and Benton 13.

On motion of Dr. Thompson the place of holding the nominating convention was fixed to be held at Warsaw, and on motion the date of holding the same was fixed upon as August 23d.

On motion the convention adjourned.

On to-morrow the Democracy of Jasper County will assemble in Delegate Convention at this place.

If moderation and wise counsels prevail a ticket may be placed in nomination which will receive the encouragement and support of the masses without regard to political predilection. Let honesty and capability be the test. For most of the officers there will no doubt be competition. And therefore at this time we desire not to speak of them, preferring rather to leave them to the unbiased action of the Convention.

For County Auditor, however, it is universally conceded that Ezra C. Nowels, the present incumbent, should be the nominee. Honest, faithful and laborious in the discharge of the duties of the office, he has made hosts of friends in all parties who will rejoice at the opportunity afforded them to express their appreciation of his services at the ballot-box.

an idea that they are running for office, and have entered upon an active canvass. Mr. Stewart, the nominee of the Independents for governor, is aggressive and uncompromising. The impression made by him at the large Pittsburgh meeting was highly favorable. The leaders in the Cameron camp have represented him as a disappointed apologist laying his failure at the door of Cameron whom he had petitioned for place. Answering this, Stewart said: "Never by myself or by another, by uttered speech or written word, have I asked from either father or son any favor or service, political or otherwise, and I challenge them and their henchmen, adherents and dependents, to prove to the contrary. So that there may be no doubt about this matter, I remove every restriction from private correspondence, if there be any, every restriction from private conversation, if there was any, and ask only that witnesses shall appear at the trial. Before that trial I have never bowed, and never will." This is sufficiently explicit. Wolf, a year ago, polled some 40,000 votes. His canvass was without organization and was carried on over a limited area by himself alone. The situation is so far changed that out of a possible 44,000 republican vote the independents of this year may cast a round hundred thousand votes. As the republican plurality in Pennsylvania is but 37,000 the bolt will be sufficient to elect the democratic candidates.

On Monday last Mr. Voorhees addressed the Senate in opposition to the National Banking system. He said the Banks were asking an undue lease of power, and after detailing the alleged evils and damages of the system, urged the necessity of eliminating what he regarded as a cumbrous and dangerous intermediate agency between the Government and the people. This, he held, would be accomplished by the measure prepared by Mr. Vest, substituting for the outstanding bank circulation Treasury notes, exchangeable on demand into coin, at par, and prohibiting the organization of additional National Banks.

Three Important Cases—Logansport Journal.

Neither party was dissatisfied with the verdict, but both have had enough law.

In compliance with published call, a very respectable assemblage of soldiers convened at the Court House on Saturday ult., and proceeded promptly to the consideration of the business mentioned in the call.

It was decided that, if practicable, they desired the reunion held at Rensselaer, the coming autumn, and D. D. WATKINS, F. W. BABCOCK and J. A. BURHAM were appointed a committee to act with reference to the place where and preparations for holding the Reunion.

It was then determined to organize a Post G. A. R., at Rensselaer; C. A. Edmonds, Jno. W. Powell and Jas. A. Burnham were appointed a committee to arrange for the perfecting of such organization, and the following names were thereupon enrolled as members of the Post:
