

THE DEMOCRATIC SENTINEL

OFFICIAL PAPER OF JASPER COUNTY.

FRIDAY OCTOBER 5, 1883.

Joaquin Miller calls the Tewksbury tanning establishment "this new industry in the shoe and leather business."

General McClellan tells the whole story in one short sentence: "Republicanism means centralization and a curtailment of the rights of the people."

Thomas C. Platt, the "metoo" of the stalwart element in New York, was driven off the State committee by a majority of one vote against his reelection. Senator Lapham, a "feather head" was made temporary chairman of the State convention.

The New York Herald says: "Judge John C. Robinson, of Indiana, has been on the bench since he was thirty years old, and he is now forty two.—He is a big, handsome man, and next to Senator Voorhees, the most popular orator in his State."

The old three cent stamp, though not redeemable, is not worthless by any means. It can still be used in combinations and on letters of the regular weight if so desired. For instance, if a letter requires four cents postage, a three and a one-cent stamp can be used. So two three-cent stamps will carry a letter that requires that amount of postage. The three-cent stamp will carry a letter now just as it did before the change, but, of course it costs the sender one cent more than is necessary. The old two-cent stamp is as good for letter postage as the new one and will be so received.

General Ben Butler is confident of being elected Governor of Massachusetts again. In speaking of his candidacy for re-election Gov. Butler said, "My issues are reforming and simplifying the State government; securing the greatest benefits to the greatest number of people; breaking up rings; checking corruption and turning rascals out of place wherever I can find them and have unearthed some, and hunting for more, and if God spares my life and energies I will break up every species of official wrong doing, carelessness and extravagance in this State. This I will do without the aid of any of the influence which have heretofore dominated affairs in Massachusetts. I will do it with the aid of common sense, respect and affection of the whole people, and the force of public sentiment that has grown and is growing. My sympathies have ever been with the humble classes, the bone and sinew and inherent good sense of my fellow-citizens. I have shown that I think in my public career I care nothing for traditions or memories of past glories. I do not live in the past. The present alone concerns me. There are wrongs to right and we can not right them by eloquent platitudes. My policy is to actually secure results by actual and intelligent effect."

Ha! ha! Brother Marshall, how do you do? You see we are on hands again, and hope we may yet get some fun out of you. We are disposed, my dearsir, to be very obliging, and look upon your masterly effort as a wag with all the consideration it deserves. You know the old saying about the mule, &c. Well, we make the same application to you in the kindest of feelings.

Well, Bro. Marshall, it was very kind of you to attack a person who had always thought to let you keep your own side of the road; it brings one into notice. Of course we will acknowledge that so far as controlling a paper is concerned you have the advantage, and may possibly have the last word. But remember one thing—it may be harder to get the last word than you think.—In beginning this joke you became the author, but, perhaps, not the finisher of this controversy, whereof the end is not yet apparent.

So now for a reply to your poetry in your paper of last week. I have wondered what it was that made you, in the last few days, look so much like a dried herring, and why you looked so absent-minded; but relieving yourself of so much wit, I suppose, is the reason. Thinking that you have an affinity for poetry—about as much as a monkey has for fire—I will give you some; and believing you know fully as much about music as a hog does about divinity, we will have it set to the tune of "Hold the Fort," so that your special friends can serenade you, and possibly learn it to you:

Bar: the roller-skates are sounding, In the rink at hand, See Marshall tumbling, falling, bounding, Oh, the sight is grand. Chorus: Before Marshall caves it in: He's lost his roller in the wriggle, Oh, see the damp pool spin!

Lo! a sound of confusion teaming, From the gallery floor: Women let king children screaming At a dandish boor. Chorus:

See how the cursed dude is kicking, And behold his Grecian bed, While he the splinters keeps a picking From out his latter end. Chorus:

He sweats and labors in the tussle To keep up his feet; But did you hear that whining snuffle As he took his seat? Chorus:

My jabs are stiff, my body weak, He cries, to his mamma; I wish my vengeance on him wreak, Who says my falls he saw. Chorus:

Oh! Marshall, do not get so sharp About the fun we've had; Your contest is not with Ed Tharp, You might feel very sad. Chorus:

After E. C. Ward—a short way.

EZRA C. NOWELS.

MRS. C. W. THOMAS,

—THE GREAT

MAGNETIC AND BOTANIC PHYSICIAN!

Will be at the Makeever House until October 5th, 1883, and return October 29th, 1883.

Who cures all kinds of chronic diseases known to the human family, from a cancer down to a felon; and her remedy is chiefly Magnetism, some cases she uses herbs, roots and barks.—God's natural remedies,—but she cures all her patients who do as she directs.

Below we give some of the names of patients whom she has cured, as references:

In the vicinity of Attica, Ind., Mrs. Catherine Galaway, Cancer on breast and tongue; John Smith, Dyspepsia; and there are living in that vicinity over one hundred people that she has cured.

At Williamsport, Wm. Slaughter, St. Vitus' Dance; Mrs. E. A. Tuttle, Cancer on breast.

West Lebanon, Miss Ella Butler, Cancer on arm.

Carbondale, Mrs. Celinea Brier, Catarrh; James F. Garnet, Blindness and Asthma; Minny Crusan, of spinal disease and dislocated ankle; Wm. Brier, of dislocated shoulder of 20 years standing, and weak breast, and his son and wife of different diseases.

At Alvin, Ill., many cases of Piles and Female weaknesses; Mrs. Harper, of Tumor.

Remington, Jasper county, Ind., Thomas Harris' family had Scrofulous sore eyes; his child had not had her eyes open for three months, and one part of her spine appeared to be entirely gone, and Mrs. Thomas said when the spine was cured the eyes would open, so she treated her spine until the place filed up and, on the 13th of September, in the afternoon, her eyes came open, and looked bright and nice as though there had been nothing the matter with them.

His wife, who was nearly blind, is getting well.

A little girl, for whom he has spent six hundred dollars is getting well. Mrs. McDougle, wife of J. O. B. McDougle, had been sun struck, years ago, and the doctors had nearly ruined both her system and mind. She became satisfied that their poisons were killing her, and quit taking them, saying she had rather die a natural death than they should kill her with poison. She employed Mrs. Thomas, and in two weeks was much better; to-day she is nearly well, and one of the liveliest ladies in Remington.

Brookton, Ind., John Reed, born deaf, or if he ever heard in his life his folks do not know it; Mrs. Thomas diagnosed the case and said it could be cured, she has treated him three months and he hears everything, but as yet has not learned to talk, but probably will in time. He is nearly 10 years old.

BROOKTON, IND., Sept 17th, 1883.

Mrs. Thomas came here in June last. I had been suffering with a very bad cough for several months, my wife and daughter were apprehensive that I was going into consumption. Mrs. Thomas said she could cure me, and in 48 hours after treatment the cough was entirely gone, the soreness left my lungs, and I am as well as most men of my age. My wife was sick with disease of the stomach, and she cured her completely. My daughter had been quite seriously diseased for several years, and I she cured her entirely. Mrs. Thomas cured a great many patients here in my house, and as far as I know, they are all better, and many of them entirely well. Myself and family were treated without medicine, that is, she cured us by Magnetism.

JAMES WALLACE.

Examination, with patients present, or with lock of hair. Fee $1. Office hours: 9 a. m., to 12: and from 1 to 6 p. m.

The mystery connected with the Ada Atkinson murder still remains unsolved. Alexander M. Potts has been arrested for the crime, but it is given out that he is believed not to be the man.

P. S. Corkins has been appointed postmaster at Fowler. The Review intimates that the resignation of the late p. m., and the appointment of P. S. C. to the vacancy was a genuine surprise to their people.

Women flag railway crossings in Austria.
