

Another Republican newspaper has gone wrong. The Buffalo Express says it "will not advocate the election of the devil, nor that of any of his identified subordinates, no matter upon what ticket he or they may succeed in being elected."

The speaker's chair in congress has been pretty well balanced between the North and South after all. There have been fifty-two elections to fill that place, and it has fallen twenty-six times to the North, while the election of Mr. Carlisle makes the twenty-sixth time for the South.

Among the possible Republican tickets the following have been named: Elaine and Mosby, Sherman and Longstreet, Arthur and Mahone Logan and J. Madison Wells, also Grant and "My Dear Hubble." They are all nice Republican teams, but the best team, it is thought would be Harrison and Dorey. We both familiar with Indiana politics. One master of law and the other of lying. One thinks he is a statesman, the other is known to be a thief. But we shall know all about it after the convention meets.

A pointer for Dudley. Sample it. The New York Sun says:

It is very end to know that Mr. W. W. Dudley, Commissioner of Pensions, can not consent to become the Republican candidate for Governor of Indiana. We are not aware that there has been any frantic demand for Dudley among the Indiana Republicans, and have no doubt that they will be able to bear his withdrawal with equanimity. Still he had something to do with carrying that State in 1880, when he was U. S. Marshal, and made himself prominent and disagreeable by his zeal in arresting Democratic voters. As a candidate for Governor he would not be particularly interesting, but it would be a good thing to have somebody with more economical ideas than his in the Pension Office.

PLATE GLASS.

A Tariff Tax of 145 Per Cent. on the Article.

Perhaps there is no manufactured article which enters into so general a use among a numerous circle of important industries, great and small as plate glass. It is not less indispensable for the advantageous display of its wares to the humble shop in the bystreet than to the showier establishments in the leading streets and avenues. In house furniture, also, as it is well known, its use is very general, so much so that it is gradually superseding, especially in the cities, the common window glass. Hence it can no longer be classed as a luxury, but a necessity, and it is in the interest of the poorer, not less than the wealthier classes, therefore that it should be obtainable cheaply as possible.

Now, how does the present tariff deal with the article of, as we have said, almost general consumption? Let us see. We had occasion to inspect an importation of French and English plate glass at the Custom House a day or two ago, which cost on the other side $317 12 2d (or $1,543.80) upon which the duty was $2,295.56, or 145 per cent. There are incidents and illustrations of his kind in the almost every day transactions at Uncle Sam's gray building in Wall street; and when the work of tariff revision is fairly entered upon, it occurs to us, the House could not do better than to appoint a Committee to come on here to obtain a personal insight into the practical workings of this method of "protecting home industry." It would help immensely to open the eyes of our legislators to the equality of the thing.

Why is this sweeping tax imposed upon every shop-keeper, every household, and the large circle of industries to which we have alluded? Simply to foster a grasping home monopoly, which has but four manufacturing establishments in the whole country—one at Crystal City, Mo. one at Jeffersonville, Ind.; one at New Albany, Ind., and the other at Pittsburgh, Pa.; the total number of workmen employed in which, we are informed, does not exceed 700 all told. The capital employed in the business, moreover, is less than $2,000,000.

So, then it comes to this, that in order to "foster" these four little factories out West 50,000,000 of people are taxed at the rate of 145 per cent. Under the old Roman Emperor, the historian tells us, the science of taxation was so minute that, proverbially, no man, woman or child could hope to escape the omnivorous tax-gatherer; but what tribute to the Caesar in the days of the Emperors was so or more merciless than this?

At the last session of Congress, when the tariff was up for revision, there were urgent appeals on behalf of the redemption of this glass duty, but the utmost that could be wrung from that body was the following magnificent addition to the tariff list:

"Glass, broken plates and old glass, which can not be cut for use, and fit only to be remanufactured."

"Glass plate, or disks, unwrought, for use in the manufacture of optical instruments."

This, of course, was the metest bagatelle; and so the 145 per cent. on the imported article, as above mentioned, was not touched. Is it not high time, therefore, that the industries of the country were freed from this snarl of Nassau which has been fastened upon it now for twenty-two years or more?—New York Commercial Bulletin.

AMUSEMENTS.—The Criterion Dramatic Company opened a three nights engagement at the Athenaeum last night with Fanchon. The drama is light and natural to life and yet a most difficult one to present in all the varied efforts of its simplicity. The company is composed of good material and capable of much better work than is required in the Cricket. But the cast was well sustained throughout, especially when the difficulties which were presented on the outside are considered. Lida Cooke makes most bewitching Fanchon, and captured the audience upon her first appearance. —Exchange.

At Opera House, Monday night, Fanchon. Lida Cooke as Fanchon; Edward Wodiska as Laundry Barbaud.

"A Literary Republic"

Fifty million of people, mostly putting it, the new brilliantly successful Literary Revolution—which a few months ago was supposed to be permanently doomed—assumes the opposite, that people are not mostly fools, but that they want Good books rather than trash, and the "Literary Republic" is the result. Every reader is a voter. Ballots in the first election are to be cast (by postal card), before January 1, 1884. The following are the first "candidates" for honors:

GEORGE RAWLINSON.—"History of the Seven Great Monarchies of the Aulest Eastern World" In three large 12mo. volumes, about 2,400 pages, with profuse and fine illustrations.—Price reduced from $18 to $3.

JOHN RUSKIN.—"Modern Painters" and "Stones of Venice" In five handsome 12mo. volumes, about 3,250 pages, with many illustrations. Price reduced from $30 to $4.

GUIZOT AND DEWITT.—"History of France, from the earliest time to 1848" Translated from the French. Profusely illustrated. In five large 12mo. volumes, about 4,000 pages. Price reduced from $36 to $5.

HENRI VAN LAUN.—"Complete History of French Literature." In two large 12mo. volumes, about 1,600 pages. Price reduced from $7.50 to $1.50.

The candidates stand separately. Vote for those you want, one or all. It will take 10,000 votes for each to elect. The 10,000 being received, the books described will be published during the present winter on the terms stated. No money is asked in advance. You can receive and examine the books before paying for them. A specimen number of the IRVING LIBRARY, giving samples of type, paper, and other particulars, will be sent free to any applicant. Address JOHN B. ALDEN, publisher, 18 Versey St. New York.

CHOICE LITERATURE.

This magazine, without any rival in its economy of cost, continues to occupy its place in the front rank of literary periodicals. Amongst December contents we note: "On Being Pitted" a spicy anonym sketch, presumably by James Payne; "The 'Why' and 'How' of Land Nationalization," by A. R. Wallace, one of the latest English champions of the theory that the land rightly belongs to the whole people, and not to individuals; "Wallenstein and the Drama," a very able critical article, dealing particularly with the writings of Schiller, who is ranked by many as the greatest literary genius of Germany, and his subject, one of the most remarkable characters in the great Thirty Years' War; "The Lake George Tour," by J. Arbuthnot Wilson, a very readable sketch, "Iniquity in Punishment," by Lord Justice Fry, one of the most difficult problems with which statesmen and jurists have to deal, discussed with great ability; "The Towers of Silence," a funeral custom of India; "Wordsworth and the Dutton," a charming sketch of a great poet, and the scenes of which he wrote; "Canadian Home Rule," by Lord Lorne, late Governor-General; "The Future Prospects of Madagascar," by Rev. Geo. A. Snares, the Missionary whose name was so prominent in the recent complication between France and England; "Honeyuckle," a nature study, by Grant Allen, a poet-naturalist; "Senilia," Prose Poems, by Ivan Turgeeff; Robert Browning, an enthusiastic and scholarly, by Hon. Roden Noel; "The New Birth of Christian Philosophy," an able theological study, by Rev. Dr. Barry; and "Sleeplessness," a most practical and interesting paper by an anonymous writer. Does any even of the $4 magazines ever present a more brilliant and instructive array of high class literature? $1.00 a year single numbers 10 cents. John B. Alden, Publisher, New York.

WHAT FOR?

A boy and girl a sighing went,
And heiter of them cared a cent
How fast they rid,
While on they slid—
What for, and where!

The air was very cold and raw—
The lit a boy, he froze his paw.
Still on they sped
In their little sled—
What for, and where?

The little girl, so young and fair,
Lost nearly all her golden hair,
They went so fast,
Their friends they passed—
What for, and where!

The horse, of course, got badly scared,
And run, and pitched, and kicked,
And reared,
On went the pair—
Now almost there—
What for, and where?

The boy and girl were tumbled out—
She sprained her ear he broke his snout—
Then up they got,
And off they sot—
What for, and where?

For Levin's little candy store—
To get some candy—Nothing more—
They got it, too,
And so may you—
What for?
