An Atlanta correspondent of the Chicago Tribune says that when General Longstreet received the request from the Department of Justice at Washington for his resignation as United States Marshal of Georgia, he wrote back that it is customary in Georgia, even with the humblest employe, to compensate him for services rendered before dismissing him from duty, and that large amounts were due his office on accounts rendered for work performed in the years 1882, 1883 and 1884, and when the amount thus due were paid he would consider the suggestion as to his resignation. The sum that he claims embraces portions of accounts rendered for the three years cited in the letter.

When Mr. Blaine was Secretary of State there were several American citizens of Irish birth arrested and imprisoned without trial and without a direct charge against them, and Mr. Blaine "vigorous foreign policy" never extended to their prison doors. He was very busy with the guano beds of South America; but the English jail beds of American citizens he deliberately refused to see.—Boston Pilot.

All taxation shall be limited to the requirements of economical Government. The necessary reduction in taxation and must be effected without depriving American labor of the ability to compete successfully with foreign labor, and without imposing lower rates of duty than will be ample to cover any increase of cost of production which may exist in consequence of the higher rate of wages prevailing in this country.—National Platform of the Democracy.

"The startling exposure of Speaker Blaine's venality in connection with the Union Pacific Road, Eastern Division, entirely destroys, of course, whatever credit some people may have given to his evasive denial of the Oakes Ambrosy bribery, and puts the whole case of the Credit Mobilier upon a different basis. * * * Now it shows that Speaker Blaine never deserved his good reputation. He has taken bribe in another case."—New York Tribune, September 30, 1873.

The Chairman of the independent conference, Colonel R. Godman, sounded the key-note of the prevailing sentiment when he said:

I do not hesitate to say that the defeat of Mr. Blaine should be compassed by all honorable means. It seems to me that the cause of good government, of pure politics, of American character, requires it to be done. There is but one way to do it and that way (to vote for Cleveland) must be obvious to us all.
