Our neighbor is terribly worked up over the Blaine scandal. But, then, how did he chuckle over "A Terrible Tale" on Cleveland! It makes a sight of difference whose ox is gored.

Cleveland defended the Fenian raiders in 1866. Blaine let McSweeney languish in jail in 1881. Irishmen are aware of both circumstances, and will discriminate between them at the ballot box.

Blaine directed his libel suit to be brought in the United States Court where it could not possibly be reached before the November election. This action on his part explains that he is more anxious to make his election sure than to secure a "vindication."

Calkins don't dispute his letter to the poor widow, Mrs. Duncan, asking a contribution of twelve dollars from her to aid in securing his election to Congress. Had she forked over the amount demanded the reasons assigned by Calkins for her removal would never have been heard of.

The statement of the LaPorte Argus concerning Calkins' school fund speculation shows that repeated efforts to sell the mortgaged lands have failed, and the substance of the La-Porte Herald-Chronicle reply is that the gallant Majah smilingly insists that continued efforts be made to secure a sale while he jingles the school money in his pocket.

The Republican dubs Blaine's libel suit against the Indianapolis Sentinel Bruising A Serpent's Head. On reading the Sentinel however, one is led to believe that Blaine's head is sought in a fly-wheel, and when gain brought to face the realities he will be ready to down on his knees as he did on another occasion in the presence of his friend Mulligan.

Cleveland says—"Tell the truth." Blaine says—"See the Sentinel in the United States Court."

The Republican terms Blaine's action—"Bruising A Serpent's Head."

There can be no difficulty in discerning the manhood of Cleveland; the demagoguery of Blaine, and the "dampfoolism" of Gentle George.

And now comes that old radical political trickster, Johnnie Davenport and says that after four years unremitting search and toil he has tracked to his lair the author of the "Morey Letter." Johnnie is a celebrated concocter of campaign lies. The masses of the people, notwithstanding the denials, are fully satisfied in their own minds that Garfield wrote that letter, and that Davenport is an unmitigated liar and a fraud.

One of the funniest things in current politics is the spectacle of Ben.
Butler posing as the candidate of the anti-monopolists and working-men.
At the Chicago Convention Benjamin was the only delegate who appeared in the full evening dress commonly worn by working men—white choker, swallow tailed coat and kid gloves.
As an anti-monopolist Butler is a daisy. He owns the only hunting mill in the United States, and has a complete monopoly of the American flag. Of course his voice is for "the old flag and an appropriation."

The corporation or business man who would permit his clerks and business manager to have absolute control of his affairs for twenty-five years without overhauling the books, would be unanimously voted an idiot. The United States Government is the greatest corporation in this continent, doing business for more than fifty millions of people. The Republican party has had undisputed control of the entire business for twenty-four years. The time has come for an accounting. Let us have the books opened and a balance sheet made out. It is impossible that among the army of office-holders there has not been a vast amount of rascality. It is equally unlikely that the truth will ever be known till the opposition come into power. The hour and the man have come. Let us open the books.

Is a lie more potent than the truth?
It would seem so. For instance, there is the alleged Reverend Ball of Buffalo. He had been preaching the supposed truth nobody knows how many years, and had never been heard of outside of his congregation. All at once he embarks in the whole-sale lie business, and immediately springs into a notoriety as extensive as it is infamous. Ball wears the belt as the champion liar of the United States, having knocked out all competitors on the first round. But he has a very able and muscular set of imitators among Republican editors. If they don't "get there" it is from lack of ability, not lack of inclination.

The political preacher is the most bigoted, narrow-minded and pestiferous of politicians. But when it comes to constructing a four story political lie with mansard roof and completely furnished throughout, they can give the professional politician points in the game and beat him every time.

The radicals certainly show a dramatic phase in their efforts and plans to manufacture sympathy for James Guanio Blaine. When the "Terrible Tale" against Mr. Cleveland was concocted and set afloat, it began to be discussed that a "Terrible Tale" and "O'er True," could be reproduced that would overwhelm the radical bantling and come back like a boomerang upon the half-breed leaders. It was then no doubt determined by the worshipper of Mulligan and his tools that in the event of the scandal being reproduced and circulated they would endeavor to obtain an injunction against such proceedings by entering suits for libel—in other words, they would seek to muzzle the press.
This course has been pursued, and close upon its heels comes the announcement that some vandal has defaced the tomb-stone of his little boy by erasing the dates thereon.— No opponent of Blaine would do such a thing. It would be but advance the aspirations of the "sun-struck" statesman. Who more likely to perpetrate such an outrage than the tools of your Davenports?

The campaign of detraction and slander inaugurated by the Republicans immediately upon the nomination of Cleveland has reacted upon their own candidate. The villainous falsehoods concerning Gov. Cleveland's private life have been matched by equally vile and probably true assertions in relation to Blaine's conduct in his earlier years. Men and women who should be ashamed to soil their lips with the detestable stuff roll the lecherous lies as a sweet morsel under their tongues, and compound with their consequences by the reflection that the slandered candidate belongs to the opposite party! People who want to be considered leaders in politics and society roll up their sleeves and fling this filth about with a vim and vigor which would be amusing were it not disgusting, and from their ardent one would suppose that the truth or falsity of these nasty stories were the only question involved in the present campaign. All this is utterly detestable and infinitely degrading. It is merely the old trick of the Republican cuttle-fish. They seek to blacken the waters, hoping that in the confusion attention may be diverted from the record of themselves and their candidate, and they may again get away with the bootie."

HENDRICKS ACCEPTS.

A Letter Remarkable for its Brevity—Simply an Acceptance.

Indianapolis, August 29, 1884.
Gentlemen—I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your communication notifying me of my nomination by the Democratic convention at Chicago as a candidate for the office of vice-president of the United States. May I repeat what I said on another occasion, that "it is a nomination which I have neither expected nor desired, and yet I recognize and appreciate the high honor done me by the convention. The choice of such a body, pronounced with such unusual unanimity, and accompanied with so generous an expression of esteem and confidence, ought to outweigh all merely personal desires and preferences of my own.
It is with this feeling, and I trust also from a deep sense of public duty, that I now accept the nomination, and shall abide the judgement of my countrymen." I have examined with care the declarations of principles adopted by the convention, a copy of which you submitted to me, and in their substance I heartily approve the same.

I am, gentlemen, your obedient servant,
T. A. HENDRICKS.

To the Hon. Wm. F. Vilas, chairman; Nicholas M. Bell secretary, and others of the committee of the national democratic convention

Young man invites a couple of ladies to an ice cream saloon. When seated at the table his eye falls upon a card on the wall; "Ice-Cream $2 per gall." Remembering that two "buzzards" comprise his total stock of cash, he puts a bold face on the matter, and calls out to the waiter, "Who cares for expenses? bring one cream and three spoons."

A coal dealer asked some law students what legal authority was the favorite of his trade. One answered "Coke." "Right," said the coal dealer.
Another suggested "Blackstone." "Good, too!" said the questioner. Then a little man piped out "Little-top." Then the coal dealer sat down.

Indianapolis News: A republican conclusion remark'd to a News reporter to-day that the negro element was fast becoming an elephant on republican hands. No matter what was given it, more was demanded, and the party must begin to hedge or else it would go down beneath its extravagant demands

Indianapolis News: Senator Harrison's opening speech is set for Saturday evening, at the Park theater, and a special invitation has been given out for the ladies to attend.

Bennie wishes to repeat to the ladies this campaign—"How glad I am I'm not a Democrat." Bennie is a kid-gloved demagogue.

"I wish my wife wasn't a politician," said Snifkins, sadly. "Why?" asked his friend. "Is she a democrat or republican?" "Neither, she's a 'bolt-er'—She won't let me in after 10:30 o'clock at night."

A stone-cutter received the following Tenth-century epiphany to be cut upon a tombstone: "Mine wife Susan is dead; if she had lived till next Friday she'd been dead just two weeks.
As a tree falls so it stans."

Prime Reading For The Colored Voter.

"There was a law once in force in Illinois to the effect that any person caught in the act of giving aid or assistance to any colored man, woman or child, should be arrested, and, upon proof of the charge, should be put in prison for two years. I was practicing law at that time in an Illinois town, where a little colored lad came to my house and said: 'Please, mister, won't you give me something to eat? I haven't had anything to eat in two days.' I called my wife and told her to get a big slice of bread and butter it all over, and get some meat.
'Would it not be better,' she said, 'to have the boy come in the house, as everybody seems to be watching us?' I said, 'No, I want this people to see that I am not afraid to give, and sus-tain any of God's poor unfortunates.' The Grand Jury was in session at the time, and an indictment was soon found against me for giving sustenance to a negro. I was accordingly arrested and brought before the court, and plead guilty to the charge, and stated in open court that I would do so again, and whenever I found the laws of man interfering with the laws of God I would violate the human law every time. The testimony given had the desired effect, and the Court announced to the packed court-house that he found the prisoner at the bar 'Not guilty of the charge,' and I was set free. The man who was the prime mover and factor in this bill was none other than John A. Logan, the nominee for Vice President of the Republican party."
—Governor St. John's recent speech.
