August 29, 1884.

Blaine and the Hocking Valley Troubles.

William D. Marvel, a well-known iron dealer of New York writes to the N. Y. Post and says:

"If you will turn to the New York Tribune of August 31, 1881, you will find an item setting forth the enormous monopoly of nearly all the coal and iron interests in the Hocking valley, in Ohio, giving the names of the persons who provided the 'colossal capital' for the monopolization and operation of 'about one hundred and forty square miles or ninety thousand acres' of land."

"Among the names will be found Governor Foster of Ohio; Mr. William Walter Phelps of New Jersey; Mr. Secretary James G. Blaine and General James A. Hall, of Maine. When the tariff question was before Congress Mr. Blaine came forward as a special lobbyist of the coal and iron interest for a big duty on bituminous coal and iron ore.

"The duty on iron ore is 75 cents per ton; the duty on bituminous coal is 75 cents per ton.

"If you will turn to the file of the Commercial Advertiser you will find on the 14th of July, 1884, a dispatch from Columbus, Ohio, stating that a large number of imported laborers had been sent down to the Hocking Valley mines, guarded by 130 of Pinkerton's special police armed with carbines and revolvers. In the Commercial Advertiser of the 15th of July, 1884, you will find another dispatch stating that the owners say they will have 3,000 more foreigners to go into the mines in a few days.

"The dispatches of yesterday and to-day from the region portray the condition of things there now. Now, what are the facts?

"A great monopoly has a protective tariff of seventy-five cents per ton on bituminous coal, ostensibly for the benefit of the poor workingmen, to protect them against what is called pauper labor. Now, those miners only struck against having their wages reduced below seventy cents per ton. Thus they only asked as wages five cents less than the entire amount of the protective tariff, and they are treated with carbines and revolvers. This is a fine showing upon which to ask the laboring men to vote for Mr. Blaine.

"It is a moral issue and not political.—Cleveland's friends.

"But when you mention his nasty record they say it is not in the canvass. It don't count. But yet it is a moral issue and not political."—Cleveland Gazette.

Cleveland, however, responds—Tell the truth. But when you mention Blaine's nasty and cowardly record, he telegraphs to the Indianapolis ring—"Sue the Indianapolis Sentinel—in the U. S. Court." Of course I expect no vindication—and for that matter there may be no money in it, but what I wish is to impose upon the Hoosiers the idea that I am pure and spotless."

Cleaver, the popular hardware man has just received a nice invoice of shot-guns. Call on him soon if you wish to secure one.

The Mother of Charles Stewart Parnell Urges Irish Americans to Support Cleveland.

The story that Mrs. Parnell, daughter of Commodore Stewart—"Old Ironsides"—of our navy and mother of the noted Irish agitator, came to this country to dispose of the Irish vote in the coming election, and would influence many Irishmen to approve the Republican ticket, is as untrue as many others of the Blaine party's yarns. In reply to a Herald reporter who said to her, "Then you think that Irishmen would best serve their own interests by voting the Democratic ticket?" Mrs. Parnell said: "Most assuredly I do. There can be no question that the Democratic party is the party for the workingmen to support, and the party which will best care for the citizens of foreign birth."

This sounds like "Old Ironsides" himself, who was earnest a democrat as this country every produced.—N. Y. Herald, Aug. 24.
