An Answer Wanted.
Can any one bring us a case of Kidney or Liver Complaint that Electric Bitters will not speedily cure? We say they can not, as thousands of cases already permanently cured and who are daily recommending Electric Bitters, will prove. Bright's disease, Diabetes, Weak Back, or any urinary complaint quickly cured. They purify the blood, regulate the bowels, and act directly on the diseased parts. Every bottle guaranteed. For sale at 50c, a bottle by F. B. Meyer. 1-30

An Entprising, Reliable House.
F. B. Meyer can always be relied upon, not only to carry in stock the best of everything, but to secure the Agency for such articles as have well-known merit, and are popular with the people, thereby sustaining the reputation of being always enterprising and ever reliable. Having secured the Agency for the celebrated Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, will sell it on a positive guarantee. It will surely cure any and every affection of Throat, Lungs, and Chest, and to show our confidence, we invite you to call and get a Trial Bottle Free. 1-30

A Remarkable Escape.
Mrs. Mary A. Daily, of Tunkhannock, Pa., was afflicted for six years with Asthma and Bronchitis, during which time the best physicians could give no relief. Her life was despaired of, until in last October she procured a Bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery, when immediate relief was felt, and by continuing its use for a short time she was completely cured, gaining in flesh 50 lbs. in a few months. Free Trial bottle of this certain cure of all Throat and Lung Diseases at F. B. Meyer's Drug Store. Large Bottles $1.00. [4.]

Blaine's Four Jobs.
A subscriber writes as follows: Rockford, Ill., Sept. 16.—Mr. Editor: Is the assertion of Mr. Blaine and his newspapers that the Mulligan letters, old and new, furnish no evidence of wrong doing by Blaine a truthful one? If not, will you explain briefly the exact nature of the charge? And oblige, yours truly, JOHN TUCKER.

Answer.—1. The assertion of Mr. Blaine and his newspapers is simply an impudent falsehood.

2. Four distinct cases of official conduct are proved by the Mulligan letters. They are:

The Spencer Rifle Job.—In which Blaine, while a stockholder in the Spencer Rifle company, used his position in Congress to pass an act relieving his corporation of taxes.

The Little Rock Job.—In which Blaine, as Speaker of the House of Representatives, worked through a bill extending the land grant of the road, for which act he received $101,000 of bonds from Warren Fisher without the payment of one cent.

The Arkansas Bank Job.—In which Blaine offered to use his official position to help Fisher start a bank.

The Northern Pacific Job.—In which Blaine tried to work off on Fisher a block of Northern Pacific bonds which he received at what he called a "very rare price."

An Important discovery.
The most important discovery of the year which brings the most good to the greatest number.—Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs, and Colds, will preserve the health and save life, and is a priceless boon to the afflicted. Not only does it positively cure consumption, but Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Asthma, Hoarseness, and all affections of the Throat, Chest and Lungs, yield at once to its wonderful curative powers. If you doubt this get a Trial Bottle Free, at F. B. Meyer's Drug store. 5-34

Mr. Calkins has not replied to the Widow's last letter.

A Party Organ in a New Role.
[Chicago Daily News.]

The Blaine managers in Ohio were all broke up last Friday morning over the appearance in their own particular organ, the Commercial Gazette, of a column of reading matter, upon the fifth page devoted to a scathing analysis of the Mulligan letters in the interest of the Independent Republicans. The article was, of course, paid for as an advertisement, but this did not lessen the force of its damaging arguments. Perhaps the cluest thing in the whole article was the preface, which, commenting upon the fact that the Independents have no organ in Cincinnati, went on to say that "the Commercial-Gazette is for Blaine, not because Mr. Halstead or Mr. Smith have changed their opinions of the candidate, but because the Commercial-Gazette is a Republican organ, and must be for the Republican party, right or wrong." The transaction was a curious one at best, and entirely contrary to all the traditions of party organs. It was a great scheme for the Independents, who in no other way could have reached so exactly the public they sought. It also shows that the Commercial-Gazette was sorely in need of money, and for the sake of it was willing to put a heavy emphasis upon the first half of its name.

The Pension Bureau in Politics.
[From the New York Times, Oct. 9th.]

Commissioner Dudley has been unable to dispose of the appropriations for arrears of pensions which he has asked for and obtained because, as he said, the force of his office was insufficient to examine and pass upon the applications on file more rapidly. Now, this overworked official, with a part of his inadequate force, has deserted the loaded files at Washington, with their accumulated applications; and gone to Ohio to do political work of a particularly contemptible kind. This seems to consist in working on the hopes and fears of veterans to induce them to vote for Blaine under the pretense that it will hasten and secure the payment of their claims. It is only by an unjust discrimination that it can do anything of the kind, and this process of political coercion and blackmail is taking up time which might far better be spent for the benefit of waiting pensioners in Washington. Mr. Dudley is using the last days of his career as Commissioner of Pensions in spoiling a fair record, and he is doing it very effectively.

Blaine Doing Dorsey's Work in Ohio.
[From the L. I. City Star.]

It is time that some word of condemnation was uttered against the spectacle of Blaine personally superintending the distribution of corruption funds to carry Ohio.

Mr. Blaine's trip to that State was ostensibly undertaken to arouse the flagging spirits of his party and exert his magnetism. Magnetism has always been most powerfully exerted through the agency of steel. Mr. Blaine's magnetism is equally powerful both in gold and steel.

It is a sorry sight to see the Republican candidate for the highest office in the land personally distributing the fund, subscribed by Gould, Vanderbilt, Field and other monopolists, to the ward politicians of Ohio and manipulating the machinery of elections.

Perhaps Hoar of Massachusetts and Fish of New York, and Edmonds of Vermont, can point with pride to this picture—but the Republicans are not pointing with pride this year.

The Labor-Starving Monopolists.
[From the New York World, Oct. 9th.]

Steve Elkins is the owner of James G. Blaine. They are old friends and associates in speculations and jobs. They have shared many "good things," from Star-routes to coal mines. For years they have been as "thick as thieves."

When Blaine went into the Hocking Valley enterprise he paid for his interest by a draft on Steve Elkins for $25,000.

When the $50,000 bonds of the Consolidated Hocking Valley "Standard" Company venture were set apart for Blaine they were handed over to Steve Elkins and receipted for by him "on account of James G. Blaine."

Steve Elkins knows more about the Star-route business than any living man," is the statement made by Star-route Dorsey, the man who bought Indiana for Garfield and now supports Blaine.

Steve Elkins probably knows quite as much about Star-route Blaine as he does the Star-route robberies.

When Steve Elkins and Blaine were arranging the "Standard Coal and Iron Company" consolidation the former sent some figures to Mr. J. Henry Brooks to show that the job would pay. In submitting these figures Steve Elkins wrote as follows:

Uniting the two interests would not only put the Standard stock to par but create a monopoly that would control the coal and iron of the Hocking Valley.

Steve Elkins, Blaine and their associates used the power of their monopoly to grind down labor in the Hocking Valley mines to famine rates, and when the suffering miners struck their places were filled by the cheap imported labor of Slavs and the men were driven out to starve.

"That is the sort of man Blaine is!"

Yet the Anti-Monopoly humbugs are calling on sensible, honest men to throw away their votes on the clown, Ben Butler, in order to put in power the Monopolists and Labor-Starvers, James G. Blaine and Steve Elkins.

An Independent Republican journal well says: "There is, in their judgement, and in ours, something radically wrong, when, as recently happened under the operation of our protective tariff the few capitalists interested in the steel industries of Pennsylvania pocketed $2,000,000 of profit, while the total amount paid in wages to the thousands who produced the steel was only 14,000,000. It will hardly, we think, be contended by any that labor is being fairly treated where the workman has to produce $1.60 of clear profit for every dollar he is permitted to place to his own account."

Mr. Blaine never has denied that he voted against the Thurman bill to force the Pacific railroads to make provisions for their indebtedness to the government. Where the mendacity of the candidate fails him his organs should come to his relief. It would greatly advance Mr. Blaine in public estimation if it could be shown that he was at any time in favor of protecting the government against its plunderers.—Philadelphia Record (Ind.)

A correspondent asks The Cincinnati Enquirer when the "Hon." Daniel P. Dean, secretary of the recent Irish-Blaine convention, was released from the work-house. The Enquirer calmly answers that Dean was sentenced to the work-house for thirty days on the 2d of last June for abusing his family, but was released before his time expired.

LOGAN SLOGAN.

When some of Mr. Logan's friends were urging him for the first place on the Republican ticket, the Chicago News, a Republican paper, on the 11th day of May said:

"But Logan did not confine his hatred to the North to mere words, as the following from an affidavit sworn to before John Q. Harmon, Clerk of the Circuit Court of Alexander County, Illinois September 30, 1868, will show:

"I John G. Wheatly, a resident of the city, county and State aforesaid, do solemnly swear that on the 28th day of May, 1861, I went to Williamson County to join Captain J. B. Cunningham's company (G) of the Fifteenth Regiment Tennessee Volunteers; that Major General John A. Logan, now candidate for Congress-at-large, and who then represented this (the Thirtieth) Congressional District, was the chief person who raised said company, and persuaded me to join the same; that said Logan accompanied us (about seventy in number) in the night part of the way from Williamson County to Paducah, the place designated for us to cross the Ohio River. We crossed at Paducah, according to John A. Logan's instructions, to evade Union troops, which he stated were stationed at Cairo. * * * My son, R. L. Wheatly, Thompson Coder, Harry Hayes, William Tinker, Jackson Brown, Jackson Law, George Law, Joshua Law, Fleming Ghent, Martin Williams, and others, all except the first, now residing, or were when I first heard from them, in Marion, Williamson county, Illinois, were members of said company, and will attest the truth of this statement.

"It is a fact that up to July 8, 1861, although repeatedly urged to abandon his treasonable attitude, Logan never by voice or act gave in his adherence to the Union. On that date the Chicago Tribune received the following in its dispatch from Washington: "John Logan falls in, quits his dirty work, and even 'wants a regiment.'"

"Dear, dear, where have you been girls?" said a Boston mother to her daughters, who had returned late from an entertainment. "We've been carousing the municipality," giggled the eldest. "And observing the pachyderm," laughed the second. "And vociferating the female to an extraordinary elevation," chimed in the third. "Dear, dear, dear!" exclaimed the mother, in expository tones "here's no harm done, mamma," pouted the fourth, "everything is amiable, and the fowl whose cackling was the salvation of Rome is suspended at an altitude hitherto unknown in our experience."§
