The prospects for bountiful harvests in Western Ontario were never more promising.

The experiment of Manager McVicker, of Chicago, with a stock company and a revival of the sterling English comedies is meeting with encouraging support. Last week the "School for Scandal" was given with a brilliant cast, and was enthusiastically received. The Times says: "It would be the highest praise to say that it was performed in a manner fully worthy of its merits, and such praise is really due the McVicker company. It was a brilliant cast; the parts were admirably distributed, and each found an intelligent, spirited, and accurate interpretation. It is a long time indeed since 'The School for Scandal' has been presented in this city in a matter so thoroughly satisfactory. The strong parts for which the piece is famous were handled in a way that made vivid individualizations of each, nothing of the brilliant dialogue was lost, and the humor, spirit, and vivacity of the piece were most effectively set forth." "The School for Scandal" will be followed by that splendid old comedy, "She Stoops to Conquer."

The Montezuma Hotel at Las Vegas, New Mexico, was burned, causing a loss of $300,000.

Notwithstanding the ravages of caterpillars and cotton-worms in some parts of the South, the cotton crop of 1885 will be the largest gathered in many years. In Arkansas the yield of both cotton and corn promises to be extraordinary. The oats crop in Central Illinois will be heavy, most fields averaging fifty bushels an acre. A splendid crop of hay has been harvested, and corn is in excellent condition.

The first bale of new cotton was received at St. Louis last week, and brought fifteen cents a pound. It was from Bryan, Tex., and graded middling.

From the inauguration of President Cleveland to the 25th of July, says a Washington dispatch, there were appointed 4,045 fourth-class postmasters. Omitting appointments in Territories, the appointments in the States were as follows:

State.	No.	State.	No.
Indiana	327	New York	310
Virginia	321	Ohio	310
Missouri	240	Illinois	217
Pennsylvania	229	North Carolina	199
Arkansas	152	Kentucky	194
Iowa	117	Georgia	109
Tennessee	105	Michigan	96
Wisconsin	96	West Virginia	95
Vermont	88	Alabama	84
Texas	83	Mississippi	78
Kansas	70	South Carolina	68

Maine	38	Minnesota	37
Massachusetts	32	California	30
Oregon	16	Colorado	16
Connecticut	13	Delaware	10
Nevada	8	Rhode Island	2

The great majority of these appointments have been made to fill vacancies caused by death or resignation. It seems almost incredible, but it is a fact that 222 Ohio men have resigned their postoffices, which beats the record for Illinois, where 149 of the appointments were made to fill vacancies caused by resignations. The total removals have amounted to 998, of which 163 were in Virginia, 132 in New York, 98 in Indiana, 74 in Ohio, 55 in Illinois, 47 in Wisconsin, and 11 each in Michigan and Iowa.

John Lohman, a young American, who boarded the steamer Werra, at Bremen, just before her departure for New York, was caught in the act of robbing the purser's safe, while at sea, of diamonds valued at $12,000. The officer had been chloroformed. Lohman will be sent back to Germany.

In a recent interview with a Sergeant who fought under Gen. Reno in the last battle between Gen. Custer's command and the Indians, Sitting Bull denied that Rain-in-the-Face killed Custer, and said that so many were firing at him at the same time that no one could tell who did.

FOREIGN.

It is thought that the recent article in the North German Gazette attacking France was published as a preliminary to forcing a large increase in the military budget. The Rector of the University of Berlin, at a celebration in honor of Emperor William, gave the toast: "Long Live Peace. Should, however, the arrogance of our neighbors pass from daring words into daring deeds, they will learn that the old spirit still lives."

A leader in the North German Gazette accusing France of trying to stir up a war with Germany has produced a profound sensation in Paris.

The report of Osman Digma's death is denied.

Lord Randolph Churchill, Secretary of State for India, introduced the Indian budget in the House of Commons last week. He announced a deficit of over $1,000,000. The late Government, not Lord Salisbury or Lord Dufferin, was to blame for this state of affairs. He condemned the Marquis of Ripon, the late Viceroy of India, for not looking ahead. The extra permanent military charge, he said, would probably reach $200,000 yearly. He declared that economy was the only way of meeting the deficit.

The panic caused by the rapid spread of cholera in Spain is increasing, entire villages having been deserted by their inhabitants.

A recent flood in the province of Canton, China, caused by the bursting of several embankments, inundated an extensive territory, sweeping away a number of villages, and involving the loss of 10,000 lives. The rice and silk crops were almost ruined, and a vast amount of property was destroyed.

LATER NEWS ITEMS.

A dispatch from Saratoga says Colonel Fred Grant has accepted the position of engineer of a railroad company, which is backed by the Baltimore and Ohio and Wisconsin Central, for the purpose of making a new entrance into Chicago. In regard to his mother's health, Colonel Grant said: "My mother is physically very strong, and I have no doubt that in time she will regain her usual health. She has been confined unremittingly for a long time to my father's sick-room. If she had not been very strong she would have broken down long ago. I think that with a change of surroundings she will recover rapidly. As to the future plans of the family, I cannot speak very definitely. We shall remain on Mount MacGregor until fall, when the family must separate. Mrs. Grant will doubtless occupy the house on Sixty-sixth street."

—Nealy King, a young boy at Terre Haute, was severely bitten in the arm by a vicious horse.

—New Albany Royal Arch Masons, when they call "from labor to refreshment," refresh on a dozen or more watermelons.

—Mrs. Lucinda Acres, of Aurora, has been adjudged insane, and sent to the State Hospital. Her disorder is caused by religious excitement.

—The tie-binding of the Justices of the Peace at Jeffersonville mostly comes from the other side of the river, runaway couples from Kentucky. During the past week ten marriage licenses were issued by the County Clerk of Clark County, none of which were to Jeffersonville parties.

—Indiana has got a watering-place. It is a lake they call Maxinkuckee, and is actually four miles across. Indiana newspapers talk of the climate about that lake with wild enthusiasm and tear themselves all to pieces in describing "odorous breezes" and "changeable skies."—Chicago Tribune.

—Michael Kain, an old citizen of Wayne Township, was found murdered near his house, and Patrick McGuire, a neighbor, who has disappeared, is suspected and a reward offered for his arrest. A broken rail was the weapon used. There had been frequent quarrels and lawsuits between Kain and McGuire.

—A special from Vincennes, says: Dr. McKenzie, a wealthy and prominent citizen of Eldorado, Kas., while en route to Corey, Pa., jumped through the window of a passenger-coach this morning on lightning-express train No. 2, east-bound on the Ohio and Mississippi Railroad, near Flora, Ill., and while the train was skimming along at the rate of forty miles an hour. The train was soon stopped and backed up to look for the stranger, who was found comparatively unhurt. Dr. McKenzie is regarded as insane. He weighs about 200 pounds. When found he was sitting upon the grassy embankment of the railroad, and he said: "Gentlemen, I'm not hurt, and my money is safe, thank God." He had $2,000 with him.

—The most interesting thing at a late old settlers' reunion at Plainfield, perhaps, was the presence of two twin brothers and their twin wives. The brothers are named March, or Martz, and live in Arcadia, Hamilton County. They are 87 years old, and their wives, who are twin sisters, are 84. The two couples were married at the same time—the 27th day of the month. Each has reared twelve children—seven sons and five daughters—every one of whom was born on the 27th day of the month. The parents and children all belong to the same church, the Christian. The fathers, to a stranger, look alike as two peas, and so do the mothers. The maiden name of the latter was McCormick, and it was stated that their father was the first white man in Indiana. His cabin stood where is now the site of the new State House at Indianapolis.

Married in Haste.

[Letter from Vincennes.]
There is a story told in this city of two lovers who courted, wooed, won, wed, and were separated, all in twenty-four hours. Last Saturday a well-dressed and rather handsome stranger arrived here and began meandering aimlessly around town. He seemed to have no particular miss on here. In his careless walk the stranger, whose name is Jerry Kelly, and who claimed to be a nephew of Senator McDonald, halted in front of a house on Main street. He entered, and in just thirty minutes fell madly in love with one of the young women residing there—Miss Marie Mosier, on whom he had never laid eyes before. Miss Mosier makes no pretensions to a display of that feminine fascination or witchcraft which is supposed by some to entwine itself around the heart of susceptible males. Nevertheless, the stranger fell deep in love as sincerely as ever any man did. His love was reciprocated, and the two were engaged. Immediate marriage was proposed and accepted by the girl. Kelly left the house shortly afterward, only to return again in a buggy. He called for his sweetheart. "I've got them! I've got them!" he exclaimed, excitedly, meaning the marriage certificate, which he waived in the air. Miss Mosier was requested to go into the house and put on her hat. She complied and soon returned, jumped into the buggy, and the two drove rapidly down the street to the office of a Squire and were made man and wife. The couple returned to the house in which the bride was first seen, courted, wooed, and won. She startled her friends by the announcement that she had just been married, and before they had recovered from the shock she had procured her wearing apparel, jewelry, etc., and was off again with her husband. Mr. and Mrs. Kelly engage lodgings at a boarding-house near the Union Depot, where they cooed and bled like doves until the time came for them to retire. Bright and early the next morning the inhabitants of Mrs. Kelly's former home were again startled to see her return alone. Being questioned, she told them that her husband said he was a nephew of Senator Joe McDonald of Indianapolis; that he had married her to give her a home and because he loved her. The new-made wife, however, did not like the treatment of her liege lord, and considered his methods of matrimonial devotion too much at variance with her own ideas on that point. He wanted to whip her, she says, and threatened to kill her. One day of married life was quite enough for her, and she preferred to return to her former life of single blessedness. Kelly disappeared suddenly the next day and has not been heard of since. It is said that years ago he was connected with the "William Tell" saloon here, which at that time was conducted by Prof. Jake Brieng, leader of the Ringgold Band of Terre Haute.
